Armed Men Smash Presses and Other Machinery, Then Start Flames With Gasoline.

COW STAFF WITH PISTOLS

Newspaper Which Has Been Loyal to Free State Cannot Use the Plant for Months.

PART OF SUPPRESSION PLOT

Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

DUBLIN, March 30.—Republican forces, armed with sledge hammers and revolvers, totally wrecked early this morning the plant of The Freeman's Journal, an ardent advocate of the Free State. The action is regarded as an execution of the threat of the Irish Republican Army convention Sunday to use the sledge on newspapers opposed to the Irish republic.

The newspaper plant is opposite the barracks of the Metropolitan Police. Fifty men lined up along the wall of the barracks while others entered the office. Some of the invaders entered the room of Harry Moore, managing editor of the paper. One man put a pistol to Mr. Moore's stomach with one hand and struck him on the jaw with the other. The others looted his desk.

Other members of the gang smashed the linotype and stereotype machinery and demolished the switches and other vital parts of the presses. The paper will not be able to publish from its plant for a few months, even under the most favorable circumstances.

The Irish Times and the Independent, other morning papers, have been warned against assisting the publication of the Freeman's Journal.

The management of the paper received the following notice:

"You are hereby notified that it is deemed necessary to take measures to suspend the publication of your journal in view of the statements published that are calculated to cause disaffection and lack of discipline in the ranks of the Irish Republican Army.

"By order of the Army Council of the Irish Republican Army Executive."

Members of the Irish Republican Army, loyal to the Provisional Government are patrolling Dublin and searching for the raiders, but no arrests have been made.

Many persons in Dublin are already asking if this is the beginning of the military dictatorship discussed by the Irish Republican Army convention Sunday.

The Freeman's Journal plant was burned during the rebellion of April, 1916. In December, 1919, the British authorities suppressed it for three months. A court-martial in 1920 resulted in two proprietors getting sentences of eighteen months each in prison, while the editor got twelve months.

The newspaper was raided five times by Crown forces. Supporters of the Free State say this is the first time such an outrage has been committed against Irish by Irish in Dublin, and they ask if this is the beginning of civil strife.

Set Fire to the Building.

DUBLIN, March 30 (Associated Press).—A large party of armed men early this morning held up the staff of The Freeman's Journal, smashed the presses, threw gasoline on the floors and stairs and set fire to the building.

The firemen were able quickly to put out the flames, which did only slight damage.

A large new press that had been set up by the newspaper was not injured, apparently having been overlooked by the incendiaries.

The raiders appeared simultaneously in groups at the entrances to the different departments of the newspaper, where the employes were ordered to throw up their hands.

The members of the staff were shepherded to the ground floor, where they were held prisoner for a short time.

The assault upon the staff of The Freeman's Journal and the attempt to destroy the plant are in line with the attitude assumed by certain members of the Dail Eireann and Irish Army extremists ever since the paper came out in favor of the London treaty. De Valera supporters tried to have it barred from the debates in the Dail Eireann, following which in an editorial the paper gave a chronological list of its sufferings for a free Ireland.

DUBLIN, March 29.—According to a statement issued by General O'Duffy, Chief of Staff of the Irish Republican Army, the following the story of Sunday's convention of the army extremists:

A resolution was proposed that among the matters requiring the immediate action of the executive were the maintenance of Ireland as an independent republic, the appointment of a Chief of Staff who would select a headquarters staff, subject to the veto of the executive, and a "declaration of a dictatorship, [for this purpose the executive shall be empowered to secure the services of others who need not be members of the executive], with a view to ordering the dissolution of all pretended governments in Ireland by prohibition of parliamentary elections until such time as an election without threat of

LONDON, March 29 (Associated Press).—Twenty Greek villages in the region of Kerasunda, on the Black Sea, were burned Feb. 25 and four other large villages in the Pontus met a similar fate March 1, says a telegram from Archbishop Meletios Metaxakis, Patriarch of Constantinople, received today by the Archbishop of Canterbury. Most of the inhabitants of these villages perished in the flames, the Patriarch's message said.

The message was sent on behalf of the Christian minorities in Asia Minor. "The smell of the burning bodies of women and children in the Pontus," said the message, "comes as a warning of what is awaiting the Christians in Asia Minor after the withdrawal of the Hellenic army."

HYLAN VETOES RISE FOR UNIFORMED MEN

SUSPECTS TUNNEL PROJECT

Unwilling to Help Develop Jersey Swamps—Approves Paying Henry's Law Fees.

Giving as his reason that the Board of Estimate had the power to increase the salaries of patrolmen and firemen, Mayor Hylan disapproved yesterday the bills passed by the Legislature increasing such salaries from $1,800 to 2,500 a year. The Mayor said he regarded the bills as interference with city affairs.

"It was just a little game of politics played to embarrass me," said the Mayor. "The question whether the police and firemen should receive another raise in salary is one which the Board of Estimate can deal with without interference from Albany. In the last four years the present City Administration has added $780 to the salaries of police and firemen. I want to say right now that any legislative bill calling for pay increases for city employes won't receive much consideration from me in those instances where the Board of Estimate has already the power to make the increase."

A few days ago the Mayor signed a legislative bill increasing his own salary from $15,000 to $25,000 a year."

The Mayor indicated that he would disapprove the bill transferring license jurisdiction over taxicab drivers to the Police Department. The bill would place the licensing power in the hands of John Drennan, now chief of the division of licensed vehicles in the Department of Licenses. The Mayor said the change would make Drennan a czar in that it would give him all the power and the Police Commissioner all the responsibility.

The Mayor announced that he would approve a bill granting the Board of Estimate the power to appropriate funds to pay the counsel fees of Police Inspector Dominick Henry, who was indicted by the Almirall Grand Jury on charges of perjury.

State Senator E. Ernest Smith of Richmond advised the Mayor to consult with the Corporation Counsel before acting on a bill supposed to empower the Board of Estimate to construct a tunnel between Staten Island and Brooklyn. Smith wasn't sure but what the original tunnel bill, known as Chapter 700 of the Laws of 1921, would be better legislation to work under. Representatives of Staten Island civic organizations opposed the measure on the ground that it would involve the city in further difficulties and that it might benefit New Jersey rather than the Port of New York.

"That's just what I think," said the Mayor. "This thing sounds all right, but it may be nothing more than another attempt to assist New Jersey in developing its swamp lands. We don't want to have anything to do with anything like that."

RED GUARDS SHOOT RUSSIANS AT CHURCH

MOSCOW, March 29 (Associated Press).—Four parishioners were killed and ten were wounded when Red Guards fired into a crowd which was obstructing the doorway of a provincial church in an endeavor to prevent the authorities from executing the recent Soviet Government decree for the confiscation of church treasures, it was learned in Moscow today.

The Confiscation Committee, unarmed, had previously entered the church at Shouya, in the province of Ivanovo-Voznesensk (about 150 miles northeast of Moscow) and requested the surrender of the treasures, according to the report published by the Isvestsia. The congregation indignantly protested, and the committee departed.

The version published by the newspaper here said members of the congregation struck the authorities as they were leaving the church. The following day the officials returned with a detachment of soldiers. A crowd assembled and refused to disperse, whereupon the Red Guards fired a volley in the air. When the crowd became threatening and threw stones at the Soviet officials, the guards opened fire in earnest.

PARTY SPIRIT RISES IN BRITAIN ON GENOA AS REDS REACH RIGA

HIS RESOLUTION CAUTIOUS

RUSSIANS SPEND BUSY DAY

Berlin to Be Next Stop—Lenin Quoted as Saying Genoa Meeting Has Been Overrated.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 29.—Austen Chamberlain in the House of Commons today announced as follows the text of the resolution which will be moved by Premier Lloyd George next Monday:

"This House approves the resolution passed by the Supreme Council at Cannes, as the basis of the Genoa conference and will support His Majesty's Government in endeavoring to give effect to it."

Some political experts pretend to see in the motion a victory for Austen Chamberlain and Winston Churchill, representing sections of opinion which are opposed to the principle of any dealings with the Russian Soviet Government and a "backdown" on the part of Mr. Lloyd George, who has been represented as wanting to "go the whole hog" in regard to Russia and recognize Lenin and his colleagues as constituting the de jure as well as the de facto Government.

Political passions are so inflamed here and mendacious statements are so common that the wise man will take all he hears and sees with several grains of salt. The campaign against the Genoa conference in England is a double-headed one. It is directed as much against Premier Lloyd George as it is against the Russian Soviet Government. According to his friends the Prime Minister has never entertained the idea of giving Moscow what it asked for the asking, but he does believe in exploring the avenues toward a possible agreement.

When Mr. Chamberlain announced the text of Monday's resolution several M. P.'s pressed him to explain its scope, but the leader of the House rather wearily waved them aside and begged his impatient questioners to await the Prime Minister's speech. One question, asked by Colonel Archer Shee, was: "What are the conditions on which the Government is prepared to recognize the murderous maniacs of Moscow?" The question was ignored.

One member was evidently concerned about the safety of the delegates to the Genoa conference. Mr. Chamberlain told him no special police protection would be sent from this country, and that preservation of order between the local Fascisti and Communists was a matter for the Italian Government.

The Independent Liberals afterward met to consider their course of action, and will decide tomorrow whether or not they will move an amendment to the Government's Genoa motion. The Labor Party has put down an amendment which makes the motion read as follows:

"Whilst approving of an international economic and financial conference this House regrets that the scope of discussion at Genoa has been so circumscribed that the conference must fall short of a settlement of the political and economic evils which afflict Europe, and is of the opinion that his Majesty's Government, which has clearly not the confidence of the country, and which is responsible for the policy the unfortunate effects of which are to be considered at Genoa, is not competent to represent this country."

The Unionist die-hards have not yet decided what their action will be.

LONDON, March 29 (Associated Press).—Herbert H. Asquith tomorrow will question J. Austen Chamberlain as to whether any agreement was reached during the Boulogne conference between Lloyd George and M. Poincaré, the French Premier, limiting the subjects to be discussed at Genoa.

Judging from the way Mr. Chamberlain parried such questions in the Commons today, declining to say anything in advance of the Premier's speech on Monday, it seems likely that Mr. Asquith's desire for information will remain unsatisfied.

RIGA, March 29 (Associated Press).—The members of the Russian Soviet delegation to the Genoa conference, all apparently in excellent spirits, arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning on the first stage of their long jaunt to Italy.

The delegates, in addition to Foreign Minister M. Tchitcherin, consist of

Gustav Kemonsky, 18 years old, President of the freshman night school class at Cooper Union, was kidnapped by sophomores last Friday night, hit on the head, chloroformed, and remembers waking up in a house on a farm near Troy, according to a story he told detectives attached to the Stapleton station in Staten Island last night. It all grew out of a dance the freshmen were to hold at the Waldorf on Saturday which the sophomores thought would interfere with one of their own, he said.

Kemonsky reached his home at 26 Wave Street, Stapleton, yesterday afternoon, none the worse for his five days' absence. He explained that he had found an uncle in Albany who supplied him with enough money to get back. When Kemonsky did not come home on Sunday his parents told the police, and a general alarm was sent out. His father, Henry, was indignant last night, and urged the police to find the guilty sophomores, but his son was more anxious to forget the incident.

"My class was giving a ball at the Waldorf on Saturday night," he said. "The sophomore class had a similar ball scheduled for April 8, and I guess they figured that our affair might balk their plans. I'm happy to say that our dance was held, even if they did take me away."

Kemonsky said that he had been appointed custodian of the funds collected for the dance, and this probably caused the sophomores to select him as the victim of their hazing.

"They thought that if the money went out of town there wouldn't be any dance," he said. "But I had turned the money over to a classmate on Friday afternoon."

He said that the kidnapping took place about 10:30 o'clock Friday night, an hour after the school closed.

"As I left the school—nothing is particularly clear about all this—it seems that four, or possibly five, fellows jumped on me," he continued. "I couldn't move. Somebody hit me over the head with something. Probably it was a home-made blackjack. I got the odor of chloroform, and remember moving in what must have been an automobile. Then everything went blank.

"I have reconstructed the whole thing in my mind, so I know that it was the next afternoon that I came back to earth. I had a terrible headache and suffered from nausea. I was in a little building. It was hard to find the door, and when I reached it, it would not open. I could tell it was afternoon from the position of the sun. I kicked on the door after trying all sorts of methods of opening it. It would not budge."

He remained in the outbuilding of the farm until Monday morning, suffering from thirst and hunger. On Monday morning a farmhand opened the door. Kemonsky received food and a drink of water at the farmhouse, asked directions and started on a road which he was told led to Albany.

His money had been taken away and he walked from 11 o'clock Monday morning until 9:30 Monday night. Yesterday he reached the home of his uncle Frank in Albany and got the money to return. After he had finished his dinner last night he went to school.

WOMAN SUES HEALER AND AN INVENTOR

Mrs. Nichols Wants $16,000 Invested in Patents Restored to Her.

DENIAL BY PRACTITIONER

Mrs. Campbell Says She Never Received a Cent—Has Faith in Canton's Inventions.

Mrs. Anne McCoy Campbell, a widely known Christian Science practitioner, was made co-defendant with Allen A. Canton, "or Cantor or Cantrowitz," in a suit filed in the Supreme Court yesterday by attorneys for Mrs. Elizabeth S. Nichols, wealthy widow, who seeks to regain $9,000 which she invested in a company promoted by the defendants and to recover a loan of $7,000 which she says she made to them.

Mrs. Campbell, who has an office in the Aeolian Hall Building, Forty-second Street, appeared stunned yesterday when she heard the suit had been started. She was agitated to the point of tears. She said that Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt and others of social prominence had been her friends for years, and she displayed a card with Mrs. Vanderbilt's name on it and in a corner, written in ink in a feminine hand, the words "with love." Mrs. Campbell denied in toto all the charges against her. She also defended Mr. Canton, saying that, associated with him in a company he had formed recently in Washington, D. C., was Commander C. G. Mayo, U. S. N. "All of this will be cleared up within a week," she said, as she broke down and wept.

Mentions Mental Control.

Bond & Babson, attorneys at 29 Broadway, filed the suit for Mrs. Nichols, who lives at the Hotel Schuyler, but who was reported yesterday to be spending the Winter in the South. In the papers Mrs. Nichols, who is described as "more than 58 years old," alleged that shortly prior to December, 1920, Mrs. Campbell obtained "a great and controlling mental influence" over her, to the extent that she gave the practitioner her "fullest confidence." The papers recited that Mrs. Nichols had visited Mrs. Campbell for professional treatment, and in that way a confidential relationship had sprung up between them. Mrs. Nichols says that eventually Canton was introduced to her as an inventor of much ability, alleging that the defendants persuaded her to go into the "A. A. C. Patents, Inc." This company, of which Mrs. Campbell was President and Canton, Secretary-Treasurer, was formed for the purpose of handling the inventions of Canton, among them a new carburetor, a starter and an improved motor for automobiles.

Mrs. Nichols said that she had several talks with the defendants, and was informed that Canton's carburetor had been found so workable that the Ford Motor Company had decided to equip its cars with it. The plaintiff's papers set forth that she was told that the Ford company planned to pay to the inventor and his associates the sum of $2,000,000 as the first year's royalties, and that 35,000 Ford cars had been equipped with the carburetors.

Motor Too Powerful for Test.

Also, according to Mrs. Nichols's allegations, the news came out that Canton during the war had perfected a device for use in harbors which rendered futile operations of submarines. Mrs. Nichols said she was told that Canton had sold his patent to the British Admiralty for $80,000 and it was the use of the device which checkmated von Tirpitz's ruthless undersea warfare. Another invention, alleged by Mrs. Nichols, was a new system for subway operation, with contracts coming from several cities for its installation. Of the motor, included in Mrs. Nichols's allegations was one setting forth that she heard that when the motor was tested in the laboratory at Columbia University it developed so much power that it wrecked the testing apparatus.

During the period between December, 1920, and January, 1921, Mrs. Nichols alleged she paid $9,000 for 100 shares of stock in the "A. A. C. Patents, Inc.," adding that she wished to return the stock and get her money back because she believed, "on information and belief," that the representations made to her were false. The loan of $7,000, she says, was sought in order to defray the

SHORT CIRCUIT IS BLAMED

Traffic Is Jammed as the Fire, Between Gaiety and Astor Theatres, Is Subdued.

Fire starting apparently from a short circuit between the walls of the Astor Theatre and the Gaiety Theatre Building, Broadway, between Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Streets, last evening at 8 o'clock, was fought by members of the Fire Department with the assistance of stage folk, while the dense and excited theatre crowds in Times Square looked on. The vehicular jam in Times Square, always tremendous at this hour, was greatly aggravated by the arrival of fire engines, trucks and water towers. Traffic was kept moving, though haltingly, in response to the signal system in the middle of Times Square.

The fire apparatus arrived in Times Square with a great clatter in response to a special alarm turned in by a traffic policeman, who saw great clouds of smoke pouring out over Broadway from a twelve-inch gap that separates the Astor Theatre on the south side of the block and the Gaiety Theatre Building on the north side. The clouds issued from the crevice in such volume at first that it looked as if both theatres were afire.

Almost directly under the narrow area where the fire started is the stage entrance from Broadway to the rear of the Astor Theatre. The door through which the stage is reached is obscured by posters. Indeed, it almost escaped the notice of the firemen when the men of Engine 2 and Truck 4 dashed up in front of the two buildings.

The firemen were just unreeling their lines of hose when Cecil Lean, appearing with Cleo Mayfield in "The Blushing Bride" at the Astor Theatre, approached the stage door where the way was now blocked by police lines. Lean, according to one of the firemen of Engine 2, ran to a truck, where he picked up a hose and dashed past the policemen through the stage entrance. The firemen followed close at his heels.

At short intervals other members of the cast put in an appearance. They were bewildered when ordered away from the stage entrance, but eventually they found a detour through the rear of the Gaiety Theatre Building by which they gained admittance to their dressing rooms.

Meanwhile the firemen who had found the source of the fire after following Lean and theatre employes through the stage entrance, played streams of water on the volcanic crack, as did others who worked their nozzles from the Broadway side of the building. Within half an hour the fire was extinguished under the direction of Battalion Chief Barry.

At no time was the fire sufficiently threatening to warrant the suspension of preparations for the evening performance at either playhouse. The flames did not spread into either of the buildings, and at the box offices of the two theatres it was said that the sale of tickets had been continued in ignorance of the fire.

Chief Barry said the damage was inconsequential because the fire was confined to the insulation of electric cables. The fire started between the offices of J. R. English, real estate dealer, on the second floor of the Astor Theatre, and Manning Eichner, insurance, on the second floor of the Gaiety Theatre.

LOSS PUT AT $20,000,000

Records Cited to Show That Ex-Trustee Is Liable to the Estate for $2,750,000.

The action of Edwin and Howard Gould and Mrs. Helen Gould Shepard in withholding from their brother, George J. Gould, the sum of $644,904 as his share of the income from the estate of their father, Jay Gould, since December, 1920, was the result of a demand made at that time by Frank J. Gould and Anna Gould, the Duchesse de Talleyrand, that George's income should be impounded until his liability to the estate, because of the improper acts for which he has been removed as trustee, has been determined and the sum found to be owing by him has been collected.

These facts were set forth in the Supreme Court yesterday in an injunction suit filed by Walter B. Walker in behalf of Frank J. Gould and by William Nelson Cromwell for the Duchesse de Talleyrand, to be heard tomorrow, asking that George J. Gould be restrained from prosecuting his application in the Surrogate's Court to compel the Gould trustees to pay over the income they admit they are withholding. The attorneys say that they made demand on Edwin and Howard Gould and on Mrs. Shepard on March 22 that they bring the injunction action against George J. Gould, but they refused to do so.

The restraining order is asked on the ground that the accounting suit in the Jay Gould estate, which brought about the removal of George J. Gould for his alleged improper acts, is still pending in the Supreme Court, but has not yet been argued on appeal. The petition of Frank J. and Anna Gould states that if the Surrogates' Court hears the George J. Gould application it will mean transferring the issues from the Supreme Court, where guardians have been named for all the Gould grandchildren, who have familiarized themselves with the case for the past five years, and will probably result in the appointment of new guardians and the duplication of the proceeding in the Surrogates' Court.

Puts Loss at $20,000,000.

Mr. Walker states in behalf of Frank J. Gould that his client would not object to the proceeding by George J. Gould being heard in the Supreme Court, which already has jurisdiction over the case, and in which the accounting action is still pending.

Allegations that the loss to the Gould estate by the acts of George J. Gould are "in excess of $20,000,000" are made by Mr. Walker who asserts that testimony offered in the accounting proceeding shows that George J. Gould is "clearly liable to the estate for $2,750,000," disregarding all the estimates of the loss occasioned by his acts, for which the Gould heirs will seek to hold him responsible when the accounting is heard. In explaining the purposes of Frank J. Gould and the Duchesse de Talleyrand in demanding that the income of George J. Gould be impounded, Mr. Walker said in his petition:

"Before the removal of George J. Gould as trustee he served under the will of Jay Gould without a bond. While deponent knows that George J. Gould is reputed to be a man of wealth, and that he has received a large income from this estate, and has from time to time appropriated large sums to which he was not entitled, deponent has no knowledge or information as to the present financial resources of George J. Gould. The proof of his financial ability is a matter entirely within his knowledge and he also can supply the court with definite information on this subject, and whether his assets are so situated that they could be reached on any judgment that may be entered. This deponent earnestly urges upon the court that the life beneficiaries and infant remaindermen, whose rights have been impaired by reason of the misconduct of George J. Gould, should not depend entirely upon the satisfaction of a personal judgment against George J. Gould as the only means of restoration to the trust of the amounts for which George J. Gould is liable.

"If the payment of the amount demanded by George J. Gould is made prior to the amount of his total indebtedness being judicially ascertained, it would work a great prejudice and would

FATHER CASHIN SPONSOR

Measure Is Opposed by Prison Association, District Attorneys and Superintendent Rattigan.

The freeing of Robert P. Brindell, building trades labor leader, imprisoned for extortion and graft, is the real object, Samuel Untermyer declared yesterday, of the legislative bill now before Governor Miller for action, which gives to the State Parole Board power to parole prisoners after they have served one year on first conviction for a felony. Brindell is serving an indeterminate term of from five to ten years in Sing Sing, following his conviction on evidence brought out by Mr. Untermyer at the Lockwood Housing Committee hearings. If the Governor signs the measure known as the Westall bill Brindell could be released next Tuesday.

"The bill is a thoroughly vicious measure and is a pernicious attempt at jail delivery, evidently with the intention of getting Brindell out and bringing him back to his old place at the head of the union," said Mr. Untermyer. "The political pressure behind Brindell is tremendous. It is hardly conceivable what efforts are made on his behalf.

"The bill which would have been opposed before the Legislature was supposed generally to be dead. Now it appears it was passed out in the last days of the session. Beneficial housing bills had to be killed to make time to consider such things as this."

The bill was introduced in the Assembly about a month before the close of the session. It lay dormant in the Judiciary Committee until the day before the close of the session, when it was passed by the Senate and the next day passed by the Assembly. Assemblyman Westall first said that no hearing had been held on the bill by the committee to which it was referred, but on Saturday he admitted that after its passage he was informed "by somebody" that Attorney General Newton and Charles Rattigan, State Superintendent of Prisons, had expressed opposition to it. He added that he believed that the Governor would kill the bill because of their opposition.

Yesterday Assemblyman Westall refused to reveal the identity of the person who asked him to submit the bill. He denied that, so far as he was concerned, the purpose of the bill was to free Brindell.

The report from Sing Sing had it that Assemblyman John J. O'Connor, Brindell's counsel, had seen the measure before it was introduced, but Mr. O'Connor asserted that he never had heard of the bill until he read about it and was not aware of its origin.

In denying any connection of the Prison Association with the passage of the bill, E. R. Cass, Acting General Secretary of the organization, made public a letter sent by him to Governor Miller, saying, in part:

"Too frequently we hear criticisms of the composition of the Parole Boards, inadequate number of parole officers and a growing tendency to automatic release at the expiration of the minimum sentence. The latter practice, which is a serious weakness in the administration of the indeterminate sentence law, reverts to the old principle of the straight sentence. It is the tendency to automatic release by the Parole Board which causes the Prison Association to seriously doubt the wisdom of enacting the bill which is now before you."

The letter states that since 1916 it has been the practice of the Parole Board to release in the neighborhood of 90 per cent. of the convicts applying for parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences and asserts that out of 208 men who applied last year 192 were freed on parole.

2 TREATIES PASSED; BITTER ENDERS LOSE POWER IN SENATE

74 to 1 for Naval Limitation —Unanimous on Curbing Submarines and Gas.

MR. FRANCE LONE DISSENTER

CHINESE TREATY UP TODAY

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The treaties for the limitation of naval armaments and regulating the use of submarines and noxious gases in warfare were ratified by the Senate this afternoon without reservation, the first by a vote of 74 to 1 and the second unanimously.

Senator France, Republican, of Maryland, was the lone opponent of the naval treaty. It was supported by 48 Republicans and 26 Democrats.

Immediately following the approval of the treaty dealing with submarines and noxious gases, the Senate voted to take up the nine-power treaty relating to Chinese policies, and there is every indication that it will be ratified tomorrow, leaving only one more conference treaty, the one dealing with the Chinese tariff, to be disposed of.

This last treaty, in the opinion of Senate leaders, will be ratified Friday. It is even possible, they say, that it may reach a final vote late tomorrow afternoon.

The three hours of debate that preceded the ratification of the naval treaty, which is intended to end competition in naval construction by the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, and which also provides for the maintenance of the status quo as to fortifications in the Pacific Islands, smacked at times of politics. There were not many persons in the galleries and, except when the vote gong sounded, few Senators were in the Chamber.

Only a Beginning, Borah Says.

Senator Borah, the author of the original naval disarmament resolution, made the principal speech of the day, in which he gave his approval to the treaty and voiced the hope that its ratification would mean that the time would not be long deferred when disarmament would be extended to include armies.

"It is perfectly proper," said Senator Borah, "that we congratulate ourselves and also the country on what has been accomplished but we should not lose sight of the all-important fact that this is only the beginning of the work for disarmament. If it does in fact represent the beginning, it will mark an era in the progress of civilization.

"What has been realized is, however, very little when compared with what is still to be done. If this treaty can be regarded as a beginning we cannot praise it too much. If on the other hand it represents a completed work, then it must be declared to be a misfortune, for as we all know, the submarine, the airplane and other instruments of warfare, the possibilities of which in the way of destruction cannot be overestimated, are not touched by this compact."

Senator Borah said that the real author of the naval disarmament movement was "public opinion" and that public opinion must continue to assert itself if further progress was to be realized.

Willing to Credit League.

Senator Walsh of Montana referred to the work of the League of Nations, and suggested that, in his opinion, it might be wise for the United States to be represented, at least in an advisory capacity, on some of the commissions which are engaged in the effort to solve European problems.

Mr. Borah replied that his opinion of the League had undergone no change.

"But," he added, "there will be no twinge of regret on my part over any success that the League may achieve. If it does transpire that the League of Nations can assist in relieving the troubles of Europe, even mollifying the situation over there, no one will acclaim it more sincerely than I."

He expressed the opinion that nations which are now about to stop the construction of capital ships may use the money saved in that way to increase their submarine fleets, air flotillas, and other military and naval arms that are not dealt with in the present treaty.

Senator Edge, who followed Mr. Borah said that, while the people of the United States were enthusiastically in favor of the naval treaty, they were at the same time against any movement, in or out of Congress, to reduce the American Navy below the strength provided for in it. They wanted the 5-5-3 ratio maintained, he held, and were against any proposal that would make the ratio 5-3-3, with this country in the last position.

The League of Nations, said Senator Edge, sought to set up a super-government, while the conference treaties sought no such end. In the case of the conference, the delegates met as business men and proceeded to settle in a business way the problems confronting the nations they represented.

Senator King of Utah expressed the opinion that if the United States maintained a navy such as was permitted under the terms of the treaty, the cost of the naval establishment in the next fiscal year would be about $400,000,000, and in the ten years that follow it would not be much below $350,000,000 annually.

Senator Johnson said:

Tenant Fails to Provide House With Heat; Landlord Has Him Fined, First Time in City

Probably for the first time in the history of New York courts a tenant was found guilty yesterday for failing to provide heat. David Callahan, a tenant at 241 Oakland Avenue, West New Brighton, Staten Island, was fined $25 by Justice Henry W. Herbert in the Court of Special Sessions.

Callahan leased the lower floor of the house from the owner and the contract provided that he was to heat it after ten tons of coal furnished by the owner had been consumed. It was alleged that Callahan failed to keep his contract and purchased only one ton of coal. Inspectors of the Department of Health could find no coal in the cellar.

Callahan said that he was a salesman, having spent a great part of his time in China. He added that he was going to return there soon and would be glad to get away from leases, rents and apartments.

Professor's Gun Wins Inn-Moving Contest; Princeton Building Hauled Cross Country

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 29.—The task of moving what used to be the annex of the old Princeton Inn, a three-story structure, from the western to the eastern part of the city, is now well under way, the objections of a Princeton University professor to the proposed route of the house past his place having been overcome by taking the building across a cornfield instead of moving it by the way of the road.

Two weeks ago the house mover divided the annex, placed one-half on runners and started it on its cross-country jaunt. A horse moved contentedly about the windlass, and the old inn slid complainingly on its way. It pulled off parts of trees that impeded its progress, or roughly twisted them out of the way. The property owners protested and then held a council of war.

One of the university professors announced that the house should not pass his home. Accordingly he took a stand beside his favorite tree with his shotgun on the bend of his arm. His attitude made the house mover change the route, so the next day the old house began a retreat. The old horse carried it back several hundred yards, and then, at a convenient opening in the road, it was started across the cornfield toward the new site. So peace has been restored in Princeton.

treaty, which relates to fortifications, it seemed to me that we were abandoning the Philippines, that we were making a retreat. I have conferred with high officials of the navy and they assure me that this country is not losing anything, and for this reason I feel that I cannot do otherwise than accept their views. I shall vote for the treaty, but I do so with many misgivings."

The ratification of the treaty by a vote of 74 to 1 followed. It was announced that with the exception of Senator Reed of Missouri all of the absent Senators, had they been present, would have voted to ratify. The vote, with the entire membership participating, would therefore have been 94 to 2.

Senator Lodge moved the consideration of the treaty on submarines and noxious gases as soon as the naval treaty was out of the way. It is intended to make more effective the rules adopted by civilized nations for the protection of the lives of neutrals and non-combatants at sea in time of war, and also to prevent the use of asphyxiating, poisonous or other gases, and all analogous liquids which the signatory powers set forth have met with the condemnation of the public opinion of the civilized world.

Under the provisions of the treaty the rules to safeguard lives at sea and to prevent the use of chemicals in warfare are accepted by the signatory nations as a part of international law that binds "alike the conscience and practice of nations." All other civilized nations are invited to subscribe to the rules laid down.

Wadsworth Doubts as to Gas.

Senator Wadsworth, Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, said that in his opinion the rules relating to chemical warfare would not be observed by any nation, signatory to the treaty or otherwise, in a war in which the life of the nation was at stake.

"In my judgment," said Senator Wadsworth, "a large proportion of our people misunderstood the actual effect of this method of warfare, comparatively speaking. When it was first used it was mystifying and horrifying and its immediate effect cruel, just as are all methods of making war.

"But the facts are that during the war the American casualties were 258,000 and of these 34,300 were soldiers who died on the battlefield, while about 12,700 others died of wounds in hospitals. Of these casualties 70,500 were due to gas and of them 1,221 died in hospitals, while the battlefield deaths due to gas were about 200 making a total of 1,441, so that less than 2 per cent. of the gas casualties were fatal, or only one-twelfth of the deaths due to explosive shells, rifle fire and other weapons.

"The records of the army also show that of 70,500 gas cases in 1918 tuberculosis developed in only 173 instances, and that only twenty-nine men were blinded. The permanent effects were in equally small proportions."

Thinks Facts Are Obscured.

Senator Wadsworth said that he realized he was taking the unpopular side of the question but that he believed the country should know that explosive shells, shrapnel and other means of making war were in their permanent effects a great deal more horrible than gas.

"And this treaty," he added, "makes no reference to these other and more terrible weapons. In the future if a country is fighting for its life don't you think that this treaty or any other treaty could prevent it from taking advantage of the chemical arm. I do not. I don't think in a time like that this provision would be worth the paper it is written on."

France Explains His Vote.

WASHINGTON, March 29 (Associated Press.)—Senator France, explaining his vote today against the naval treaty, said he could not support it because he was not a pacifist.

"I shall stand in the minority here in the Senate," said Mr. France, "but I know I shall stand with the overwhelming majority of the American people. It is not pleasant for me to mar the picture of harmony here. But I must remind the Senate that while we debate, there are languishing in prison cells under sentences of extreme severity men convicted of the crime of pacifism. And now men are talking in the halls of Congress the same views that these men held."

Senator Borah in his speech said he had opposed including army limitation in the conference call, believing that European nations would not consent to a reduction of their land forces, and he held that events had supported his position.

"But that is no reason," Mr. Borah continued, "why the movement for limitation should not continue until the subject can be dealt with in a practical way."

Economies should be translated into appropriations, Senator Borah said, and he could see no reason for not reducing the American army to 100,000 men in view of the fact that there are 150,000 men in the militia.

Calling attention to published reports that France probably would adopt a reservation to the submarine and gas treaty so that she could determine for herself what constituted a merchant vessel under the terms of the submarine articles, Senator Borah suggested that such a qualification might operate to destroy the real purpose of the treaty. He asked whether a reservation, if adopted by France, would come back to the American Senate for ratification, and Senator Lodge replied that in his opinion it would.

BITTER-ENDERS LOSING POWER

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Events in the Senate today and during the last week or so, and political happenings in several States, indicate the disintegration of that group of Senators of both parties known as "irreconcilables."

The disintegration was begun with the debate on the Four-Power Treaty negotiated at the Washington Conference on Limitation of Armament and ratified by the Senate Friday. Evidence is accumulating of a drive against irreconcilable tendencies in international affairs in States which have Senators devoted to a policy of American isolation. A change in national sentiment in this regard, granted that the great Republican victory of 1920 was a repudiation of the League of Nations, appears to have taken place since last November.

Four Republicans and twenty-three Democrats voted on Friday against ratification of the Four-Power Treaty. On Monday, when the supplemental treaties interpretative of the Four-Power Treaty were acted upon, the ratification vote was unanimous. While the principle upon which the Four-Power Treaty was opposed by twenty-seven Senators was not the same with respect to the interpretative treaties, the unanimous vote is regarded as a sign of the growing sentiment of the country to sustain the achievements of the Washington conference.

Today only one vote was cast against the ratification of the naval scrapping treaty. Senator France, Republican, cast it.

Johnson Faces Fight at Home.

A drive has been begun in California against Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who is a candidate for renomination this year. His term will expire next March. The significant part of this drive is that it is being conducted by old friends and supporters of Mr. Johnson in the Republican Party and the former Progressive Party. It is based almost entirely if not entirely, on the attitude of Senator Johnson toward the Four-Power Treaty.

In the Senate today Senator Johnson, after stating that he had misgivings over the fortification clauses of the naval scrapping treaty, said he had been assured by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt and other naval experts that the clauses would not result in harm to the United States. As he was not a naval expert, he was obliged to accept the assurances of those who were, and he voted for the treaty but with misgivings.

Chester Rowell, Johnson's old Progressive and Republican campaign manager, has been conducting a series of mass meetings in California against Johnson's opposition to the Four-Power Treaty. With him are associated former Congressman William Kent, another Johnson adherent of the past and Mrs. Aurelia Reinhardt, President of Mills College. At a mass meeting held in San Francisco on March 22 a resolution was adopted which declared that the attitude of Senator Hiram W. Johnson does not reflect our sober and earnest convictions." This meeting was presided over by Judge W. W. Morrow [illegible] United States Circuit Court [illegible] defendant of the preamble and the resolution was telegraphed by Judge Morrow to President Harding, Vice President Coolidge, Senator Lodge and Senator Johnson, and has been laid before the Senate by Mr. Coolidge. In his telegram Judge Morrow said that the meeting was attended by "ten thousand peace-loving men and women" and that the resolution was unanimously adopted.

Senator Johnson sent a reply by telegraph defending his course and reminding Judge Morrow that he and Senator Johnson and some others who participated in a San Francisco mass meeting but two years ago faced what seemed to be a rising and irresistible public clamor for a League of Nations. Conditions today affecting the Four-Power Treaty were the same, Senator Johnson declared, as they were when the League of Nations was the issue and while he admitted that he might have been mistaken two years ago and might be mistaken now, he believed he was right "in fighting as an American for my America," and "God helping me, I will continue that fight until I die."

Coupled with this criticism of Senator Johnson's course with respect to the Four-Power Treaty is an effort on the part of prominent Republicans in California to oppose Johnson's renomination. It is realized by politicians that politically Johnson has held California in the palm of his hand. He has been a popular hero. In 1916 he was elected Senator by an overwhelming majority while Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate for President of the United States, lost California.

Assert Feeling on Hearst Enters.

Friends of Senator Johnson are angry over the present trend of Republican sentiment in the State with reference to Johnson. They say that all the newspapers which formerly supported Johnson, except the Hearst newspapers and The Sacramento Bee, are opposing his course on the Four-Power Treaty because Hearst is for him.

Charles F. Moore, who was President of the Panama-Pacific Exposition held in San Francisco in 1915, has made it known that he will be a candidate against Johnson in the Senatorial primaries, if nobody else is willing to run.

There is a strong trend of sentiment in California toward having Herbert Hoover enter the primary against Johnson, but Mr. Hoover has shown an unwillingness to be drawn into the contest. Some of the Hooverites have not given up their effort and The Los Angeles Times is leading in the campaign to show that he should be selected as the Republican candidate for Senator in place of Johnson.

France and Reed Opposed.

In Maryland the opposition of Senator Joseph I. France to the Four-Power Treaty has produced dissatisfaction in the Republican Party, and it is assured that he will not have a walkover in the Republican Senatorial primaries this year. His term expires in March, 1923.

Alleged Bolshevist tendencies of Senator France play a part in the feeling against him. Edward L. Carrington, who was a candidate for United States Senator against the late Senator John Walter Smith, Democrat, and made a creditable showing in the face of Smith's great popularity, will enter the Republican primaries against France.

In Missouri, according to reports reaching Washington, there seems to have been a reaction against Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, who is also a candidate for renomination this year. Reed was one of the Democratic irreconcilables as to the League of Nations, and has been vehement in his opposition to the Four-Power Treaty.

His situation is complicated by the feeling against him in the Democratic Party of Missouri on account of his attitude toward the League of Nations and President Wilson, which resulted in the refusal of the Missouri Democratic convention of 1920 to sanction his election as a delegate to the national convention. The national convention sustained the Missouri contention.

Reed Campaigning in Missouri.

For a time this year, Reed's opposition to the Four Power Treaty did not seem to affect his popularity in Missouri, which was admittedly great, but sentiment is said to have changed materially lately. He is now in Missouri, conducting his campaign for the primary nomination. A strong sentiment in favor of the treaties negotiated at the Washington conference on the limitation of armament with a latent sympathy for the League of Nations seems to have developed in Missouri, and the critics of Reed are greatly encouraged. His opponent in the Democratic Senatorial primaries will be Breckinridge Long, former Third Assistant Secretary of State, who ran for Senator on the Democratic ticket last November and was defeated by Senator Selden P. Spencer, Republican.

Of the other Democratic and Republican Senators classed as irreconcilables Senator La Follette is the only one who will come up for renomination this year. He has a habit of being returned to the Senate. The terms of Senators Borah of Idaho, Shields of Tennessee, Walsh of Massachusetts and Watson of Georgia do not expire in 1923.

The bi-partisan group known as irreconcilables has dwindled to eight Senators, four Republicans and four Democrats. The disintegration began when Brandegee of Connecticut, McCormick of Illinois, Moses of New Hampshire and other die-hard opponents of the League of Nations supported the Four-Power Treaty, consoling themselves with the adoption of the Brandegee so-called "no alliance reservation," which was attached to the treaty by a vote of 90 to 2.

Political observers claim to see either a change in public sentiment concerning American responsibility in international affairs, or a latent revival of League of Nations sentiment. At any rate, there appears to be a nation-wide support of the treaties negotiated at the Washington conference, and feeling on the subject is so strong in some States that Senators who have continued to advocate a policy of international isolation are finding themselves opposed by many who had given them encouragement when they fought the League of Nations Covenant. One phase of opinion among political observers is that the country is now strongly in favor of an association of nations which aims to preserve the peace of the world, and will insist that the results of the Washington conference shall be observed.

JAPANESE COMMEND SENATE.

But Reservation to Four-Power Treaty Is Unwelcome.

TOKIO, March 29 (Associated Press).—The Japanese press comments favorably on the ratification by the United States of the Four-Power Treaty, but gives the reservation adopted by the Senate a mixed reception. Says the Chugai Shogyo Shimpo:

"The ratification should be credited to President Harding, who, reflecting on the failure of his predecessor in dealing with the results of the Versailles conference, included Senator Underwood in the delegation at Washington to provide against an abortive issue.

"Now that the quadruple treaty is ratified, the passage of the supplementaries—the naval and Chinese treaties—will not be difficult, and the attitude of the Senate may safely be said to have been decided.

"The reservation is not likely to have particular significance, nor alter the international conception of the treaty. Settlement of the attitude of the American Senate toward the treaty is a matter for congratulation and must be welcomed as forecasting ratification by all."

The Hochi Shimbun thinks that the reservation cannot be made an excuse by the other powers to hesitate in ratification of the treaty, "because the reservation is nothing but an explicit representation of what the United States really meant in reference to the Entente." The newspaper adds:

"America had nothing in view in concluding the Entente but abolition of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Maintenance of the armament limitation might be impossible if it were not accompanied by such an agreement, forbidding military alliance or encroachment."

The Nichi Nichi Saimbun says that the American reservation is incompatible with the spirit of equity which ought to permeate every international agreement. It adds:

"It must be clearly placed on record that it is by no means because what is done by America is fair and just, as she declares, but only because she possesses such overwhelming influence that no power would dare stand in the way, that the powers have accepted the American way of dealing with things international at Versailles and elsewhere."

Now Is Great Test of Our Foreign Relations, He Says in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Open diplomacy "is one of the good things that necessarily must come with the control of foreign affairs by the people themselves, but open diplomacy does not mean the exclusion of common sense," Elihu Root declared in an address here today.

While the intrigues of the old-school diplomacy that inevitably led to war were gone, he said, there was a new danger of stirring up trouble by loose, uninformed talk. The duty of democracies was not to slander one another, he said.

"When two men misunderstand each other their troubles usually can be settled by getting them together to talk things over," he said. "That is just what happened in the Four-Power Treaty."

Such conferences, he added, had averted war at least twice in the past and would have done so in 1914 if Sir Edward Grey's plans had succeeded.

"If there is a controversy, the most important thing is to get some one to change his mind," he continued. "If he is wrong, make it easy for him to admit it; if you are wrong, keep in a position where you can admit it. The man who comes out publicly does not dare to change his mind. It is most important that before you get a man in public you get him right. That is what happened in the Four-Power Treaty.

"Half-truths sometimes involved in open diplomacy should not be pressed too far.

"More quarrels have come from insults than from injuries. If democracy is to conduct foreign affairs without taking the nation into strife, it must not give cause for resentment in the minds of other peoples."

Mr. Root said that a "vindictive minority" could carry things to a point to which the great majority would not agree, "with no punishment until the great, good-natured majority decides to act against the public orator who stirs up friendly nations."

"We are venturing now on a great undertaking of directing foreign relations," he said, "and the people of the United States should make it the first great lesson of their duties to punish with disapproval the man who wilfully stirs up the animosity of foreign countries."

Mr. Root said this could be done by refusing votes at the polls to the men who worked against the peace of the world and by stopping patronage and advertising in newspapers guilty of the same offense.

"It should be understood," he continued, "that the American people will taboo lopsy and unfriendly talk about the people of other nations, and such punishment will be the first great step in our conduct of foreign affairs.

"It is our duty so to direct the foreign relations of our country that the power of public opinion shall be for peace."

AUSTRIAN BILL WINS IN PARTISAN CLASH

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The joint resolution already adopted by the Senate authorizing a 25-year extension for payment by Austria of $25,000,000 for flour purchased through the United States Grain Corporation, was adopted late today by the House.

The vote, 142 to 50, was taken after a bitter partisan debate and after the defeat of a motion by a vote of 187 to 115 to send the measure back to the Ways and Means Committee. Members advocating this move insisted action should not be taken until the subject was considered by the Debt Commission.

Representative Longworth, Republican, Ohio, in presenting the resolution, said it released Austrian assets pledged for payment to the United States, if substantially all of the other creditor nations waived similar liens upon Austrian assets. The loan, he said, rested upon entirely different basis from the allied loans and no interest had been paid, because Austria lacked income sufficient to meet her own Government expenses.

In his attack on the resolution Representative Garner, Texas, ranking Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee, declared there was no information to be laid before Congress respecting the need of postponement. He insisted its passage would set a precedent "which will return to plague you Republicans in handling the allied debt."

Asked if it were "an emotional bill," Mr. Garner said:

"Well, a very charming lady named Mrs. Todd has interviewed everybody concerning it, but I don't know if you call that emotional."

There was a round of applause from both sides of the chamber when Representative Walsh, Republican, Massachusetts, who offered the motion to recommit, declared the time had come when Congress ought to pay attention to the needs of its own people instead of trying to aid those who sought a few years ago to overthrow this Government.

"You want us to do something just because some well-meaning ladies and some charitable organizations write appealing letters," Mr. Walsh shouted. "I for one object to the United States becoming the almoner of the world."

Many members discussed the resolution and at times the political viewpoint was uppermost.

Representative Garrett, the Democratic leader, and Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee verged on a clash when the former intimated that Mr. Fordney on one committee occasion had attacked Woodrow Wilson. Mr. Fordney, however, denied it.

General O'Duffy says that this dictatorship would overthrow the Dail Eireann Provisional Government, the British Government and the Northern Government.

Anxiety was expressed at the meeting about the dictatorship. Delegates believed the proposal would leak out and that dissolution of the Governments would mean civil war. A Cork delegate thought the dictatorship should be introduced gradually, and that the suppression of the press and the stoppage of elections should first take place.

The time to try a dictatorship, he urged, was when the treaty was signed, not now, when the army was not able to carry it out. A delegate from Donegal disagreed with this view, and said that there should be a dictatorship, even if civil war was started, because the only people who counted were on the side of the republic, "and the other side, called public opinion, and civilians would not matter very much," as they would be their enemies. The question of finance would not cause much trouble, as money would be had for the taking. The national press could be held by commandeering the existing machinery or using the sledge.

A member of the Dail Eireann, while doubtful if the I. R. A. could carry on a real dictatorship, supported the proposal for suppressing the press and the elections.

Finally it was decided that the resolution should be put before the executive as recommendations and that the executive should give their considered opinion at another convention to be held on April 9. In the meantime, if the executive considered it fit, they could suppress the elections.

MUCH VIOLENCE BY REBELS.

Barracks at Galway Seized—Cork Motor Lorries Driven Off.

GALWAY, Ireland, March 29.—The republican section of the Irish Republican Army at the Renmore Barracks today ordered the Free State section of the army to quit the barracks within ten minutes. The Free Staters, numbering about 200 men, complied, taking with them their baggage, but not their arms. The barracks was then declared a training centre for the Irish Republican Army.

The incident passed off without ill-feeling being displayed by either side.

LONDON, March 29.—A Cork dispatch to The Daily Mail reports that nearly all the motor lorries in the City of Cork were commandeered today and driven to an unknown destination, the drivers being compelled to accompany their cars. It is believed that the seizures were made by Republicans.

Captain Collins, Cork Harbor Commissioner, was kidnapped in the course of the day. He was taken to an unknown place in an automobile.

BELFAST, March 29.—A police patrol from Crossmaglen, Armagh, was ambushed today near Culloville. A sergeant and a special constable were killed, while another constable was wounded seriously as a result of close firing.

The Belcoo police barracks, County Fermanagh, was captured this morning by a large force from the Free State. There were seventeen policemen in the barracks at the time and thirteen of these were taken prisoners. The raiders also seized twenty one revolvers, twenty-two rifles, 300 rounds of rifle ammunition and 2,000 rounds of revolver ammunition.

Later the raiders visited a number of houses in the village, including the house of Sergeant Flaherty, who was ill in bed with influenza. At Blacklion, in Cavan, the commandant of the raiders hearing that the sergeant was suffering from influenza, ordered him to be released.

BELFAST, March 29 (Associated Press).—William Fleming was shot and fatally wounded this morning on his farm in County Armagh, while carrying water for breakfast. He died in the Armagh Infirmary. Fleming's brother is a member of the special constabulary, and the attack is believed to have been in reprisal for the shooting of a man by the special on St. Patrick's Day.

A party of Ulster specials patrolling the Armagh-Louth frontier was fired upon when they inadvertently crossed into Free State territory. One constable was wounded. The fire was returned with unknown results.

Irish Republican Army forces maintained a considerable fire during the night and early today along the Tyrone border from Ballagh and Caledon to Favor Royal in the Aughnacloy district, the apparent object being to keep the police forces on the other side on the alert and to harass and alarm the country folk.

At Ballycastle in North Antrim, a branch of the Ulster Bank was raided today and £20,000 was taken. Ballycastle is a strongly Sinn Fein district.

Lislap Lodge, a beautiful mansion in Tyrone County, was destroyed by fire this morning. Strenuous efforts were made to save the building, but the rapid spread of flames indicated that petrol had been freely used by the incendiaries.

A freight and mail train bound from Belfast to Dublin was derailed by a large party of armed men near Newry early today. Nine cars, including the mail car, and their contents were burned by the raiders. The postal staff escaped.

In consequence of this incident the Great Northern Railway has decided to suspend operation of all main line trains out of Belfast at night, with the exception of locals.

LIMERICK, March 29.—Armed men in disguise attempted to burn the Kilpeacon rectory, near here, last night. They ordered the rector, his wife and daughter to leave and then they set fire to the house. The rector returned with helpers and they were able to confine the fire to two rooms. The raiders took most of the silver and wearing apparel in the house. The liaison officer here is investigating the incident.

ULSTER AND FREE STATE CONSIDER PROPOSALS

Two Conferences Are Held in London and Progress Toward an Agreement Is Reported.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 29.—Representatives of Ulster and the Irish Free State Governments met today at the Colonial Office in a conference with members of the British Cabinet. It was the first all-Ireland conference that has been convened since that held in 1914 at Buckingham Palace to consider the threat of civil war.

Two sessions were held today and certain definite proposals were put forward to remedy the terrible conditions now prevailing in Ireland. The Irish sections then withdrew to discuss them in private and the conference will meet again tomorrow.

Winston Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, is President of the conference, and with him during part of the proceedings were Lord Birkenhead, Sir Hamar Worthington-Evans, Sir Hamar Greenwood and Lord Peel. Ulster was represented by Sir James Craig, Lord Londonderry and M. Archdale, and the Free State by Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins, Eamon Duggan, Kevin O'Higgins and Hugh Kennedy.

Craig and Lord Londonderry only arrived in London this morning. As Craig left the train at the station he was asked about the situation in Ulster.

"How are things in London," he retorted. "How many murders last night?"

"Not one," was the reply, "and we wish you were as free on the other side."

"Nobody wishes that more sincerely than I, I assure you," returned Craig.

The Ulster representatives were the first to arrive at the Colonial Office, and had an hour's separate consultation with Churchill before the Free State representatives arrived. By a happy thought Churchill made the conference literally a round-table discussion by seating the delegates at a round table with himself as presiding officer.

The terms of the invitation sent out were wide. They enjoined the delegates to examine "every aspect of the situation" in an effort to restore order, and have therefore opened the door wide for discussions of every point of differences and the adoption of any kind of solution that will be acceptable.

The debate lasted two hours till adjournment for luncheon. They met for another three hours in the afternoon.

None of the delegates would make any statement, but the Free State representatives and Collins looked cheerful as they departed, while Sir James Craig evidently felt the gravity of the situation. It is understood, however, that definite progress was made, in that each delegation has concrete proposals before it upon which it must report its views.

The chief suggestion is that the Ulster Government and the Southern Provisional Government shall call a halt to the outrages such as have recently occurred, by an appeal each to its own people. A second matter before the delegations is whether it is possible for the Governments of North and South Ireland to consult between themselves on the solution of some of the present difficulties or differences.

Apparently the question of a possible neutral zone between the orth and South was not discussed, or at any rate, did not materialize in any proposal today.

Michael Manner, 25 years old, of 80 Charles Street, started home from his sister's apartment at that address early this morning in a taxicab with Miss Celia Farrell, 20, of 306 West Forty-fouth Street, whom he had known for about a year. At Sheridan Square the taxi driver, Edwin Clark, heard several shots inside the cab.

When he stopped and opened the door, Clark found the pair unconscious on the floor, a pistol lying near. It appeared that Manner had attempted to kill the girl and himself. Clark called a police man, who jumped on the running board and ordered the taxi to New York Hospital.

There it was found that a bullet had entered Manner's temple, while one shot had lodged in the girl's right breast and the other had gone in near her left ear and come out in her mouth. The condition of both is critical.

Professor Day to Go to Michigan.

CARSON REPLIES TO CHARGES.

He and Birkenhead Tilt on Political Speeches by Law Lords.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 29.—The expected duel between Lord Chancellor Birkenhead and Lord Carson on the question as to whether or not Law Lords should be permitted to make political speeches outside the House of Lords, took place in the House of Lords today.

Carson, who was the first to speak, declared his conviction that in his public speeches on party politics he had not broken any rule or tradition. No rule had ever been laid down, he said, that no one acting as a Judge should take any active part in politics. As to speaking in that House and speaking on the platform outside, he could not see the difference. The Lord Chancellor, he said, appeared content that ex-Lord Chancellors and Lords with legal experience did not taint the administration of justice by taking part in political action, but that Law Lords were in a different category and could not take such part.

"If any one of us who hear appeals in this House," he declared, "is tainted or is bringing a taint into the administration of justice by taking part in politics, then the same principle applies to every one of us."

Carson then addressed himself to Birkenhead and challenged him to apply the distinction to himself, saying: "Is it to be said he can preside over a political tribunal of this House and afterward take part in the most controversial business outside, whether on the platform or at dinners or luncheons, and that he does not in the slightest degree detract from the dignity of the law?"

Carson continued with a biting remark:

"There is an artificial line being drawn to which I will not agree until it is laid down by some authority which cannot be questioned. I do not object to an inquiry nor to a change in the law, but it must embrace every one from the Lord Chancellor to the humblest justice.

"I am now ready to resign," added Carson, "if your Lordships think I have done anything that is wrong. What do you think I care either for office or for salary as compared with my honor?"

Birkenhead was quickly on his feet to reply. After mentioning that in fifty years only two law Lords made an incursion into party politics he said that the constitutional law of the country had for centuries tolerated the admitted anomaly in the office of the Lord Chancellor based on the view that there should be a connecting link between the executive and the judiciary.

"What Lord Carson claims," declared Birkenhead, "is that the law Lords shall have the right to intervene when and how they choose in any subjects of party discussion either in the House or in the country, and that they shall be able to assail with invective the Government of the day or shatter the Government of day by their rhetoric."

Speaking emphatically, he summed up his argument:

"It is a universally accepted rule that the salaried judges of the country are neither expected nor allowed to take part in politics in public. It is a possible view that the wisdom of ages we have known it for centuries should be modified, I admit, but if Lord Carson holds that view how can he argue that our judiciary, the pride and example of the world, should be contaminated and made suspect by daily and weekly contact with acute political problems?"

The discussion ended after several law Lords had expressed their views. Ex-Lord Chancellor Finlay caused a mild sensation by declaring that Birkenhead's views were erroneous. Marquis Curzon, on the other hand, supported the Lord Chancellor.

SISTER TO BURY REINERS.

Suicide Named in Will Girl Who Refused to Wed Him.

Miss Maud M. Reiners of 148 Cator Avenue, Jersey City, yesterday announced that she had arranged for the burial of her brother, J. George R. Reiners, the aged man, who on Sunday morning killed himself by jumping ten stories down the stairwell of the Pulitzer Building. Miss Reiners was named as beneficiary in a will left by the dead man, which on Tuesday was found in a satchel in the office of the Editor and Publisher in the Pulitzer Building. The satchel also contained old securities of a face value of $236,000, which were believed to be worthless.

Miss Helen Ludwig, 18 years old, of 2115 Ninth Avenue, Belmar, N. J., was also mentioned in the will. Her mother, Mrs. John Vogt, said that Reiners worked in her father's grocery store in Newark fifty years ago, and became fond of her when she was a girl. He proposed marriage, but she declined because of the disparity in their ages. Reiners became ill, and Mrs. Vogt nursed him. Later he told her that he would remember the girl in his will.

CZARIST OFFICERS SHOT AT MILUKOV

LONG PLOTTED HIS DEATH

Berlin Is Greatly Stirred by Murder of Nabukov and Panic at Russian Meeting.

By CYRIL BROWN.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 29.—"Through Milukov came Russia's whole misfortune. He paved the way for Kerensky and the Bolsheviki. Had Milukov not been, then the Czar would have concluded peace with Germany. I regret only that I did not hit Milukov." Thus, when examined by the Berlin political police today, with brazen frankness, did the 30-year-old ex-cavalry Lieutenant of the Czar's Guard Regiment, Peter von Schabelski-Brok confess the shooting at Professor Milukov's lecture last night with other young Russian gunmen, killing not the hated Milukov, but his friend, Professor Nabukov, editor of Rul, the Berlin organ of the Russian Constitutional Democrats, injuring at least five Russian men and women auditors.

The affair has caused a tremendous sensation in German public opinion, which for the first time has sensed the potentialities of trouble in harboring a colony of 200,000 temperamental and politically divided Russian emigrés in Berlin alone.

The self-confessed monarchist murderer further told the political police that it was a deliberate, carefully worked out plot of Russian royalists to kill Milukof; that he had come to Berlin from Munich with his friend, Sergius Taboritzi, a 28-year-old ex-Czarist guard officer, who likewise was arrested, for the express purpose; that he had followed Milukov for years, seeking murderous vengeance for the alleged wrongs and hardships suffered by the Czarist emigrés; that he would have followed Milukov to America but for lack of funds, and that he had repeatedly written to Milukov demanding papers of the Czarina which he knew to be in Milukov's possession, but that Milukov never answered.

Thought Milukov Was the Victim.

The murderer is an under-sized young man with piercing black eyes and determined features. He was quiet and matter of fact under the police grilling, only his black eyes flashing intermittently betrayed his wild fanaticism. He did not know he had missed his intended victim, Milukov, until told by the police. He broke down briefly when told he had killed the wrong man, but quickly recovered his nerve.

The police have intensified their recent activities to uncover monarchistic as well as Bolshevist conspiracies and propaganda activities on German soil. This noon they raided a suspected Russian restaurant on the Nollendorf Platz and bagged thirty Russian monarchists who for several days have been holding a "congress of Russian Constitutional Monarchists." All thirty were carried off in a motor lorry to Police Headquarters for examination.

The criminal police are watching all stations, particularly the trains to South Germany.

The authorities were immediately notified by the Berlin Government of the murder ramifications to Munich, where, it will be recalled, the German monarchist plot for Kerensky's murder was hatched. Particular interest centres in what connection, if any, exists between Russian and German monarchists taking refuge in Munich. Last night's political murder is felt as a first-class scandal by German public opinion. The press voices resentment at Berlin's being permitted to become "a Russian theatre of war."

Milukov, who miraculously escaped the monarchist assassins' bullets, had been invited by political friends to come from Paris to Berlin to tell his experiences on his recent trip to America and the Washington conference. Milukov consented only on condition it should be an open meeting. Broadcast invitations were accordingly sent out by the local Russian cadet organ, Rul, published by the German house of Ullstein, publishers of the well-known democratic Vossische Zeitung. Rul's chief editor, Professor Nabukof, a former political associate and friend of Milukov, along with other prominent Berlin Russians, sat on the stage beside Milukov. About fifteen hundred men and women, mostly Russians, well filled the Philharmonic Concert Hall. Five plainclothes men of the Berlin police also were present.

Opens Fire on the Speaker.

Milukov had announced he would take a brief respite, and then answer any questions the audience might want to ask. As he descended the platform a young Russian in the front row fired several shots. Milukov with quick presence of mind threw himself on the floor. It was at first thought he had been hit. Twenty or thirty shots continued in rapid succession. Professor Nabukov, who had thrown himself in front of Milukov to protect him with his body, sank to the floor, mortally shot, twice in front and once in the back. One Russian and three Russian women were likewise injured. Curiously, all were shot in the knees or ankles. The wildest panic seized the audience of 1,500, which was divided into opposing camps, one half undertaking a wild dash for the exits, the other half a wild dash for the stage to grab the gunmen. A tremendous melee ensued and the concert floor became a battlefield littered with torn clothes.

While still firing, the Royalist gunmen were grabbed by enraged Russians with opposing political views. German plainclothes men who undertook a gallant offensive were mistaken by the Russians for fake detectives in collusion with the monarchist murderers and could only establish their identity when they sent in a hurry call for the uniformed and armed Security Police Reserves, who quickly terminated the Russian battle of Berlin.

While Professor Nabukov was officially being pronounced dead by the police surgeon, three suspects, including the self-confessed von Schabelski, were held on the spot for preliminary examination by Berlin headquarters' famous Murder Commission, which was soon convinced that a political murder had taken place and turned the affair over to the Political Police.

Milukov Knew of the Plot.

BERLIN, March 29 (Associated Press).—Professor Paul N. Milukov today expressed deep regret over the death of Vladimir Nabukov, who was shot during an attempt to assassinate Professor Milukov on Tuesday night. He said Nabukov had been his political opponent for more than a year, but that he was an old and dear friend and associate.

Professor Milukov hoped the "dastardly crime will attract the world's attention to the activities of the monarchists in Eastern and Central Europe, especially to their headquarters in Berlin, Munich, Budapest, Belgrade and Sofia."

The attempt to assassinate him, Professor Miluvov declared, was a continuation of the attack in the pamphlet, "Milukov a Traitor," circulated when he went to the United States last Fall. The attack was planned a year ago, he said, under the direction of a certain monarchist baron, but it failed because a friend of the baron betrayed the plot.

Professor Milukov added that many Russians and former officers blame him for their loss of privileges and that the monarchists denounce him because he opposed the operations of General Baron Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevist leader in Russia, and similar movements which they believed reactionary and designed to restore the landowners to their old position.

"The Americans know my views," said Professor Milukov. "I represent the Russian democracy, the interests of the masses. I regard the revolution as a progressive step in the direction of a realization of a higher and more perfect federated republic. Bolshevism, which I oppose, has only temporarily succeeded in halting this transition. The Russian monarchists have not ceased dreaming of the restoration of old Russia. Therefore, they cannot forgive me. To them Lenin is far less dangerous than the next step in Russia's development, namely, a bourgeois republic.

"That is why the monarchists use me as a target. They have been on my trail for a long time."

THINK NOTE MISUNDERSTOOD.

British Say Real Control of German Finances Is Not Asked.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 29.—Herr Wirth's protests that the Reparation Commission's last demands on Germany are impossible have been received in authoritative circles here with a good deal of skepticism. German declarations of impossibility have been heard before, but experience has shown that Germany, as soon as sufficient pressure has been put on, has found means to accomplish impossibilities.

At the same time it is considered here that one reason for the exceedingly adverse tone adopted by the German newspapers toward the Reparation Commission's decree lies in the use of the words financial control. These suggest the extension of allied interference with Germany's domestic concerns which might resemble the bonds placed before the war by a concert of Europe over the Turkish Empire, and it is thought here that Wirth's assertion that the proposed "extensive control in assessment and collection of taxes" was "quite incompatible with the right to self-determination and with the honor of a great nation" was inspired by this idea. But it is pointed out that the idea is completely erroneous. The Allies do not contemplate anything approaching true financial control and would be very much averse to undertaking it. All they have done is to agree to a moratorium provided Germany sets about placing her finances in order, to point out the steps which, in their opinion, she should take to that end and to require means of ascertaining that their recommendations are being adopted.

They have demanded, for example, that Germany should prepare during 1922-23 to raise by taxation an additional 60,000,000,000 paper marks, but they have not attempted to prescribe by what methods this sum should be collected. As creditors they have laid down in a general way the steps which would seem to them to justify them in granting their debtor a greater amount of time, but they have refrained just because that would seem to them to be an infringement of Germany's sovereignty, from any dictation on the ways in which their taxation could be increased. They would, of course, like information as to what is being done to carry out their ideas, but it is only the kind of information they could gather for themselves with little trouble and which ordinary financiers, in fact, might be subject for any country in the stability of which they are interested. The misapprehension of the Germans as to the meaning of the word "control" in it suggested here perhaps is due to the fact that the French word "contrôl" has a much weaker signification that control in English. It might be better translated by the word supervision and even that suggests rather more active interference than the Reparations Commission contemplates.

PLAN A REPARATION LOAN

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 29.—This year every man, woman and child in France contributes the equivalent of $35 gold for repair of the devastation the Germans wrought in France. This year every man, woman and child in Germany is asked by the Reparation Commission to contribute the equivalent of $3 gold in cash and $6 gold in material. And the German Chancellor replies that Germany cannot.

Since the end of the war every man, woman and child in France has paid the equivalent of $200 gold for reconstruction. The total of all the German reparation payments to all the Allies is equivalent to $40 gold for every man, woman and child in Germany.

There you have the key to the European political situation today. These facts explain why the French, in view of past experiences, will not consent to a general discussion of reparations at Genoa, where they feel they would be in a minority. These facts explain the strength of the Nationalist faction in the French Parliament and of the Nationalist leader Poincaré. It is because your Frenchman believes that his country stands alone in what he regards as a just cause that he turns a deaf ear to appeals to cut France's claims against Germany. Arguments of economists mean nothing to him when he regards those figures.

It is because the Frenchman feels he is getting a raw deal that he is so distrustful of the advice of other nations, however much they may proclaim their good intentions.

Plan for Reparation Loan.

The Reparation Commission today made one more effort to obtain American assistance in solving the reparation problem which dominates not only the economic relations of Europe but the political relations as well. The commission voted the creation of a committee of bankers to draft a plan for a German loan to be used for reparation payments, England, France, Italy and Japan will name members. The United States, Switzerland, Holland and Germany will be asked to join the committee. While a proposition will be addressed to the Governments of these countries it is not planned that the committee will be a Government committee or that its actions will bind the Governments. What is desired is that the big bankers of all these countries will draft a scheme under which they will be willing to make one or several large loans to Germany, stating the conditions under which they would do so and the guarantees they would demand. This proposition would then be submitted to the Governments benefitting under the reparations to see whether they would agree. American participation in such a plan is naturally involved with our representation on the Reparation Commission.

But as appears to be now realized at Washington, the United States has a more immediate and direct interest in taking part in the work of the Reparation Commission. There is the question of $241,000,000 due for the cost of the Army of Occupation. Our right to this payment because of the treaty of Berlin's provisions seems clear in Washington. It is not so clear to the allied statesmen. They argue that as matters stand the Berlin treaty between Germany and America does not bind the Allies. They say that the American treaty on Yap illustrated that Mr. Hughes did not always regard the provisions of the Berlin treaty reserving rights in the Versailles treaty as entirely sufficient for the protection of all American rights. One hears it said that it is somewhat difficult to understand how, if Americans thought they enjoyed intangible rights as given to the Allies under the Versailles treaty, they persisted until very recently in permitting American nationals to pay hard cash the Reparation Commission for German dyes under the Treaty of Versailles.

In addition to the unforeseen number of questions arising out of our retention of material rights under the Versailles Treaty, which material rights are in the hands of the Reparation Commission, there are not a few concrete questions which in the opinion of some allied diplomats might be subject for adjustment. There is the question of German ship tonnage. In May, 1919, President Wilson signed with Lloyd George and Clemenceau an agreement subject to the approval of Congress under which we would pay the Reparation Commission a reasonable value for the excess of German ships we held over and above our submarine warfare losses. This has never been calculated, but it amounts to a considerable sum. It is entirely possible that if we insist that technically the Allies should turn over to us for occupation costs a part of what they have collected from Germany, the Allies will insist that technically we should pay for some thousands of tons of German shipping.

Pacific Cable as a Credit.

There is the question of the former German Pacific cable allotted to the United States. If we adhere to the provisions of the Versailles Treaty, Germany must be credited with the value of this cable. If we insist that our army of occupation costs constitute a debit against general reparations, it is possible that the Allies may insist that the value of this cable constitutes a credit to that fund.

Another account in the settlement, for which America might find it useful to be on the Reparation Commission is that of claims of American nationals against Germany for submarine and other war losses. At the Peace Conference President Wilson made no claim on this account because German property sequestrated in America seemed to cover fully these claims. The attitude of President Harding that this sequestrated property being private property would not be used by the United States for the payment of Government debt would seem to indicate an intention to collect it from Germany. But any collection from Germany may well present difficulties so long as the Reparation Commission, on which we have no vote, enjoys a mortgage on all German resources.

It has been suggested that a method by which America could collect army of occupation costs would be a recovery act similar to that by means of which Great Britain collects part of her indemnity. Under the British Recovery act 25 per cent. of the value of all German imports is paid by the British importer to the English Government and the German Government refunds that amount in paper marks to the German shipper. While on the one hand it is clear that this might relieve the allied Governments from handing over to America a large part of the cash paid by Germany it is equally clear that it would not work without a formal arrangement with the German Government and it may be guessed that if the American Government makes an arrangement with the German Government for payment of 100 cents on the dollar of its claim, something will be said by the allied Governments which at present stand to collect about thirty cents on their claims.

In any case America would have a better chance of putting into effect such a scheme if it had a member on the Reparation Commission. But it is a mistake to suppose American participation in the Reparation Commission means simple protection to American financial interests. It would have of necessity an important political bearing, as has been said it is the question of reparations which dominates European politics. It is the Reparation Commission which shapes these policies. America cannot take part in the work of the Reparation Commission without exerting political influence, and being Europe's creditor that would be an important influence, at times the predominating influence.

COUE'S PATIENTS IMPROVE.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 29.—Professor Coue was besieged again today by people in search of healing. There were no instantaneous cures, but many partial cures were reported.

The paralyzed doctor whose case was mentioned yesterday came for a second treatment and said he felt distinctly better, and to prove his progress walked about the room without assistance. Yesterday he had to be helped along by his sister. A woman who was crippled from paralyzed knee joints was able to move after a treatment.

Many of the patients said they were suffering from neuritis, which seemed to be especially responsive to auto-suggestion, and after Coue had made suggestions for self-treatment the victims said already they were beginning to get "better and better."

MORE SUBWAY TURNSTILES.

430 to Be Installed, Costing $220,000—On the Elevated Next.

The Transit Commission has approved an application by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company for the installation of 430 additional turnstiles at a cost of about $220,000. There are 500 in operation and so far as the commission has been able to learn they are satisfactory.

It was estimated that when all of the 930 are in working order the net saving to the company, by decrease in labor, would be almost $800,000 a year. Later similar turnstiles will be installed at the stations on the elevated lines. The daily loss through lead slugs, it was said, does not exceed $50.

Among notables who returned from abroad yesterday on the White Star liner Olympic was Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the late President, back by way of Southampton from an ocean trip to South Africa, which she began on Jan. 7. Mrs. Roosevelt said she had taken the voyage for her health and had nothing to say for publication. She was taken by her son Kermit from the pier to Oyster Bay by automobile.

BERLIN NOW FEARS INVASION OF RUHR

PARTIES RALLY TO WIRTH

Rathenau Takes Up the Attack on Allies' Last Note—Sees Hope in American Intervention.

By CYRIL BROWN.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 29.—Some Teuton prophets see the spectre of French occupation of the Ruhr as a sequel of the Chancellor's speech of yesterday. Tonight the nationalistic Der Tag, under the headline, "New French Advance Question," features a special dispatch from Mainz, which says:

"Reports from the occupied area and from the interior of France indicate the French apparently are concerting military measures, which could be aimed only at Germany. Quartermasters of the French Eleventh and Thirteenth Divisions from Nancy and Epinal have arrived in the neighborhood of Trier and Cochem and say their divisions have orders to maintain an increased marching-preparedness and are to form a new group on the Moselle under command of General Vidalon. At the same time orders were received from Paris to take measures for a rapid mobilization of the 1918 class and the eventuality of divisions being moved into the Moselle valley, bringing them quickly to full war strength."

The Wirth Government continued its offensive against the Reparation Commission in the Reichstag today. The German National Party served notice that it would move a resolution for a "vote of lack of confidence," but this negligible tactical move did not dampen Wirth's inner political triumph, which consisted of the serious fact that his sharp defensive policy against the Reparation Commission had aroused enthusiastic support extending far into the ranks of the Independent Socialist Party and embracing practically all of the German Peoples' Party so that so far as the answer to the reparation note is concerned, the Wirth Government today is backed by an unprecedented coalition for all practical parliamentary purposes, which embraces all parties except the extreme reactionaries and radicals, the German National Party and Communists.

Rathenau Attacks Allies' Note.

The Wirth Cabinet called upon Herr Rathenau to carry on the attack this afternoon in the Reichstag. He said:

"I have not one word to add to the Chancellor's criticism of the Reparation Commission yesterday."

The feature of Herr Rathenau's characteristically brilliant speech was a pointed attack on M. Poincaré as victor in the battle with Lloyd George. Rathenau told the Reichstag:

"I told the Reparation Commission in Cannes that Germany could make tenday 31,000,000 gold mark payments only for a very short time without bringing about the danger of German exchange being shot to pieces. I won't take back what I told the Reparation Commission. This result has come about. The dollar has soared from 160 to more than 300 marks.

"To understand the development, we must make clear to ourselves what important political world events are taking place. In France a statesman seized the reigns of government, one of great experience in international relations and of ruthless strength of will. Poincaré took up the fight against England, and Boulogne showed us that this fight has not been unsuccessful. Poincaré in the shortest time has made his policy effectively felt on all political theatres of war, not only against England, where Lloyd George's star has begun to set, but also in the Near East. The effects of Poincare's policy has extended likewise to us, and have shown themselves unpleasantly in the hail of notes descending on us. In the last two months alone we received more than a hundred notes, the answering of which caused an almost total lameness to our authorities.

"The Reparation Commission's decision of March 21 disappointed us most grievously. The door to negotiations with the Reparation Commission must not be closed."

The party leaders have all spoken in the Reichstag within the last twenty-four hours, and all except the spokesmen of the German National Party and the communists strongly backed up Wirth's answer to the Reparation Commission. Most interest attached to the sharp phrases of Stresemann, leader of the St.nnesian German People's Party, who went even further than Wirth, saying:

"Germany can't produce the means which France needs to bring its budget in order. We see the sole solution in an international loan at the same time coupled with a complete moratorium for many years for Germany. The Reparation Commission's note was presumptuous and insulting. We demand that the Government make an energetic protest not only in the Reichstag as yesterday, but in a written answer. The spirit of the Reparation Commission note is the harshest disappointment for all who believed in the relaxation of the tension in the international atmosphere."

The Wirth Cabinet today began deliberation on the Genoa conference, including the make-up of the German delegation.

Rathenau Looks to America.

BERLIN, March 29 (Associated Press).—Dr. Walter Rathenau, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in a speech in the Reichstag today expressed an earnest hope that the United States would take a hand in adjusting Germany's financial obligations. He commented generally on America's relations to European affairs.

"It is a fallacy," said Dr. Rathenau, "to set all one's hopes on any one country, be it ever so strong or idealistic. It is the habit of desperate debtors to stake everything on a single issue, but they invariably are doomed to disappointment.

"I quite well understand America's aversion to becoming entangled in European economics, and in the light of her experiences I cannot blame her if she now is inclined to avert her eyes from Europe."

The Foreign Minister expressed the belief that the impression that the foreign trade of the United States with Germany was only 5 per cent. of the total was erroneous, and that the figure was nearer 25 per cent., a factor which the thought America, in the long run, would be unwilling to dispense with.

Even allowing that the sentiment in the United States was opposed to rendering aid to a continent which still was spending money on armament, Dr. Rathenau observed that the United States, in the course of time, would realise that it was not practical to dictate conditions to a drowning man, and not feasible to, until the spirit of peace had wholly permeated the continent before coming to the relief of Europe.

Referring to the new Ambassadors appointed by Germany to the United States and by the United States to Germany, Dr. Rathenau referred to Herr Wiedfeldt, the German representative in Washington, as "one of the strongest leaders in German economic life," and said he believed the Ambassador would be well received in America.

"I extend my cordial welcome to the new American Ambassador (Alanson B. Houghton) and trust that his mission to Germany will prove a happy and productive one for both countries," said the Foreign Minister. "Never did a nation hold the fate of the continent in the hollow of her hand so indisputably as does the United States at this moment.

"Such a position implies a grave measure of responsibility. We therefore are entitled to expect that the United States will not decline to participate in the discussion which concerns he definite adjustment of Germany's financial obligations."

PARTY SPIRIT RISES IN BRITAIN ON GENOA

Maxim Litvinoff, chief of Soviet legations abroad; Adolph Joffe, M. Vorovsky, Soviet Representative in Rome; Christian Rakovsky, President of the Ukraine Soviet Government; M. Khalvani, M. Narimanov, Chairman of the Council of Commissars of Azerbaijan; M. Bekzadian, M. Khodjaley, M. Shlapnikoff, Soviet Commissar of Labor; M. Saironoff, M. Roudsutack and Dr. Jacob Janson, Foreign Minister of the Far Eastern Republic. It was said by some of the delegates that Nikolai Lenin might yet go to Genoa, if he felt better than at present, and if it was decided that his presence at the conference was necessary.

Several members of the party brought their wives and children who will remain in Riga while the delegates are in Genoa.

Tchitcherin, Joffe, Litvinoff and Leonid Krassin, who already was in Riga, and some others of the delegation are the guests of the Soviet minister to Latvia. The secretaries and technical experts and others of the party are sleeping on the cars of the Soviet train and taking their meals in the dining car.

Escorted by Latvian Soldiers.

The party traveled on a train of eight cars hauled by two wood-burning locomotives. They were accompanied from the frontier by twenty-four Latvian soldiers riding in a coach attached to the rear end of the special. The delegates occupied broad gauge sleepers larger than Pullmans and lighted by electricity. One coach was filled with baggage, among which were several wardrobe trunks. In contrast with M. Tchitcherin in frock coat and black cravat and several well groomed secretaries accompanying him, the couriers and other helpers were attired in leather coats, leather trousers and boots and fur caps.

The delegates were greeted at the station here by M. Meitovits, the Premier and Foreign Minister; M. Salnais, the Assistant Foreign Minister, and other Foreign Office members. The ceremonies lasted but a few moments.

Despite the efforts made to keep the time of the delegation's arrival secret, owing to reports of plots against Soviet representatives, a considerable crowd had assembled outside the station. No unauthorized person was allowed to enter the station, which swarmed with uniformed police and plainclothes operatives of the secret political and police departments. In the eagerness of the crowd to see the delegates some of the more agile of those outside climbed to the tops of the sheds and fences overlooking the platform.

After breakfast some of the secretaries went to the Soviet Legation for information as to when the Baltic State Soviet Conference over the Genoa program would begin.

The conference opened this afternoon for preliminary discussions of questions of their mutual benefit and their joint attitude at Genoa.

Incidentally, the delegates desire to conclude a few matters with reference to the inviolability of each other's frontiers and the Baltic States are eager to ascertain the nature of the Soviet Government's proposition for the assumption of the Russian pre-war debts, on which France is reported to have taken the view that these debts should be assumed proportionately by Latvia and Esthonia.

Poland is represented at the conference by Iodko Narkevich, and the Soviet Government is represented by Tchitcherin, Joffe, Litvinoff and Yurenev. Finland, American fashion, is not participating, but has an unofficial observer in attendance. Lithuania is not represented, owing to differences with Poland.

The conference is expected to end by Thursday, when the Soviet delegation to Genoa will leave for Berlin via the Lithuanian-Polish corridor. They expect to spend a few days in the German capital before going on to Italy by way of Switzerland.

The first day spent by the delegates on foreign soil was a most interesting one, for some of them had not been outside Russia for years. Their program included appointments which took up all of the morning. Then there were luncheons, the visit to the Baltic conference, social functions, the receiving of callers, or the dodging of them, and the giving of interviews to the newspaper correspondents.

M. Tchitcherin was the busiest of all the delegates. He had so many engagements in various parts of the city that there was not time enough for him to keep all of them. At one time he took one man with whom he had an engagement in his automobile and conferred with him while speeding to keep another appointment.

All the delegates wear a red star with a gold sickle and a hammer in the lapel of their coat. It was noticeable this morning that most of the members of the delegation had on shoes that were badly worn. This afternoon, however, they had new patent leather shoes, indicating that their choice in footwear probably is not obtainable in Moscow.

Tchitcherin and Joffe attended the Latvian National Opera tonight, while the other members of the party scattered among the various theatres of the city, including Russian, Jewish and German places of entertainment.

Lenin Belittles Conference.

MOSCOW, March 28.—The Russian Soviet official newspaper Pravda today published additional extracts from Premier Lenin's speech early this week before a secret meeting of the All-Russian Communist Congress.

Alluding to the Genoa conference, Premier Lenin declared:

"We have picked our best diplomats to represent us at Genoa. We are going there, not as Communists, but as merchants determined to obtain the best bargains possible. We are going to Genoa with thoroughly practical and hard-sense objects, namely, the enlargement of Russia's commerce and the obtainment of the most favorable conditions for her development.

"The results of the diplomatic struggle at Genoa will depend partly upon the skill of our delegates." He said he believed the Genoa gathering had been decidedly overrated, both in Russia and abroad. Those who heard his address credited the Soviet Premier with the remark: "More noise has been made about Genoa than the conference really deserves."

FINANCIAL STABILITY PLANS AT GENOA

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 29.—The work of the allied experts who have been engaged in preparing agenda for the Genoa conference has now been completed and they are reporting to their Governments. Only in a very general sense have the conclusions and plans adopted become known. The foreign exchange question has been fully reviewed. It is that question which has presented the greatest difficulty of solution, and it is understood that the delegates could devise no scheme to avoid dealings in the various exchanges through intermediate markets; although it is recognized that these operations have contributed very largely to the violent fluctuations in exchange rates, simply because pure speculation has so largely taken the place of the mercantile bills which, in the case of many countries, have almost ceased to exist.

No recommendations are expected for the revaluation of depreciated currencies. Responsibility for reduction in the value of the monetary unit, it is felt, must be left to the individual Governments. But standardization of some sort is considered inevitable, if the countries with greatly depreciated currencies are again to engage freely in international trade. Standardization, however, is recognized as meaning revaluation, and that can only be upon a lower basis of value for the monetary unit, since the present rates or currencies are, in some cases, already ruinous.

THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent is assured on the highest authority that an earnest endeavor has been made by the delegates to find some measure of exchange upon which to work. It is not formally suggested that any currencies should be wiped out or repudiated altogether, although it is recognized that even that might occur in such extreme cases as Russia.

Hostility to the official recognition of Russia is growing rapidly in the financial community, because of the bitter experience and losses entailed through trading with that country since last year's Russian trade agreement was arrived at. Nevertheless, certain British experts are recommending the reopening of trade. They have been able to find no other basis of exchange except that of barter, but they urge that a beginning must be made some time and think that even the method of barter could be developed and expanded.

Premier to Head Rumania's Envoys

BUCHAREST, March 28.—The Rumanian delegation to the Genoa conference will be headed by Premier Brutiano, who will be assisted by Foreign Minister Duca and a number of experts, including M. Antonesco, the new Minister to France. The delegates plan to ask the conference to ratify the agreement regarding regulation of traffic on the Danube River, reached by the bordering States last year, and the convention of March, 1918, joining Bessarabia to Rumania.

HARMONY

to most strictly obey!

This old rule, so well known, is often abrogated in politics and by controllers of appointments to places.

The effect of ignoring a law or a practice so obviously great and fair is not a mere matter of discouragement to such as deserve promotion, but it also tends to mistreat the honesty and fairness of those in power or in office.

Dishonorable conduct on the part of chiefs in office gradually undermines faith in mankind and wrecks city and state governments.

RESPITE EXPECTED FOR THE INTERBORO

EXTENSIONS NOW IN VIEW

Conferences continued yesterday between the Interborough Rapid Transit and the Manhattan Railway Companies concerning a modification of the rent paid by the Interborough for the Manhatta'n levated lines. At the close of the day it was said that there was a prospect of an agreement that would save the Interborough from a receivership.

Alfred Skitt and George Welwood Murray, President and counsel of the Manhattan Company, talked with Alvin W. Krech, Chairman of the Stockholders' Committee of the Manhattan, in the latter's office. James L. Quackenbush and Dwight W. Morrow discussed the situation in the office of J. P. Morgan & Co.

The Manhattan Company, it was learned from reliable sources, still insisted upon its rent of 7 per cent. on $60,000,000, but there were some signs that any delay in the payment of the $1,050,000 for the last quarter of 1921, due on April 1, would be borne with patience. This payment, with another for the same amount, will be due on Saturday, and there also will be due an additional $3,400,000 interest on the Manhattan bonds and for taxes. To meet these payments, and others aggregating $9,000,000, the Interborough has only about $4,000,000. But it was pointed out that not more than half of the larger amount would be of such a pressing nature that payment would not be delayed for a month or more.

It was said that J. P. Morgan & Co. probably would devise some p lan by which the Interborough could run along for several months, while the efforts to induce the Manhattan to reduce its interest to at least 5 per cent. would go on. One difficulty facing the Manhattan officials is the fact that the lease of its lines was undertaken with the consent of each one of its several thousand stockholders and any change also would have to meet the consent of all.

ENRIGHT SPENDS LONG TIME WITH GRAND JURY

Says His Testimony May Be Basis of Presentment Today in Kings County.

Police Commissioner Enright appeared before the Kings County Grand Jury in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon on its invitation. What took place the Commissioner refused to divulge. He was closeted with the Grand Jury an hour and a half. When he emerged he was all smiles.

"It would not be proper for me to discuss what happened in the Grand Jury room," he said. In reply to a question he replied: "No, I was not asked about bootlegging cases." He did say that his testimony might be the subject of a presentment by the Grand Jury today, when that body will be discharged.

Pressed further for information, Commissioner Enright said that "there was nothing of any big importance" in his appearance before the Grand Jury. He said he did not know what they wanted when he was asked to appear. "To be frank with you, it was simply a friendly chat," he said.

Recently the Grand Jury dismissed thirty-five rum cases. The evidence offered in these cases did not impress the Grand Jury, but the jurors became interested in police activities. It was said that Enright was asked to enlighten the jurors on the distribution of his force. Some of the jurors had suggestions to make on police enforcement and it occurred to them that probably too much energy was being used by the police in enforcing the Mullan-Gage law in view of other conditions requiring more active police work.

In fact, the Commissioner was asked whether it would not be more in the public interest if the police were so distributed that the services of the men could be used more in preventing crime than in giving their time to dry-law violations. Commissioner Enright convinced the jurors, it was said, that the efficiency of the police force was being maintained in other directions besides dry-law enforcement. The arrests of dry-law violators, he said, were being made by the police in the course of their usual duties.

EXTEND BRITISH LOCKOUT.

Engineering Employers Throw 600,000 More Men Out of Work.

LONDON, March 29 (Associated Press).—The Engineering Employers' Federation posted notices today locking out the members of forty-seven unions in addition to the Amalgamated Engineers' Union. The lockout is to take effect in one week and will affect 600,000 additional men.

The grand total of the workers affected is 850,000.

The Engineering Union this morning decided to ask the mediators to endeavor to resume informal negotiations with the engineering employers.

In connection with the shipyard strike all the workers in the Teeside, Middlesbrough yards went out today, and with the exception of a few apprentices and general laborers all the yards are idle. Similar conditions prevail in the yards at Borrow on the Tyne, at Jarrow and at Sunderland, thus accentuating the unprecedented depression in the industry that has been prevailing.

DEFENDS CIVIL SERVICE LAW

President of Federal Employes Says Inefficient Should Be Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Government executives have the power and are "obligated to the taxpayers" to discharge employes who are inefficient, Luther C. Steward, President of the National Federation of Federal Employes, said today in a statement issued in answer to Attorney General Daugherty's criticism of civil service personnel in the Government.

"There is nothing in the civil service law to prevent such dismissal," Mr. Steward said. "All he needs to do is to say it is for the good of the service."

Mr. Steward declared that Mr. Daugherty had made the vast army of men and women who operate the Government machinery "victims of sweeping generalizations based on limited observation, limited experience and no facts."

ROB TELEPHONES FOR RADIO

Paris Amateurs Raid Booths to Make Wireless Sets.

PARIS, March 29.—Amateur wireless operators are blamed by the authorities for the disappearance of telephone receivers from public pay station booths in Paris and other French cities of late. So extensive have the raids on the telephones become that the Government has sent out a "general alarm" circular warning station operators and merchants to be on the alert.

Disappearance of the receivers, which can be used in radiophony, began shortly after the Eiffel Tower wireless station started broadcasting concerts and news reports.

CARDINAL RETURNS FROM VISIT TO ROME

Mgr. Dougherty Says Americans Will Participate in Next Papal Election.

TELLS OF TALK WITH POPE

Greeted by Several Hundred From Philadelphia and Welcomed in Home City.

Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia returned from Rome yesterday on the Olympic. He announced that the next time a papal election is held American Cardinals would participate, as the proceedings would be deferred until all Cardinals able to reach the conclave had arrived. Cardinal Dougherty arrived too late to participate in the election of Pope Pius XI. He brought the blessing of the new Pope upon all American Catholics.

A delegation of several hundred clergymen and laymen from Philadelphia and this city took part in the reception at the pier. On Tuesday night, in the hope that the Olympic would reach Quarantine in time to take the Cardinal off the ship, a part of the delegation went down the Bay on the John F. Hylan, but returned when the fog held up the Olympic in the channel.

"Upon meeting the Cardinals after our arrival," the Cardinal said, they all expressed their regret at our inability to reach Rome in time for the election. Above all, Pope Piux XI assured us that it would have been a great pleasure for him had we been present. He at once made known his determination to modify the law so as to guarantee the presence of American Cardinals at future conclaves.

"The Pope is well informed on American affairs. On the occasion of my two private audiences with His Holiness, he expressed his admiration for the United States and the marvelous growth, vitality and promise of the Catholic Church in our country."

The Cardinal went from the ship to the Hotel Pennsylvania, where a reception was held in the grand ballroom. Many of those who greeted him had come from Philadelphia several days ago. Rodman Wanamaker, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee for the Reception of Distinguished Visitors, provided a police motor cycle escort on the way to the hotel and later took part in the reception.

PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—Cardinal Dougherty was welcomed home tonight by thousands of persons upon his arrival from Rome. He went to the cathedral later to bestow his first Apostolic blessing from the new Pope.

MME. WALSKA TO ACCUSE SOCIETY WOMAN IN SUIT

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 29.—It is understood that a prominent American society woman will be named by Ganna Walska in her divorce action against Alexander Smith Cochran, which Dudley Field Malone is returning to New York to file. Mr. Malone today refused to discuss the details of the case. He will sail for New York Saturday on the Aquitania and admitted that his prima donna client's affairs are among those that are taking him to America.

Mme. Walska is at present in Paris but will not accompany Mr. Malone. It is thought she will sail later to appear personally in the suit. The latter is believed to be the prima donna's long delayed answer to Mr. Cochran's threat, last summer, after he had locked her out of their Paris home, to have the marriage annulled. Mme. Walska, who retained access to their home after Mr. Malone had broken open the door and then had chains put on the door to bar out her husband has during the winter lived her accustomed social life here.

Mr. Cochran, who has just returned to France from America, has remained silent on the case. According to rumor he is holding the contention that $10,000 yearly should absolve him from all responsibilities.

CHILEAN DELEGATES SAIL.

Solar and Hurtado Start for Treaty Conference in Washington.

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 29 (Associated Press).—Carlos Aldunate Solar, one of the Chilean delegates to the Ancon treaty conference in Washington, and Feliu Hurtado, Secretary of the delegation, sailed for New York today on the steamship Santa Luisa. Luis Izquierdo, the other delegate, will sail Friday from Buenos Aires, where he is station as Chilean Minister to Argentina.

President Alessandri, in an interview granted to The Associated Press correspondent, said:

"I have great faith in the success of the Washington meeting. We seek, and will continue to seek, a settlement of the dispute with Peru within the limits of justice and an honorable compliance with the Ancon Treaty, which is the supreme law for both peoples.

"It is certain that neither Peru nor Chile should overlook this opportunity, while humanity is passing through a historic period of peace and universal concord, to liquidate these differences."

The President has followed the preliminary negotiations with great interest, and has often expressed a desire for a solution of the dispute during his administration.

that the Westall bill, giving to the State Parole Board power to parole prisoners after they have served one year on their first conviction of a felony.

When told it was reported that the bill was introduced solely in aid of Robert Brindell, Father Cashin said:

"That report is absolutely without truth. As a matter of fact, for every Brindell I could mention a hundred deserving cases where it would be much better for the State if the discretion of paroling first offenders were given to the Parole Board. There are a great many of these men who are not criminals at heart and whose families need them."

"I am opposed to the bill, but that is all I care to say about it," said Mr. Mattigan. "What is proposed by the Westall bill is simply an extension of the parole jurisdiction and an opportunity for individualistic treatment of the prisoner," he said. "It will result in no indiscriminate release of prisoners."

To the last week many letters have been received by the Governor from District Attorneys protesting against the bill on the ground that if it becomes a law it will do more to encourage crime than deterit. They say that the Parole Board has sufficient power now.

The Governor has not yet given consideration to the measure.

There are wraps that may be swathed about the figure or draped in the Greek manner, and whose only adornment is a satin revere. Others prove that trimmings of embroidery, smart stitching, or silk fringe may keep rapid pace with the mode. They are beautifully lined in silks or crepes, and come in sorrento, deer, fallow, navy and black. The materials:

Velamara, Veldyne, Tricotine, Shawsheen and Twillcord

CHURCH GAIN IN 1921 IS 761,727 MEMBERS

A census of American churches shows that last year they increased their membership 761,727, bringing the total up to 43,523,206. This was disclosed yesterday by Dr. H. K. Carroll, who compiled a religious census several years ago for the Government. Dr. Carroll's 1921 survey among fifty denominations is to be officially reported in the Christian Herald tomorrow.

His figures indicated a yearly increase of 2 per cent. during the last ten years. Last year eighty-eight new churches were added, against a decrease of 1,030 in 1920. His table for the larger denominations follows:

Denominations.	Min'rs.	Churc'es.	Comm'ts.

"The survey of the churches," said Dr. Carroll, "shows the tide still in flood. The disastrous ebb of 1919, overcome so handsomely in 1920, is well past and a moderate prosperity appears also in the returns of 1921.

"Most of the denominations share in the increase. The Methodist group appears to have grown to the remarkable extent of nearly 300,000. Nearly a third of this is credited to the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, which has never heretofore reported so large a figure."

BOY SCIENTIST IN AFRICA.

Guy Wernham, 16 Years Old, Collecting for the British Museum.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 29.—Guy Wernham, a 16-year-old London boy, accompanied only by three native carriers, is now in the West African jungle collecting natural history specimens for the natural history department of the British Museum. His father had meant to make the journey, but the boy went in his stead. Young Wernham has already travelled 8,000 miles and reached Bikuba in the Cameroons.

In a letter home, relating some of his experiences on the trek to Bikuba, he writes:

"Hearing a strange sound from behind I turned and beheld no less than a man on a motor-bike. He dismounted and remarked that he was Dr. Webber of the American Mission, and that he guessed I was Mr. Wernham, and I had better jump on the back. I did. We had a bumpy but very enjoyable ride, and I thus saved fifty-six miles of walking and two days in reaching Elat, which is the largest station of the American Mission."

WOULD SIFT ASSETS OF GEORGE J. GOULD

require the trustees to pay out at periodic intervals the substantial means of reparation to the trusts that have been depleted and impaired by the misconduct of George J. Gould while trustee. For that reason, it would be unjust and inequitable to the rights of the life beneficiaries and infant remaindermen that the trustees should continue to pay out about $500,000 a year to George J. Gould when he is already indebted in excess of $20,000,000."

Cites Western Union Deal.

In asserting the indebtedness of George J. Gould to the Jay Gould estate Mr. Walker refers first to the transaction involving the sale of the estate's Western Union stock, from which George J. Gould made a profit of $620,401, but which he returned in 1917, after keeping it for eight years, "when it became apparent to George J. Gould that his act in taking the commission had been discovered." Mr. Walker contends that Mr. Gould still owes the estate $375,000 as 6 per cent. interest on the sum withheld for eight years.

In alleging a further proved indebtedness to the trust estate of $2,500,000 Mr. Walker states that George J. Gould was a member of an underwriting syndicate for the sale of Missouri Pacific 5 per cent. bonds in 1910, when he was an officer and director of the road. He became personally liable to the syndicate for $10,000,000 of the bonds, but after he had sold $3,500,000 of the bonds to a third party he caused the estate to take the balance of the bonds, thus relieving himself of the personal obligation. These bonds were exchanged on the reorganization of the road for stock, and, although the estate lost $2,500,000 on the transaction, Mr. Gould kept his profit on the underwriting of the bonds.

A third claim against Mr. Gould is based on the fact that the testimony in the accounting proceeding showed that between 1901 and 1905 Mr. Gould mixed the funds of the trust estate with his own and at one time owed the estate $3,000,000. It is alleged further that from 1908 to 1914 Mr. Gould was continuously indebted to the estate, the amount being in excess of $2,000,000 at various times. He testified that he sustained toward the funds of the estate a "debtor and creditor relation." Mr. Gould admitted that in 1912 he destroyed personally the books bearing on these transactions.

Mr. Walker alleges further that many other transactions developed on the examination of witnesses in the accounting proceeding showing indebtedness by Mr. Gould to the estate. The testimony showed that he caused the Jay Gould estate to invest so heavily in the securities of the Missouri Pacific and its subsidiaries that they constituted the bulk of the estate. It is alleged that with respect to these holdings Mr. Gould "initiated and personally executed a policy of hazardous expansion of the railroad system from and after 1906, which policy of expansion involved the estate in the sale of sound securities to put itself in funds to purchase highly speculative securities of the Missouri Pacific Railway and its subsidiaries." It is alleged that as the result of this policy by George J. Gould as the "dominating trustee" of the estate it became "the holder of many millions of dollars of unsecured loans on open accounts, of highly speculative stocks and of speculative junior bonds of the said railroads as a result whereof, in successive failures of practically every one of said railroads, the estate has lost many millions of dollars."

PAINTS MISS STONE A WRONGED WOMAN

SAYS HE WED HER BY FORCE

Indicating a defense of the unwritten law, E. J. Reilly, attorney for Olivia M. P. Stone, on trial before Justice Aspinall in the Brooklyn Supreme Court for the murder of Ellis Guy Kinkead, former Corporation Counsel of Cincinnati, sprung a surprise yesterday in his opening address when he said that Kinkead was a roue and drug addict. He charged the dead man with improper conduct in a beauty parlor run by Marie Gormley Kinkead, his widow. Mr. Reilly said that he would submit proof that the then Miss Gormley compelled Kinkead, "whom she held like an octopus," to marry her in Cincinnati under threat of ruining his career.

During the excoriation of her character, Mrs. Kinkead, sitting in a rear seat of the crowded courtroom, listened with a smile. Miss Stone wept. She will take the stand this morning.

"This is not a case tinged with the ethics of the mining camp," said Mr. Reilly. "It is the sad case of an honorable woman whose mind could stand the strain no longer. No one can say a word against this defendant, even after she met Kinkead. We will show that Kinkead was a man of a dual personality—a brilliant man, standing high in his profession as a member of the bar by day; at night a habitue of the worst rendezvous."

Mr. Reilly said that Kinkead's physicians recommended a sanitarium, and at the Scarlet Oaks Sanitarium outside Cincinnati Miss Stone was assigned to his case. It was suggested that Kinkead go to Atlantic City for the sea air.

Tells of Their "Wedding."

"Miss Stone went along as nurse," continued Mr. Reilly. "He registered at the hotel as Ellis Guy Kinkead and Olivia M. Stone, nurse. He subsequently proposed marriage to her. She took it seriously and believed him. Kinkead and Miss Stone went to the City Hall for a license. As they were mounting the steps, he said, 'Olivia, there's a woman back in Cincinnati who imagines she has a claim on me. I know that if she finds this out she will do everything to ruin my reputation. I love you and you love me, so you must trust me. As soon as I get rid of this woman we'll have a ceremonial marriage.'"

"They left the City Hall and he purchased a wedding ring which he put on her finger, using words she will herself tell you. They registered as man and wife at a hotel and he introduced her to persons as his wife."

"Then one day in Cincinnati Ellis Guy Kinkead was taken to the marriage license bureau by two detectives; a license was secured and he was escorted before an Italian lawyer, empowered to perform marriages, and married to Marie Gormley," Mr. Reilly said. "The last thing the Gormley woman and Kinkead did before leaving Cincinnati was to go to the General Hospital where Miss Stone had graduated. There he told a story of his so-called association with Miss Stone and requested that her name be stricken off the list."

Mr. Reilly declared that recourse to the courts was denied because of the power wielded by Kinkead in Cincinnati.

Says She Pleaded for Name.

"A year went by and Miss Stone traced him to Brooklyn," he said. "She met him one afternoon and said, 'Ellis, let me get a divorce from you. I won't ask alimony. Just remove the lie against me so that I can make an honest living.' In reply Kinkead hurled an epithet at her. Everything went from her senses. When she came to it was several hours later in the station house."

A divorce suit brought here by Miss Stone against Kinkead was brought to light by the prosecution. Assistant District Attorney Herbert N. Warbasse called David Sheehan of the County Clerk's office, and Bernard J. Gallagher, managing clerk in the law office of Felder, Gulbert, Campbell & Barranco, attorneys for Kinkead. Gallagher identified affidavits served on Kinkead in connection with motions for alimony and counsel fees. Miss Stone called herself Olivia Kinkead and stated that she had married Kinkead in Atlantic City about May 28, 1918. She alleged that he deserted her about Sept. 28, 1918. She named Marie L. Gormley as co-respondent. The records showed that Justice Whitaker denied the motion after Kinkead had submitted proof of lawful marriage to Miss Gormley. The motion was dismissed on June 9 of last year.

Mrs. Campbell in Tears.

A Times reporter found Mrs. Campbell in her office on the tenth floor of Aeolian Hall.

"Why did Bessie"—a reference to Mrs. Nichols, whom she said she had known for years—"do this?" she inquired in tears. "She knows that I never got a penny of this. She knows that I would walk half-way around the world to repay a cent that I owed. We had an agreement, or so I was informed, with the Ford company, and it never went through. The charges as outlined in the complaint are absolutely false. Mrs. Nichols went into this thing on her own responsibility, after thorough investigation and as a business proposition, having nothing whatsoever to do with Christian Science.

"As to the possible value of Mr. Canton's inventions, there is a meeting of engineers tomorrow in Washington to discuss them. This whole thing will be cleared up within a week. I am certain that Mr. Canton's inventions will turn out so that those who invested will receive double what they put into them."

Some years ago Mrs. Campbell served as a clerk of the Supreme Court in Manila, and she said that her brother, Colonel Henry McCoy, had commanded the first American troops in the Philippines. Mrs. Campbell explained that she had met Canton a year ago last Summer. At that time she said that she and another Christian Science practitioner had shared an office at 500 Fifth Avenue. Canton, she said, had been in the habit of going to the other practitioner for treatment.

JOIN METHODISTS AT CONFERENCE

BISHOP ANDERSON PRESIDES

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 29.—An unusual incident marked the opening here this afternoon of the one hundred and twenty-third annual session of the New York Methodist Conference. A Protestant Episcopal clergyman walked up to the altar rail, knelt by the side of the Methodist brethren and partook of the communion. He was the Rev. Dr. Alexander G. Cummins, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, this city. With him was the Rev. Dr. J. Addison Jones, pastor of the Reformed Church of this city, and also kneeling at the rail was the Rev. Dr. William Mackay, Presbyterian.

Dr. Cummins is President of the Poughkeepsie Ministerial Association. He and his wife are entertaining several of the Methodist ministers at the rectory of Christ Church. One of their guests is the Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, pastor of the Madison Avenue Church, New York City.

Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati, presiding officer of the conference, said:

"This is not the table of any denomination. It is the Lord's table. All who do truly repent of their sins and love the Lord are invited."

Veteran Pastors Present.

Three of the ministers present today were admitted into the New York conference at the same time as Bishop Anderson, thirty-five years ago. These were the Rev. Drs. Ezra S. Tipple, President of Drew Theological Seminary; Charles A. Hcilis, assistant superintendent of the Metropolitan Anti-Saloon League, and Lewis F. Piper, retired, of Cornwall. A letter of sympathy was ordered sent to the Rev. Dr. Albert E. Lord of the same class, who is ill at his home in Kingston.

At the business session of the conference the Rev. Charles S. Oakley of Monroe was re-elected unanimously as Secretary, Assistant Secretaries being the Rev. Benjamin M. Denniston of Saugerties, the Rev. William B. Chandler of Halcottville, the Rev. Robert L. Mauterstock and the Rev. J. Corbett Halmshaw of Pine Plains. The Rev. Augustus A. Walker, pastor of Centenary Church, New York City, was re-elected Statistician.

On motion of Dr. Tipple a resolution was passed thanking the Methodist Board of Bishops for assigning Bishop Anderson to preside over the New York conference. His motion was seconded by the Rev. Dr. John G. Oakley of Yonkers, who has been a member of the conference fifty-eight years.

"I am the member of this conference who dates furtherest back," said Mr. Oakley. "It was my privilege to examine Dr. Anderson in theology, and I have the original papers right here in my pocket. I also had the privilege of examining that young man who offered this resolution."

In thanking the conference, Bishop Anderson remarked:

"If there is any other brotherhood so genuine, as that of the Methodist ministry, I do not know anything about it. When I read your appointments at the close of this conference I want it to be that there will be no surprises to pastor or congregation."

Mrs. Anderson Greeted.

Bishop Anderson said there was "another member o fthe class of 1887 that he wold like to present." He then called his wife to the platform, asking the Rev. Dr. Arthur Jamieson, pastor of the Duane Street Church, New York City, to escort Mrs. Anderson. The Bishop caused a ripple of smiles by saying he had hesitated whether to ask Dr. Jamieson or the Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Bond of the Five Points Mission to perform this service, as both were "ladies men." Dr. Jamieson and Dr. Bond are bachelors.

Mrs. Anderson thanked the conference and said she was especially grateful to be in Poughkeepsie.

On the suggestion of Bishop Anderson, a letter was voted to Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York City, who is presiding over the Newark, N. J., conference, and a greeting was sent to each of the brethren who is ill.

Dr. Hollis reported there were 213 churches in the conference and that services had been held throughout the year in all except thirteen.

A memorial service was held for the ministers who had died during the year. These included Rev. Isaac R. Vandewater, the Rev. Benjamin H. Burch of Ellenville, the Rev. Dr. Charles Howland Cookman, the Rev. George Stanley Davis of Philmont and the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Wilson of Mount Kisco.

The annual camp fire service of the New York Conference War Veterans' Association was held this evening. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor George R. Campbell of Poughkeepsie and former Mayor Daniel W. Wilbur, President of the Board of Trustees of the entertaining church. Bishop Anderson delivered an address on "The Cross and the Flag." Guests of honor included the local post G. A. R., the Spanish War Veterans' Association, the American Legion and the Red Cross.

INDIAN PRAISE FOR MONTAGU

Maharajah of Alwar Says Native States Owe Much to Him.

DELHI, India, March 29 (Associated Press).—Speaking at a banquet in honor of Lord Reading, the Viceroy, at Alwar yesterday evening, the Maharajah of Alwar said the Princes of India sometimes received gratuitous officious advice from quarters not directly concerned in their affairs, "but we try to look beyond these and march forward determinedly."

"United India," he said, "will again achieve in the future the great position she held in ages past."

The Maharajah said that the Prince of Wales came to India as a British Prince, but that he would return as a Royal Prince of India. Alluding to the Chamber of Princes, he said this Government constituted the United States of India, in which every State was working out its own destiny in accordance with its environment and tradition, and would continue its course for higher imperial purposes.

The Maharajah eulogized the work of Edwin S. Montagu, former Secretary of State for India, and said the Indian States owed much to him for their reforms.

In reply, Lord Reading said:

"To me India is India within the British Empire. I see India in the future counting, as she should, in the councils of the empire. I do not despair of India's future. I look forward to it with hope and confidence, but we must not be too hasty. True wisdom and by calm, considered judgment, not by hurried formation of opinion under stress of emotion or passion. I am confident that for the peoples and Princes of India there lies a future of great hope."

TWEED COATS AND DRESSES FOR GIRLS

The leading French designers of feminine outer apparel frequently give expression to their most original ideas in the exceedingly smart coats, capes, suits and dresses which they create for girls from 4 to 14 years.

Our exhibition of original models from Cheruit, Paquin, Lanvin, Mouton, Brizac and others fully justify this statement.

Our designers who specialize exclusively in providing the most appropriate outer apparel for girls have retained, in our own productions and adaptations, the charm of the original models and preserve that refinement and simplicity which should be such an important consideration in the dress of young girls.

ORGANIZE TO FOSTER TIMES SQ. BUSINESS

Hotels and Tradesmen Form Association Devoted to District's Varied Interests.

Will Confine Its Activities Between Fortieth and Fiftieth Streets—High Tone One of Aims.

Times Square, already covered by the activities of two well-known organizations of business men whose interests spread over still larger areas, is to be boosted by another organization, the Times Square Association, whose membership is composed of business men in the immediate neighborhood of Times Square. The Times Square Association announced yesterday that it did not intend to compete, but expected to cooperate with the Broadway Association and the Heart of New York Business Men's Association in promoting the development of Times Square as a great business centre.

The plans of the new association will be outlined further at a meeting of its Executive Committee tonight at the Hotel Astor, according to B. S. Adelson, head of the International Millinery Company.

From Mr. Adelson it was learned that the Times Square Association would confine its activities to the district between Fortieth and Fiftieth Streets, including business establishments 150 feet east and west of Broadway and Seventh Avenue. The motto of the association is "Shop in Times Square." The organization also will concern itself with the elevation of the business ethics of the community.

"We desire to improve the character of the Times Square district in every way possible," Mr. Adelson said. "We hope to eliminate the establishments operating on the bankrupt sale method. We also should like to relieve the district of the two-price and other sale schemes."

The Times Square Association had its beginning at a recent meeting at the Hotel Astor. Many of the leading business men of the district were present, Mr. Adelson said. He named as among those interested F. W. Wishart of the Hotel Astor, F. A. Reed of the Hotel Claridge, W. B. Shaw and Charles H. Strauss of the Shaw Jewelry Company, I. Lazaroff of the Liggett Stores, James Schady, Vincent Cologesno, E. Van Houten, J. Gree, S. G. Gumperts and E. Carr.

Mr. Adelson further said the association had been assured of the support of Young Bros., Knickerbocker Hat Company, Mirror Candy Stores, United, McBride's and Tyson & Bros.' theatre ticket agencies; Gray's Drug Store, Rand Company, Astor Chapeaux, Astor Millinery and the Baesta Company.

The Times Square Association will be incorporated, Mr. Adelson said.

It is unlikely that the usual custom of charging annual dues will be followed. This and other details to be discussed at tonight's meeting will be submitted to the charter members.

"The Times Square district," Mr. Adelson said, "is the logical district for high-class specialty shops. By improving the character of the business houses we believe we can attract firms who will add further lustre to the district."

WEAR SKIRT OR STAY HOME, SAYS PRINCIPAL

Knickerbockers Forbidden for Classroom Costume in Brooklyn High School.

Knickerbockers have been forbidden in the classrooms of the Girls' High School in Brooklyn. Dr. William L. Felter, principal of the school, in the last few days has sent home three girls who appeared in the costume usually used by men upon the golf links. Also he has posted a general order that girls who come to the school in knickerbockers must have a personal interview with him.

One of the girls sent home for appearing in knickerbockers wore a Shifter badge in her hat when she went to Dr. Felter's office, and he spoke to her on shifters as well as knickerbockers. On Tuesday another girl appeared in short trousers and she also went home. Girls must wear skirts or stay away from school, he said, and the knickerbocker fad is wanting fast.

Dr. Felter also called the girls before him on Monday and talked to them about the Shifters. He told them that any girl who became a Shifter was getting money under false pretences. He took the Shifter slogan, "Getting something for nothing," as the theme of his remarks, and said that any girl who cheated by permitting her work, either in an examination or at home, to be copied, was as guilty as the one who did the copying.

SHOT BY CHANCE BULLET.

Policeman in Auto Says He Heard Nothing When Hit.

While off duty early Wednesday morning, Policeman Ferdinand White, attached to the West 177th Street Station, was shot in the left arm. According to the policeman he has no idea who shot him or whence the bullet came. He was treated by Dr. Harold Goldstein at the Fordham Hospital and reported sick before his turn for duty came yesterday afternoon. Detectives Cunningham and Reardon of the Webster Avenue Station in the Bronx were assigned to the case. The former said that he was as much in the dark as White regarding the accident.

"White was driving in an automobile with two friends," said Cunningham, "one was Policeman Grace attached to the West 177th Street Station and the other was a civilian named Jeremiah Flynn. I don't know his address. They were driving in Flynn's car south on Broadway. At the corner of 231st Street, White felt a sudden stinging sensation in his left arm. He saw blood and realized he had been shot. He heard nothing and saw nothing that would indicate where the bullet came from."

According to the detectives, White went to his mother's home in Yonkers after he reported sick. He has been on the force five years.

TWO CHIROPRACTORS HELD.

Practice of Medicine Without License Charge Against School Men.

An inquiry by Magistrate McGeehan was concluded yesterday with charges against two chiropractors and two schools, alleging practice of medicine without a license. The defendants, who were released under bail for trial in Special Sessions, were Alfred J. Newman, 801 Stone Avenue, Brooklyn, and George Otto of 343 West Seventy-second Street. The schools were the New York State College of Chiropractic, at 127 University Place, of which Newman is the President, and the New York School of Chiropractic, at the same address, of which Otto is an official.

Assistant District Attorney Wilson, who conducted the investigation, said that it had been shown there were a number of medical schools in the State apparently violating the law by operating without a license.

ARMY BILL PASSED; PERSHING ASSAILS IT

He and Harbord Tell the Press That Limit of 115,000 Will Work a Serious Injury.

FURTHER CUT DISASTROUS

Harbord Says Country Travels in Vicious Circles of Economy and Unpreparedness.

INSIST ON OVERSEAS GUARD

But Provision in Bill for Return of Troops Is Eliminated Before House Sends It to Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Stating the army's case in opposition to further reductions in its enlisted and commissioned strength before Washington newspaper men gathered at the National Press Club tonight, General Pershing, Chief of Staff, and Major Gen. Harbord, Deputy Chief of Staff, jointly declared their belief that the bill passed today by the House limiting the army to 115,000 men and 11 000 officers would work serious injury to the nation's military police and undermine the best system for preparedness the nation ever had.

"Further reductions would be disastrous," General Pershing declared, adding that such reductions would "introduce an unwarranted element of danger in our plan of national defense."

General Harbord asserted that "the country traveled in a vicious circle of unpreparedness and post-war economy." Both officers asserted that 150,000 men and 12,000 officers were absolutely essential to the nation's needs at this time.

"A careful consideration of the work in hand, if the initial well laid scheme is not to be seriously curtailed and many essential activities abandoned," General Pershing said, "leads inevitably to the conclusion that any further reduction would be disastrous."

Need of Overseas Garrisons.

Regarding the proposal to reduce the overseas garrisons, he said that the "reduction cannot be made without violating the soundest principles of security."

"The size of the peace garrisons recommended for Hawaii and the Panama Canal Zone," General Pershing added, "is the minimum with which their missions can be performed. Any material decrease in their size will make them ineffective and possibly invite attack. The importance of these possessions in the plan of national defense, the expense of maintaining them, the fact that they must be defended by the regular army, and the difficulty of supplying adequate reinforcements in an emergency all demand that the defending force be reasonably effective and that the personnel be definitely allocated from whatever strength Congress authorizes for the regular army."

The loss of the Panama Canal, the speaker declared, would be a blow to the pride of the American people, and, from a military point of view, would be a greater blow than the loss of any other possession.

The General emphasized the importance of adequately protecting the Hawaiian and the Philippine Islands, adding that "it must be remembered that the controlling factor in determining the strength of our overseas garrisons is not the imminence of war, but the military value of these outposts in the general scheme of defense of continental United States in the event of war."

"Any further reduction," he concluded, "will introduce an unwarranted element of danger in our plan of national defense."

The Cost of Unpreparedness.

General Harbord declared that "our preparedness at the outbreak of a war entails tremendous expense, amounting in the World War, for example, to approximately $24,000,000,000.

"After the war the size of our debt incurred through unpreparedness," he asserted, "brings a demand for economy and we continue unprepared. Thus unpreparedness brings the debt and the debt continues unpreparedness."

The Deputy Chief of Staff called attention to War Department estimates of $3,500,000, which, he said, was needed to train about 28,000 reserve officers for fifteen days a year and 20,000 enlisted reserves for the same period of time.

"The House bill carries $250,000 for reserve officers and $100 for enlisted reserves," General Harbord continued. "A reserve of 1,000 officers and one enlisted man can be trained for the sum provided. At that rate, the enlisted reserve would never be trained and it would take over sixty years to give the 65,000 reserve officers fifteen days' training each."

War Department plans for the National Guard, the General said, call for approximately $30,000,000 to cover Summer camps, armory drills and forage for public animals, $9,000,000 of which would be spent in training 150,000 guardsmen.

"The $6,500,000 carried by the House bill," he continued, "will leave about one-third of the National Guard without field training this year. It will permit no rifle matches, no preliminary camps, and the attendance at service schools of but a fraction of the National Guard officers who had hoped to go. * * * The $21,000,000 provided by the House bill will limit the National Guard to 100,000 men, whereas 144,000 men are now in the service and 20,000 more would have been in the service by the end of June."

Bill Passed Without Roll-Call.

The House passed the Army Appropriation bill, carrying approximately $288,000,000 to meet military and non-military expenses of the War Department during the coming fiscal year, without a roll-call.

As sent to the Senate the measure provides that by July 1 the enlisted strength of the regular army must be reduced to 115,000 men, exclusive of 7,000 Philippine scouts, and the number of officers decreased to 11,000.

The principal changes made in the bill by the House were the elimination of a provision that all troops stationed in China and a part of those on duty in Hawaii, the Panama Canal Zone and on the Rhine should be returned to the United States by July 1 and the adoption of an amendment increasing by $15,000,000 the amount carried as a lump sum toward continuation of work during the coming fiscal year on various river and harbor projects.

Just prior to passage of the bill Representative Blanton, Democrat, of Texas demanded another vote on the amendment increasing the rivers and harbors item which was adopted Monday without a roll-call by a 158-to-54 vote. The House, acting on the demand, decided by a vote of 172 to 75 to retain in the bill the amendment which increased from $27,635,260 to $42,615,661 the amount provided for various improvements.

A second vote also was demanded on three amendments which increased national appropriations, but the three items remained in the bill by safe margins. One amendment increased from $9,000,000 to $11,000,000 the army drill pay allowance for national guardsmen. Another increased by $200,000 the $500,000 provision for the care of national guard animals, while the third removed a restriction carried in the bill that none of the money was to be used in caring for more than 4,000 horses and mules.

The bill was sent to the Senate practically in the form in which it was drafted by a subcommittee of which Representative Anthony, Republican, of Kansas was Chairman. Except in a few instances attempts to amend the measure were frustrated.

The chief reverse suffered by the subcommittee was the adoption of the rivers and harbors amendment offered by Chairman Dempsey of the Rivers and Harbors Committee. At the outset the subcommittee also opposed an amendment by Representative Rogers, Republican, of Massachusetts, to eliminate the provision for withdrawal of certain troops stationed outside continental United States, but Mr. Anthony later agreed to its adoption.

As framed the bill carried $270,353,000, approximately $116,000,000 less than the amount appropriated for War Department activities during the current fiscal year and a reduction of nearly $88,000,000 from budget bureau estimates. House amendments added about $18,000,000 to the total.

The bill was the tenth annual supply measure passed by the House this session. Two appropriation bills—the Navy and Department of Justice and State Department measures—have not yet been acted upon by the House.

BIG NAVY MEN TO FIGHT 65,000 PERSONNEL BILL

Attack on the Measure as Drawn Will Be Made by McArthur and Rogers on the Floor.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The fight against reducing the navy to an enlisted personnel of 65,000 is by no means stilled in the House. Opponents of such a policy are now arranging their campaign and when the sub-committee of the Appropriations Committee presents its bill late next week the attack will be launched. The sub-committee expects to bring out a bill with 65,000 enlisted men as a basis, but strenuous endeavors will be made to raise this number to 80,000 men and 6,000 apprentices.

Sentiment in favor of the increase is growing fast in the House, so Representative McArthur of Oregon, of the House Naval Affairs Committee, and Representative Rogers of Massachusetts, of the Foreign Affairs Committee, stated this afternoon. These two men, who will lead the fight for 86,000 enlisted men, said they believed they would win.

It seems now as if the division for and against reduction will be largely sectional, the interior of the country, particularly the Middle West, insisting on a small navy, with the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts opposed.

Another division will come on the principle that the sub-committee should not have absolute power to fix the size of the navy. A direct conflict already has come up between the sub-committee and the House Naval Affairs Committee, which is on record for the size advocated by Representative McArthur. That the House is not a unit in believing that the Appropriations Committee's sub-committees are omnipotent was shown today when the army bill was passed with an increase over the amount recommended by the sub-committee.

When the debate opens on the Naval bill, Representative McArthur will offer an amendment to increase the suggested 65,000 to 86,000 and Representative Rogers, who will specialize on the international aspects of the naval situation, will offer an amendment to increase the number to 96,000. In this way the House will have a chance to vote for a navy ranging from about its present size down to the small navy ratio.

"At the proper time during the consideration of the Naval Appropriation bill I shall offer an amendment that will provide sufficient funds for an enlisted personnel of 86,000, as compared with 65,000, authorized in the bill about to be reported from the House Committee on Appropriations," said Representative McArthur this afternoon.

"The House Committee on Naval Affairs has reported legislation authorizing an enlisted strength of 80,000 men and 6,000 apprentice seamen, and, although I am not speaking officially for the committee, I feel that a large majority of its members are opposed to reducing our enlisted personnel to 65,000, when it is well understood that Japan will have 68,000 and Great Britain 104,000 during the coming fiscal year.

"Representative Rogers of Massachusetts will offer an amendment to my amendment in which he will propose an enlisted personnel of 96,000. The House will, therefore, have opportunity to vote for a navy of 96,000, 86,000 or 65,000, and there undoubtedly will be other amendments proposing other figures.

"The recent armament limitation conference agreed to a 5-5-3 basis of naval armament, but if the proponents of the forthcoming bill have their way, the personnel ratio will be approximately 5-3-3. I do not believe the American people want their navy to drop to third place in personnel, or in any other respect. What they want is a navy that will, in so far as possible, conform to the spirit of the recent conference. The present enlisted strength of our navy is approximately 94,000 men. It cannot stand much more of a reduction without seriously affecting its morale and efficiency."

ALLOWS LOWER RATES.

I. C. C. Sustains Mississippi Valley Roads in Cuts to Pacific.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Mississippi Valley railroads were found by the Interstate Commerce Commission today to be justified in decreasing rates from Chicago territory on freight destined to the Pacific coast via Gulf ports of the Panama Canal. The order of suspension which the commission issued against the new schedules and which prevented the lower charges from becoming effective Feb. 15 was withdrawn and the railroads were allowed to continue the lower rates on and after April 1.

Nearly all commodities usually shipped by freight were affected by the schedules which the Mississippi Valley railroads proposed last January. In practically all cases the rates from Chicago to New York and adjacent Atlantic ports were lower than the similar rates from Chicago to Gulf ports. The transcontinental railroads therefore attacked the proposal on the ground that the lower rates thus made to the Gulf would divert traffic from them and that the entire rate structure would be modified by the effects.

CUTS OFF HER OWN ARM.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 29.—Mrs. Margaret Lindauer amputated her arm at her home in Richmond Beach, a suburb, today because, she told her 16-year-old daughter, a spirit commanded her to do so. She was taken to a hospital in a critical condition.

The daughter was also taken to the hospital, suffering from shock.

In other words, you pay for nothing in the Twin-Six that is not actually there. The present low price of $3850 for the touring car, f. o. b. SCHNELL REGARDED AS 'STAR BOARDER'

WELCOME IN THEIR HOME

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 29.—Edward L. Schnell, in trying to controvert evidence in a divorce action brought against him by his wife, Mrs. Elsie M. Schnell of Hastings-on-Hudson, in which Mrs. Catherine Bonifer of Elmhurst, L. I., is named as co-respondent, called Mrs. Bonifer and her husband, Henry Joseph Bonifer, as his principal witnesses in the Supreme Court here today.

Despite the fact that Austin Bonifer, the soldier son of the Bonifers, and his wife Theresa had testified they had seen the senior Mrs. Bonifer embracing Schnell, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bonifer declared they were both on friendly terms with Schnell and that he is now their "star boarder." Mr. and Mrs. Bonifer sat together during the hearings like a loving husband and wife.

Mrs. Bonifer, the co-respondent, flatly denied her son's story of peeking into Schnell's bedroom and seeing her mother with Schnell.

She swore that when her son was in the army he persistently wrote her for money and when they quarreled told her he would get "hunk" with her.

Mrs. Bonifer also denied that Schnell had ever given her silk stockings, saying with a pout, "I bought my own stockings."

She said she had never written love letters to Schnell and that their relationship had always been pleasant. Asked whether Mr. Schnell had ever taken her to the movies she replied, "Yes, but my husband was always with me."

"Did you ever kiss or hug Mr. Schnell?"

"No, no, I never did, and he never kissed or caressed me."

The senior Bonifer testified in behalf of his wife that he was on very friendly terms with Schnell.

"Is Schnell welcome in your house?"

"He is."

Justice Young then asked: "Have you ever seen anything between your wife and Mr. Schnell in your home that you would think improper?"

"No," replied Mr. Bonifer with emphasis.

Asked if he had ever found Schnell and Mrs. Bonifer alone in his parlor and had remonstrated with them, Bonifer replied in the negative.

Schnell in his own defense declared that he had only a friendly feeling for Mrs. Bonifer and her husband. He said he had been separated from his wife five years. He declared that Bonifer was his personal friend and that they went to the theatre and played cards together.

Justice Young granted an adjournment until tomorrow morning, when counsel will sum up.

MRS. SELIGMAN LEFT $100,000 TO CHARITY

Bulk of Estate, Including Trust Funds of $550,000 Go to Her Cousin, Moritz Wormser.

The will of Mrs. Julia Seligman of 11 East Sixty-ninth Street, who died at her Summer home at Deal, N. J., on March 2, disposes of more than $100,000 in charitable bequests. The will is to be probated in New Jersey and is filed here because she owned the properties at 11 East Sixty-ninth Street and 103 East Sixty-third Street. The charitable bequests are:

Mount Sinai Hospital, $25,000; New York Post-Graduate Hospital, $25,000; $5,000 each to the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, United Hebrew Charities, Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society, Tribune Fresh Air Fund; $3,000 to St. John's Guild, $2,500 each to the Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases, New York Society for the Relief of Ruptured and Crippled, Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, New York City Home for Destitute Blind, Bellevue Hospital and Montifiore Home; $2,000 each to the Henry Street Settlement and the Monmouth Hospital at Long Branch, N. J.; $1,000 to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and $5,000 to the Widowed Mothers' Fund. Her house and land at 31 Morris Avenue, Long Branch, are bequeathed to the Chrystie Street House, at 186 Chrystie Street, to be used by groups of twenty-four poor children at a time during the Summer months.

Mrs. Seligman directs that her jewelry be distributed by her executors in accordance with a letter she left, but gives her string of 46 pearls to Lucille G. Burleigh and strings of 75 pearls and 92 pearls to Carolyn Wormser. A string of 80 pearls is left to Julia Ruppert. A trust fund to pay $100 a month to her uncles, Gilbert and Louis Cohn of Albany, is established.

The bulk of the estate is left to Moritz Wormser, a cousin, of Woodmere, L. I., who gets trust funds of $150,000 and $400,000, and the residuary estate, including Mrs. Seligman's town house. Two cousins, J. Maurice Wormser of 76 West Eighty-sixth Street and Lawrence Wormser of Hartford, Conn., are not mentioned. Lucille G. Burleigh, who is a cousin, gets $20,000 cash. Bequests of from $250 to $10,000 are left to twenty-six relatives and friends. Mrs. Seligman gave $150,000 to her cousin, Alice M. Ruppert of Karlsruhe, Germany, and left a trust fund of $100,000 to her family.

NEWSPAPER CLUB UPTOWN.

Bush Terminal Building Chosen for Its Headquarters.

At a meeting of the directors of the recently formed Newspaper Club of New York yesterday it was decided to have the headquarters of the club in the Bush Terminal Building, 132 West Forty-second Street. The decision was reached after a referendum had been taken among the members on an uptown or a downtown location. The vote was more than two to one in favor of the uptown building.

The vote showed that the present membership of the club is 395. Nominating petitions for the election of officers of the club will be distributed on Saturday and the election will be held on Monday, May 1, when it is expected the new clubrooms will be opened. It was decided to extend the period for charter membership in the organization until April 30. President Harding, who is publisher of The Marion (Ohio) Star, was elected the first non-resident member of the new club.

Craig Contempt Case Moves Ahead.

The first step toward a speedy argument in the United States Supreme Court of the case of Controller Charles L. Craig, found guilty by Federal Judge Julius Mayer of contempt of court, was taken yesterday when Assistant United States Attorney David V. Cahill filed the record with Clerk William Larkin of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Mr. Cahill will immediately move to have the case added to the calendar.

Is Business Good or Bad?

The verdict is not unanimous.

Here and there you find a man who states that business, with him, is good.

We have passed through a period when a broad wave of prosperity carried even the badly managed enterprise forward with a rush. Business then was good everywhere—good with everyone.

Today Pessimism rules. The Optimist is rarely met with, but you do meet him. He invariably is a fighter. He invariably is aggressive. Invariably he is pushing out for sales harder than ever before. Invariably he is a man who has dropped the order taking system of yesterday and has sensed and adopted the sound sales building methods of tomorrow. Invariably he tells you that Business is good if you fight and make it good—that it's bad if you drift and only half-heartedly try.

We do not say that under present day conditions business should be universally good—but we do most emphatically state that business can be made good for the individual concern if that concern will fight tooth and nail to make it good. We do unreservedly claim that a concern that will so fight can bring to its order books a greater share of a shrunken volume than it would ordinarily receive.

This, then, is a message to fighters. A message in which we state that we can show you the way to increased volume of sales.

We have no ready made plan to offer you—no scheme—no system—no magic device, for today there is no royal, smoothly paved road to sales volume.

We bring you fifteen years of the widest possible merchandising and advertising experience—we bring you minds sharpened and keenly trained through contact with a thousand sales problems. We bring you a fresh viewpoint—a viewpoint wherein we perhaps will see in a new light problems you have lived with too long. One thing is certain—we bring to you a supreme confidence that we can profitably serve you—a confidence born of the fact and strengthened by the knowledge that we are successfully serving others.

Our service is not by any means the cheapest in the market when figured against what we spend for you, but it is by far the cheapest when compared with results.

May we show you the way to increase your sales? An interview incurs no obligation.

PLENTY OF FOWL ARRIVING

Poultry, Costing 26 to 29 Cents Should Sell for 34 to 35, but Brings 40 to 45.

Edwin J. O'Malley, Commissioner of the Department of Public Markets, said yesterday in a statement that "it is an outrage the prices that are now charged by the retail kosher butchers for fresh killed poultry." He added that the consumers of this city would be mulcted out of $500,000 this week and $1,500,000 within three weeks, "through the over-cropping of live poultry and the rigging of the market by the wholesalers and retailers, owing to the Jewish holidays."

"The receipts this week," Mr. O'Malley's statement continued, "will foot up close to 500,000,000 pounds, while in the next two weeks the amount of live poultry brought forward here to supply Jewish housewives will exceed 10,000,000 pounds.

"The retail kosher butchers are perhaps the most unfair class of dealers in New York. Indeed few, or any of them, know that the war is over, nor do they want to find out. Today with a wholesale market on live fowls at 25 cents, the large distributing markets that supply these retail kosher butchers are working on a margin of profit from one to three cents a pound, or at present from 26 to 29 cents, and these retail butchers should not charge the consumers more than 34 to 35 cents for fancy fricassee fowls, and that indeed would be a very generous profit, but instead these dealers are charging housewives from 40 cents to 45 cents for good fricassee fowls and are only lowering the price on very thin birds to 36 cents and 38 cents. This means that the Jewish consumers in New York this week will pay more than $500,000 for fricassee chickens in excess of a fair profit, and the next three weeks, during the Jewish holidays, these dealers will exploit the consumers for at least a million and a half dollars in excess of a fair and full profit, for the risks they assume and the service that they render in retailing this poultry, as most of the Jewish housewives carry home their own purchases.

"With the wholesale price of 25 cents by the carload on fancy fowls, these retail dealers do not pay more than 27 cents to 28 cents and could well afford to sell to the consumers at from 32 cents to 35 cents, and even the latter price savors of extortion as these kosher dealers do not lose in weight, they simply place the slaughtered birds in a paper bag and hand it to the customer.

"Another kind of poultry, Long Island Spring Ducklings, is coming here at the rate of at least eight to ten thousand every week and for the coming holidays not less than fifty thousand of these Long Island Spring Ducklings, weighing between 4½ to 5 lbs. each, will be brought to this market. These ducklings are wholesaling at 35 cents, and a retail price of 42 cents to 45 cents would admit of a handsome profit, but these unfair retail dealers are charging from 55 cents to 60 cents a pound for these ducklings, and in some instances as much as 65 cents to 70 cents per pounds has been charged."

SAYS NATURALIZATION PROCESS IS FAULTY

The inadequacies of naturalization facilities and some of the unnecessary steps in the process of naturalization were dwelt upon yesterday by Merton E. Sturges, Chief Examiner of the Naturalization Bureau of the Department of Labor, who spoke at a meeting of agencies engaged in educational work among Jewish immigrants held at the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society, 425 Lafayette Street.

The first difficulty that confronts the would-be American, he said, was that of obtaining a certificate of arrival. "This, to my mind," he said, "is an absolutely unnecessary step in the process of naturalization. It does not amount to anything. It also costs the Federal Government in the neighborhood of $100,000 a year, considering the number of clerks at the various ports of entry who devote all their time to looking up the records. The next difficulty the alien must face is to get his certificate of naturalization filed. The final hearing in court is another order that Mr. Sturges said should be revised. Investigations as to eligibility to citizenship have already been made, he said, but the law requires that the applicants must go to court and be examined again by a Judge.

"I would amend the law," he continued, "to eliminate the appearance of witnesses in court, except in cases where there may be some question as to the competency of the applicant or whether he should be admitted to citizenship. This would mean out of about five or ten cases out of 100 where witnesses would be required to appear in court. Instead of doing it haphazardly, as it is now done, I would suggest that a list be presented to the court containing the names of cases which have been investigated. I would have the names called by the Clerk of the court. I would have them come forward by nationality, say, all subjects of Russia would come forward first, take the oath of allegiance in a dignified way. I would have certificates of naturalization prepared in advance, so that when an applicant is admitted to citizenship, the application would be given to him right there. Then would have the Judge of the court deliver to these citizens a good, sound talk on citizenship. I would also have, perhaps, a prominent citizen present extending to him the hand of a brother citizen. In this way we would make a group of citizens who would be in sympathy with the Government of the United States."

FOR COMMERCIAL FLYING.

Gathering at Detroit in September Will Plan Its Development.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, March 29.—Plans for a national association to develop commercial aviation will be discussed at Detroit in September, officers of the Seventh Army Corps Air Conference announced today at its closing session here. City and State officials, representatives of civic and commercial organizations and all persons interested in aviation, including army and navy officers in charge of air services, will be invited. The meeting will endeavor to formulate a code of standard practice for co-operative work and outline ways to utilize the commercial possibilities of heavier than air craft. Chambers of commerce and similar bodies will be urged to establish committees of aeronautics, and organizations will be set up to advocate landing fields in cities and towns along the principal air highways. Routes and schedules will be considered and plans devised for turning commercial equipment to military use in emergency. Admiral W. F. Fullam, head of the navy air forces, said the army and navy should support the movement.

THIS IS FOR MEN OR WOMEN WHO WANT TO MAKE MONEY BY SMALL, HIGHLY PROFITABLE INVESTMENT IN A BUSINESS WHICH

MADE MONEY Last year; sales this year to date more than double average quarterly sales of last year and growing rapidly enough to indicate that this year's sales will be five to six times as great as last year's.

MANUFACTURERS Simple, trade-marked necessity, sold in every department store in Greater New York; handled by large distributers in New York, Philadelphia and other large cities in carload quantities. A comparatively young, well built, successful business.

IS DIRECTED By successful New York business men. In good credit standing commercially and financially. Will make enough money this year to pay dividend on preferred stock and make large earnings for common stock. This is a matter which should double up in value many, many times for those who get part of the present small capitalisation.

REQUIRES A small amount of additional money to take care of its rapidly growing volume of highly profitable sales.

INVITES Individuals who, after becoming satisfied in every way, could and would invest $240 or more, to answer this advertisement. This is not a time payment offer, but requires cash in full or something which can be turned into cash. This will not be attractive to people who seek employment in connection with an investment. This will not appeal to security salesmen or brokers.

Attention will be given only to answers which tell definitely and openly where, and preferably when, actually interested party can be seen. "It stands over in that corner"

—replied Theodore N. Vail

A YOUNG man sat talking with Mr. Vail, President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., one morning, shortly before his death.

"I wish," said Mr. Vail, leaning across his broad desk, "I wish I were a young man again. I can see more big possibilities awaiting development than have been developed in the past. . . . But there is one big new factor to reckon with."

"What is that?" asked his caller.

"It stands over in that corner," replied Mr. Vail, pointing to a huge globe, with its familiar continents and island-dotted oceans. "We Americans have now to get acquainted with the world. Whether we will or not, at last we must get an understanding of our relation to the peoples and problems across the water."

And then he talked of Europe and of South America with the easy familiarity that another might talk of Ohio or New Jersey, stating fundamentals of commerce and economics as one dealing, not in world conceptions but in neighborhood conditions and facts. The world ceased to seem so big and vague and complex under the touch of his understanding.

In order to gain that easy familiarity with world conditions and the trend of affairs in America as well as overseas, get acquainted with the pages of Our World.

It is a new magazine to meet the new need to which Mr. Vail referred.

When you pick up the first issue of Our World, you will be impressed at once by two things: the intensely human and interesting character of its presentations, and the fact that you are being led behind the scenes in things of world importance.

As you lose yourself in its pages you will find yourself saying repeatedly, "Well, for the first time I understand that."

Hilaire Belloc, Vernon Kellogg, Alfred Zimmern, Arthur Bullard, and others give the picture of conditions in many dramatic articles, with scores of illustrations and maps.

The International Town Meeting
Edward G. Lowry describes the Washington Conference as a Town Meeting where for the first time International diplomacy became a public function and it was proven that meetings between nations can be as frank and open as a session of a Chamber of Commerce.

The Emperor Is Gone
The fierce passion for independence in the newly created Balkan nations, where these "little strangers of Europe" are laboring with long pent-up zeal to forge their own institutions and traditions of government, is graphically told by Dr. Alfred E. Zimmern.

Swiss Cows Join the Unemployed
Prosperous Switzerland is facing an economic crisis because her neighbors are impoverished. Even Swiss cows are out of work—there is no market for their produce, so says Louis Schulthess.

The Worm Turns

Scholar—Diplomat—Pope

A Year's Salary for a Pair of Shoes
The story not of the tragedy of millions but of a million human tragedies. Of Austria, where an income which would formerly support a family of five, now buys a fairly good pair of shoes. Of Vienna, where men of great learning, teachers of the world's teachers, may be found dining in a charitably endowed mess room—which is not unlike a Bowery soup kitchen—by Vernon Kellogg.

My Father Told Me
The English, French or German school boy finds no reference to the World War in his class-room, for the war has not yet been officially interpreted. He must rely upon what father tells him—by William G. Shepherd.

The Master Re-builders of Europe
Pen and Camera studies of the men who are reconstructing Europe.

Riding in the crowded car, going along the dusty street, sitting in the stuffy office, theatre or school, you are bound to inhale the germs of disease. These germs lodge in the soft tissues of the mouth and throat and if unchecked, may develop into a dangerous ailment.

Formamint, the germ-fighting throat tablet, can be conveniently used at any time or in any place you may be. At the first sign of a sore throat, or when you are exposed to germs, take a tablet and let it dissolve slowly in your mouth. Can be beneficially taken every half hour until throat is relieved.

Formamint mixes its powerful, pleasant tasting antiseptic with the saliva, bathing the infected membranes continuously; combats the germs and keeps them at a safe minimum.

The tablets are so convenient to carry with you, that they can be used unnoticeably wherever you may be. Buy a package from your druggist today, and be prepared to ward off sore throats, tonsillitis and influenza. Men find them very helpful in easing "smokers' sore throat."

Recommended by thousands of physicians, dentists and druggists.

SCHAEFER RETAINS HIS BILLIARD TITLE

FINAL BLOCK 500 TO 516

FAN'S SHOUT DISTURBS HIM

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Jake Schaefer retained the world's 18.2 balkline billiard championship in his match with Willie Hoppe, challenger, at Orchestra Hall here tonight. Schaefer won by 1500 to 1468. Thirty-one innings were necessary for the Chicago player to accumulate the 1500 points for a grand average of 48 12-31.

Hoppe's grand average in the three-day contest, the first 500-point block of which was played Monday night, was 48 14-30.

Neither of the contestants in the final night played up to the standard of the first two evenings. Too much was at stake and they were nervous. So close was the struggle that either man might have won at any time during the last few innings.

Schaefer's best run of the tourney was 252, made Monday night. His best performance tonight was 213. He took fifteen turns at the table tonight, one less than the total number of innings needed to complete 1,000 points in the first two evenings' play. The score of tonight's block was: Schaefer, 500; Hoppe, 516.

Hoppe's best run of the three-day grind was 280, also made Monday night. His best mark tonight was 111.

The match tonight was a seesaw affair. Schaefer opened with 1,000 and 500 to go. Hoppe started from 952. Thus, Hoppe counted 516 billiards tonight while Schaefer ran out 500, but he could not quite summon the control to overcome his handicap.

An Unfortunate Incident.

One unfortunate incident tonight may have been fatal to Hoppe's chances. He was making his last run and had 32 points to go to win, when a citizen in the gallery called out, "Hit it." At the time, Hoppe was jockeying for a shot and the disturbance is believed to have been the main reason for his miss. As it was, Hoppe's failure gave Schaefer a chance to run out the ten points which he needed to clinch the title.

Schaefer made a run of 213 in the twenty-seventh inning and overcame a lead which Hoppe had attained earlier while Jake was industriously missing during three straight innings. Scores of 29 and 3 for Schaefer followed and, after both these small runs, Hoppe was near enough to the striking point to go out. Two thousand fans during those tense innings sat on the edges of their chairs and held their breath. Women in the boxes almost wept with nervousness and men who had heavy bets laid on the outcome writhed uneasily and beads of perspiration stood on their brows.

The match from a dramatic standpoint was all that the most eager fan could have desired. Hundreds surged about the doors of Orchestra Hall, long before opening time and many had to be turned away. Fandom at the three-day match represented every section of the country.

At the time of the international tournament here last November many fans maintained that Schaefer's victory was the result of luck. At that time he defeated Hoppe in successive matches of 400 and 500 points. Now, however, Schaefer has established his superiority in 500-point blocks for two straight nights and held his lead the third time.

The victory of Schaefer tonight for a time will mark the passing of Hoppe from the field of championship contenders. Welker Cochran, third in the standing at the international tournament, is Schaefer's next challenger, and arrangements are being made for a match between the two inside the next thirty days. Hoppe's miscue and the fan in the gallery were unfortunate occurrences, but sch are the stumbling blocks in the rocky road to a championship. Hoppe, gratulate Schaefer.

The match from the beginning had been a social as well as a sporting function, but the last block of play brought out double the contingent from the evening dress crowd. Wives of the rival players occupied boxes on opposite sides of the hall, and there were many other women present in evening dress.

Schaefer started the evening's play with a perfect set-up. He finished the second block last night at the 1,000-point mark with the three balls assembled near the lower rail and ran 59 points from that position. When he did miss it was on an easy draw, and Hoppe started his run with the balls assembled. On his fifth tally Hoppe shot the red ball to the other end of the table, but the stroke was not strong enough to return it, with the result that he missed on his sixth by tapping on the outside portion of an inch off direction.

Schaefer's opening inning was a continuation of the unfinished run of 58 of the second night's play. It was the seventeenth frame of the three-day marathon, and the 59 points, in addition to the 58 the night before, gave him a big edge over the former titleholder.

Poor Start for Hoppe.

Hoppe started his evening's play from the 952 point and his six points did not add much to his laurels. Schaefer, playing with a steadier stroke than at any previous time during the contest, ran 107 in his eighteenth frame, while Hoppe scored only three times in that inning. That gave the champion an advantage of 205 points, with only 234 to go. In other words, at that juncture, he had to shoot only half as well as Hoppe to attain his honors.

The nineteenth inning was bad for both players, Schaefer counting two and Hoppe one point.

The next few innings progressed with Schaefer uppermost. Schaefer's runs were 27, 20, 29, 4 and 0. Hoppe made 56, 40, 0, 53 and 0. The score was then 1,245 to 1,069 in Schaefer's favor.

Hoppe started his twenty-fifth inning 72 points in arrears, but got the ivories bunched in a few shots and by use of the nurse ran past the hundred mark. The crowd gave him a tremendous ovation as he tied the score. He ran 111 points before missing a two-cushion cross-table shot and the counting gave the former champion a lead of 29 points.

Both missed in the twenty-sixth, but Hoppe increased his lead 65 more points in his half of the twenty-seventh. Schaefer had three straight ciphers. Willie's shooting in the twenty-seventh was broken when he had the object balls near the upper rail and failed to draw from the cushion to make the point. The ball missed by a hair's breadth.

At the end of the twenty-seventh inning Hoppe was in the lead with the score standing 1,323 to 1,245 in his favor. Schaefer ran 213 in his twenty-eighth inning, making his total 1,458, while Hoppe started to count from 1,328 after Jake had failed on a difficult three-cushion shot.

Schaefer ran 29 in the twenty-ninth inning, leaving him 13 points to go to clinch the title. Hoppe started his twenty-ninth inning at 1,412, with 88 to go.

Hoppe had several difficult shots in his twenty-ninth and made an extremely hard one across the table for his forty-third point. He followed with a miss on an easy shot, making his total 1,455.

Schaefer fell down after making three in the thirtieth. This made his total 1,490. Schaefer then ran out.

Hoppe ran 13 in the thirtieth inning. He was jockeying for a play when a fan in the gallery called "hit it," and he missed the shot. His total was 1,468.

The score by innings:

Schaefer—59 10 2 22 20 3 28 4 0 0 0 213 29 3 10—Total, 500; high run, 213; average, 33 5-13; grand total, 1,500; highest run, 252; grand average, 48 12-31.

Hoppe—6 3 1 58 69 0 83 4 111 0 44 84 42 18—Total, 516; high run, 111; average, 33 12-14; grand total, 1,468; highest run, 260; grand average, 48 29-30.

Copyright, 1922, by Chicago Tribune Co.

PARIS, March 29.—Pershing Stadium, near the Bois de Vincennes, was officially chosen by the Municipal Council this evening for the 1924 Olympiad. The authorities voted to appropriate the necessary funds to reconstruct the grandstands, lay out the athletic field and to make the necessary improvements to handle the crowds.

The experts declare the grandstands must be entirely rebuilt, as they have received no care since 1919, when American doughboys, working night and day, put them up in ten days. It is stated that some sections have fallen to pieces. The stadium was erected with funds provided by the American Y. M. C. A. for the big interallied sports carnival held in the Summer of 1919, when the United States Army acted as host to athletes from all the allied armies. After the games the stadium was presented to the French nation by the Y. M. C. A.

DATES ANNOUNCED FOR WOMEN GOLFERS

Metropolitan Association Arranges Program for First Half of Season.

Two championships, one the Metropolitan and the other the Eastern, three team matches and twelve one-day tournaments are on the program of events announced yesterday for the members of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association for the first half of the coming season. The women's competitive season will open on April 28, when a one-day tournament will be played at the Cherry Valley Golf Club at Garden City and from that time until the one-day event at the Soundview Country Club on July 7, the fair devotees of the old Scottish pastime will be kept busy in many competitions to be held on Long Island, New Jersey and Westchester courses.

Taking a lesson from last year when the trophy presented by Golf Illustrated to go to the district winning the team championship went begging because the competition was not started until late in the Fall, the Tournament Committee has advanced the three matches to the foreground of the season. The first of these will be played at the Greenwich Country Club on May 8 and the competing teams will be Westchester and New Jersey. Two days later, at the Morris County Golf Club, the New Jersey team will meet the Long Island team, while on May 12, Long Island and Westchester will be the rivals in a match to be played at Piping Rock in connection with a one-day tournament to be held at the same time.

The metropolitan championship will be played at Morris County on May 22-26. At the present time it is not known whether Mrs. W. A. Gavin, winner in the tournament played at Nassau last year, will return in time to defend her title, nor whether Miss Georgianna Bishop, runner-up, will have recovered sufficiently from an injury suffered during the Winter to enable her to play.

Miss Marion Hollins, the winner of the American women's title at the Hollywood championship last Fall, is sure to compete in the metropolitan, and it would not be surprising if Miss Alexa Stirling, the former American champion, who has taken up her residence in the city, should enter.

The Eastern championship and the Intercity Griscum Cup competition will be played on June 5 to 10, with the site not yet selected.

April 28, Cherry Valley Golf Club.
May 2, Scarsdale Golf and Country Club; 5, Siwanoy Country Club; 8, team match, Greenwich Country Club, Westchester vs. New Jersey; 9, Inwood Country Club; 10, team match, Morris County, New Jersey vs. Long Island; 12, team match, Piping Rock, Long Island vs. Westchester; one day tournament; 16, Country Club of Glen Ridge; 22 to 26, Women's Metropolitan Golf Association championship.
June 2, Arcola Country Club; 5 to 10, Eastern championship and inter-city team matches, 13, Greenwich Country Club; 16, Apawamis Golf Club; 28 to July 1, Invitation tournament at Buffalo Country Club; 27, Essex County Country Club; 28, Hasken sack Golf Club; 30, Engineers' Country Club.
July 7, Soundview Country Club.

BARNES AND AYTON LOSE.

Are Beaten by Hutchison and Kerrigan at Pinehurst by 2 Up.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 29.—Jock Hutchison and Jim Barnes today played on opposite sides in a four-ball match staged on the championship course in which Hutchison and Tom Kerrigan won by 2 up against Barnes and Laurie Ayton. Hutchison and Kerrigan had individual rounds of 72 each and a best ball of 33—68—66.

Joe Kirkwood and Gene Sarazen were defeated on the No. 3 course by Pat O'Hara and Cyril Walker by 7 up and 6.

PLAY FOR OTIS BENEFIT.

De Oro and Cutler Are Cue Victors at Rational Recreation.

Alfredo de Oro and Albert G. Cutler were the winners last night in the exhibition games at the Rational Recreation Billiard Academy, Brooklyn, for the benefit of the family of the late Charles Otis.

De Oro, at three cushions, defeated Pedro Cerda by the score of 30 to 29. At 18.2 balkline Cutler beat Francis Appleby by the score of 200 to 49.

TOWBIS BILLIARD VICTOR.

Defeats Cohen in Interstate Pocket Billiard Tournament.

The winner in last night's game in the continuation of the interstate amateur pocket billiard championship tournament at Cranfield's Academy, H. Towbis, defeated H. Cohen, 100 to 83. Towbis had a high run of 14. Cohen's best run was 13.

Ira Brussel Defeats Hanf.

In the tournament for the metropolitan amateur three-cushion billiard championship Ira Brussel defeated Charles Hanf last night at the Broadway Academy, Eighty-third Street and Broadway, by the score of 50 to 16 in forty-three innings. The highest run was 6, made by the winner.

Dr. Clark Takes Cue Prize.

Playing in the weekly rapid-fire three-cushion billiard tournament at the Strand Billiard Academy last night, Dr. Clark won first prize, J. F. Crystal took the second award and third went to Elmer Lewis.

MISS COLLETT WINS NORTH-SOUTH TITLE

PINEHURST, N. C., March 29.—Playing the best long game ever displayed by a woman golfer at Pinehurst, and offsetting occasional lapses on the greens by uncanny recoveries from difficult situations, Miss Glenna Collett of Providence won the women's North and South championship today by defeating Mrs. M. Johnson Scammell of Uniontown, Pa., in the final round of the tournament staged on the number two or championship course. Miss Collett covered the course in 41—42—83, and won the match by 4 up and 2 to play. Mrs. Scammel's medal round was 43—46—89.

The major consolation trophy went to Miss Harriet Shepard of Hartford, who won by one up against Mrs. John D. Chapman of Greenwich at the end of a game, uphill battle in which the Hartford girl was never in the lead until she won the eighteenth hole and the match.

Mrs. Scammell, who is a member of the Oakmont Country Club and a sister of W. C. Fownes Jr., former national champion, played a strong game against Miss Collett. After each had wasted her opening drive into a bunker Mrs. Scammel drew the first round of applause by a great out which led to an easy par 5 and the winning of the hole.

Miss Collett Takes Lead.

Starting with the second hole, it was Miss Collett who held the centre of the stage. She took every hole up to the sixth, playing the five holes in a stroke under the par total and registering two brilliant birdies. She won the second and third holes with a perfectly played par 4 on each and brought down the gallery by holing a sixty-foot recovery shot from the depths of a trap for a birdie 3 on the 325-yard fourth hole. Her second birdie occurred at the fifth, a par 5 hole. Miss Collett's fifth successive victory, on the short sixth, was due to a recovery to the green after both players had trapped their drives.

Miss Collett and Mrs. Scammell halved the long seventh in inglorious 7's. Traps yawned successfully for the drives of both on the eighth, but both recovered to the green. Miss Collett required two more to go down and Mrs. Scammell, who came out to within six feet of the pin, holed her putt for a winning 6.

Driving for the ninth, Miss Collett hooked her drive and eventually took a 5, the hole going to Mrs. Scammell, who handled it in a well-played 3. Victories on the eighth and ninth reduced Mrs. Scammell's disadvantage at the turn to 2 down and a third triumph, on the tenth, where Miss Collett trapped her drive and took 3 to get out of the bunker, left the Oakmont golfer for the moment, only one hole to the bad.

Two perfect shots for Miss Collett brought her onto the eleventh, over 400 yards away from the tee, and she won the hole in 4 to 5. Driving for the twelfth, the Providence girl sliced into the rough but played a fine out to the immediate vicinity of the green on this 416-yard hole and registered another winning par 4, which left her 3 up.

Both players got into traps on their way to the thirteenth and they halved it in 5. A perfectly played par 5 for Mrs. Scammell was good for the fourteenth hole. Miss Collett was comfortably on in 3, but took three puts. Going to the fifteenth, with Miss Collett 2 up, Mrs. Scammell drove into a trap, recovered to the green, took three putts and lost the hole to Miss Collett's 4.

The Providence player was then 3 up and dormie, and the end came at the next hole, the 424-yard sixteenth, where Miss Collett reached the green with the second of two perfect shots and went down in 4 while Mrs. Scammell, who had half topped her third shot into a bunker, required six.

The cards:

Out—
Miss Collett	6	4	4	3	4	4	7	4	5	—41
Mrs. Scammell	5	6	5	4	5	5	7	3	5	—43
In—
Miss Collett	7	4	4	5	6	4	4	3	5	—42—83
Mrs. Scammell	5	6	5	5	5	5	6	3	6	—46—89

Miss Shepard Wins Consolation.

In the final match for the Consolation Trophy, Mrs. Chapman started out against Miss Shepard with a birdie 4 on the first hole and was 1 up at the turn, where she arrived in 46 despite a 7 on the long seventh and another 7 on the par 3 eighth hole. Miss Shepard, who also had a 7 in her total of 47 for the first nine holes, overtook her opponent on the thirteenth green and, after halving the next four holes, won the eighteenth and the match with a well-played 5.

The cards:

Out—Miss Shepard	5	5	5	5	5	5	7	6	4—47
Mrs. Chapman	4	5	6	4	5	4	7	7	4—46
In—Miss Shepard	6	6	5	5	6	4	5	4	4—45—92
Mrs. Chapman	5	5	6	5	6	4	5	4	6—46—94

TIGER CREWS WORK HARD.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 29.—Princeton's two varsity crews, the Orange and the Black, favored by perfect weather conditions, went through one of the longest drills of the season this afternoon under the guidance of Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth, coach of the Tiger oarsmen. Dr. Spaeth is still stressing the fundamentals and consequently emphasized blade work rather than speed, making up for the lack of the latter by an extra long distance workout.

The Orange eight, stroked on the port side by Captain Sid Milne, showed excellent form for early season. The Black crew has been considerably shaken up with many transfers from the old third boat. The most important switch involved a change at stroke between Wright and Pirie.

Black Varsity—Bow, McClenahan; 2, Moser; 3, Marburg; 4, Cresswell; 5, Newlin; 6, Burke; 7, Chisholm; stroke, Pirie; coxswain, Gardner.

CORNELL "C'S" AWARDED.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 29.—The Cornell Athletic Council has awarded twenty "C's" to members of the varsity basketball, wrestling and hockey teams. The wrestling letters were in honor of the winning of the intercollegiate championship.

Four track letters were also awarded on the recommendation of Coach Moakley.

The awards follow:

Track—H. D. Tobey, R. Stevens 2d, A. A. Deppe, E. B. Kirby.

Basketball—C. S. Barkelew, E. H. Cornish, S. H. Downs, J. Pope, J. H. Porter, W. F. Rippe, T. B. Crabtree, J. H. Luther, C. H. Capwell.

Wrestling—R. S. Ackerly, E. V. Strack, L. C. Hanson, H. A. Rogers, W. J. Wigston, W. D. Wright, H. A. Yaw.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 29.—Fred T. Dawson, head football coach and acting director since the resignation of Fred W. Luehring, has been appointed director of athletics at the University of Nebraska, Chancellor Samuel Avery announced today. Dawson came here from the Princeton coaching staff. He will assume the positions of dean of men, general athletic director and head football coach.

COACH ROPER PLANS DRASTIC MEASURES

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 29.—In an effort to prevent the loss of football players because of ineligibility resulting from scholastic failures, Bill Roper, head coach of the Princeton eleven, is planning to dismiss from the squad for a week any man who misses a single class without a plausible excuse during the entire season next Fall.

During the past two years the Tiger squad has been literally cut to pieces by failure of the men to meet the scholastic requirements, six or seven of the most promising athletes dropping out each year. Roper is prepared to take stringent measures to remind the men that they are here primarily for studies.

Roper has also asked that there be no prom on the night before the Yale game, as is the usual custom, because of the disturbance caused.

The most serious problem in regard to Princeton athletics today is: How we are to keep our athletes eligible," he said recently. "The undergraduate body is fully aware of the serious number of ineligibles due to low scholastic standing in the university at present.

"The tendency seems to be for this number to increase rather than to diminish under the system of accumulative conditions. The management will keep a record of all cuts, both preceptorial, and other otherwise, taken during the next football season by members of the varsity squad. Any man who takes a single unexcused cut will be dropped from the training table for one week and not permitted to represent the university in any game during this time.

To Ask Student Assistance.

"Football makes exacting demands on the players' vitality and energy. Preceptors will therefore be asked to give special attention and assistance to football men during the season. Undergraduates of high scholastic standing also will be asked to help players in their classes wherever possible. By these measures we hope to pull up the standing of the football men.

"The noise and excitement of a prom the night before a big game is a distinct handicap to the team. New sleeping quarters have to be found and the regular routine is upset. The Prom Committee will be asked, if a dance in the Fall is indispensable, to arrange another date."

In commenting editorially upon the radical step, The Daily Princetonian this morning urged that all undergraduates with high scholastic standing offer their services to help the players with their studies and to keep a general watch over them.

"Mr. Roper's disciplinary measure goes far toward making football compatible with eligibility," says The Princetonian. "We are sure that the Faculty's attitude will meet him half way and will continue to. Most Princeton instructors always have recognized and always will recognize earnest effort, and they will give of their time and interest to supplement it.

Cannot Afford Losses.

"But his further suggestion interests us more, that students of high standing shall coach and assist their athletic companions who falter by the educational roadside. From the very size of our student body we have not such a wealth of material that we can afford to lose valuable players through scholastic shortcomings. Concentration of talent, bringing all forces into play, will result in fewer ineligibilities. But, more than this, it will materially stimulate Princeton's historic spirit of fellowship and mutual endeavor.

"We strongly urge that all Phi Beta Kappa men and others of high standing ask the football management to assign them for supervision and assistance members of the first squad that are back in their studies. Let them pick their men and be to some extent responsible for their standing. This arrangement should be made immediately for the benefit of the numerous men who must cross thin ice for eligibility next Fall."

FOOTBALL REQUIRES JUST COMMON SENSE

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 29.—Tad Jones, Yale's football head coach, said in the Yale Daily News today that football requires no highbrow legislation and that if such is really required the game should be abolished as a menace to the youth of America. He recommends the application of common sense to the situation. He said:

"I am heartily in sympathy with any movement which has as its object the correction of certain tendencies (I am not willing to admit the so-called evils) in the development of the modern game of football.

"Most of us are interested in seeing that football retains both its complexion as a game and the amateur standards upon which it has been built. What the situation requires is the application of some common sense and no highbrow legislation. If the game does require such legislation, then it would suggest that the game be abolished entirely as a menace to the youth of the country.

"It is interesting, and it seems to me significant to note here that of all sports the senior class voted football the favorite to watch, and of the major sports, the favorite to play. This may be an argument in favor of retaining the present game, or it might be an indication of the spirit of the times which leads President Meiklejohn to the conclusion that there is work to do in the way of civilising our country, a point which had better be left without comment by one of the heathen.

"In my opinion there is little reason for eliminating practice prior to the opening of college and the consequent shortening of the schedule. There is more to be said in the way of eliminating all Winter and Spring practice and games before college opens, and I should be in favor of such a step. Three weeks, or the greater part thereof, are required to properly condition an eleven for its first game, and I would suggest that an arbitrary date be set for organized practice which would allow proper time for conditioning a team for its first game. No one connected with a university is more interested in the moral, mental and physical welfare of the men than the coaches of the football team, and I am inclined to the belief that the time put into the training period before college opens is, to say the least, well spent.

"Intersectional games resulting in so-called championships, with resultant publicity, can easily become a menace to the game. It appears to me that this is a matter of university policy to be determined by the respective universities.

"The question of a central committee on eligibility requires no comment. Any plan to safeguard the amateur standing of the participants in all branches of athletics has my whole-hearted support.

"There is nothing to be gained by forcing coaches to sit in the stands. Substitutions will always be necessary. The trainer decides whether a player should continue in the game. If in his judgment it becomes necessary to remove a player, it then becomes the duty of the coach to make that substitution which seems best. A coach should not be relieved of this responsibility. The present change in the rules affecting substitutions will correct to a large extent the use of players as pawns, and will leave the actual playing of the game almost entirely in the hands of the players. This is the real result to be desired.

"I have already stated my position with regard to transfers. I cannot go too far in safeguarding the game itself. Organized scouting is not quite as formidable as it sounds. Possibly it has been somewhat overdone. The scouting, however, has been honest and entirely in the open. Harvard, Princeton and Yale should have no difficulty in arriving at a clear understanding on this point."

Vincent Kelly Will Hike, Fight and Run in Marathon

BOSTON, March 29.—A hike from Fort Pierce, Fla., to Boston; a fight for the national amateur boxing championship at 135 pounds, and a run of twenty-five miles for honors in the American Marathon road race, form the strenuous program that Vincent Kelly has set for himself. He notified Athletic Manager Thomas Kanaly of the Boston A. A. today that he was beginning his long hike from Florida; that he hoped to be here in time to compete in the boxing championships which begin April 17, and that he would surely be here for the Marathon on April 19. Kelly formerly lived at Natick, which is five miles from the start of the race at Ashland.

REGULARS CARRY YACHTING ELECTION

The ticket prepared by the Nominating Committee of the Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound won out in the annual election of the association, held last night at the Harvard Club in this city. An opposition slate on the three offices below that of President had been placed in the field, but, after a long session, the majority of the delegates from the sixteen yacht clubs present voted for the regular ticket. The opposition, however, succeeded in obtaining the addition of one yachtsman to the Executive Committee, thus bringing that committee up to its customary quota of four. The original slate had reduced the number to three.

The officers elected were: President, George Nichols, Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club; Vice President, Charles A. Marsland, New Rochelle Yacht Club; Secretary, James D. Sparkman, Larchmont Yacht Club; Treasurer, Donald Cowl, Manhasset Bay Yacht Club; Executive Committee, Adrian Iselin 2d, Port Washington Yacht Club; Phillip R. Mallory, American Yacht Club; Clifford D. Mallory, Indian Harbor Yacht Club, and Charles Lee Andrews, Knickerbocker Yacht Club. Andrews was the added member.

The championships of the Yacht Racing Association for the season of 1921 were announced by the secretary. The New York Yacht Club 30-foot sloop, owned by F. L. Richards, not only won the title in her class, but led in the fleet with a percentage of 97.7. The other winners were: Victory class, Alarik, owned by Robert R. Martin; star class, Saturn, the property of G. W. Elder Jr.; U class, Mingo, the property of H. T. Hornidge; In the Sound schooner class, Allure, owned by J. S. Appleby, and the same owner's Opal, in the jewel class. The association does not award championships above the 30-foot class.

The regatta schedule for the coming season follows:

June 3, Knickerbocker Yacht Club; 10, Manhasset Bay Yacht Club; 17, Larchmont Yacht Club; 24, Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club.
July 1, Indian Harbor Yacht Club; 3, American Yacht Club; 4, Larchmont Yacht Club; 8, Knickerbocker Yacht Club; 15, Larchmont Yacht Club; 18, Port Washington Yacht Club; 22, Larchmont Yacht Club; 29, Stamford Yacht Club.
Aug. 5, Orient Yacht Club; 12, Huguenot Yacht Club; 19, New York Athletic Club; 26, New Rochelle Yacht Club.
Sept. 2, Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club; 4, Larchmont Yacht Club; 9, Indian Harbor Yacht Club; 16, Manhasset Bay Yacht Club; 23, Hempstead Harbor Yacht Club.

LACROSSE PLAYERS HERE FROM ENGLAND

Oxford-Cambridge Team Arrives for Tour of This Country and Canada.

The Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team, composed largely of veterans of the World War, arrived here yesterday morning on the Olympic for a tour of the East. The visitors will meet the leading American exponents of the game as well as two Canadian universities.

Representatives of the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse League, Syracuse University and the Crescent Athletic Club, were at the pier to meet the visiting players, who held their first workout on the C. A. C. grounds yesterday. Last night they were the guests of the Brooklyn organization at a dinner which was attended by representatives of the various organizations responsible for the trip of the British players. Attending were several of the Crescent players, who made the trip to England twenty-five years ago.

One of the players on the combined team is an American, F. V. Morley, a former Johns Hopkins player, who is attending Oxford University as a Rhodes scholar.

Besides Morley, Oxford, winner of the English championship this year, is represented by ten players. They are H. O. Hopkins of Australia, who is captain of the team; F. L. Nevlan of Canada, manager; Sherwood Lett, L. B. Pierson, J. H. Mennie, C. B. Clark, Lord V. C. Wanebrough, W. H. Coates, J. R. Fleming and M. W. Gallop. The Cambridge players are S. L. Switzer of Canada, D. M. Currie of Scotland and W. H. Mee and C. C. Bennett of England.

The team will continue practice at the Crescent Club in order to get into condition for its first game, which will be with the American college champions, Lehigh University, on Saturday.

In order to add lacrosse to the schedule of international competitions, plans are now under way for the awarding of a trophy, representative of the intercollegiate championship of the world, to the team having the best combined score. In the event of the British team winning this cup, efforts will be made next year to assemble an American team to go to England to play for the title.

The visitors' schedule follows:

April 1, Lehigh; 4, Penn State; 7, University of Pennsylvania; 8, Johns Hopkins; 11, Mount Washington Country Club of Baltimore; 12, Yale; 15, Hobart; 17, University of Toronto; 21, Colgate; 22, Syracuse; 25, Harvard; 26, Stevens Institute; 27, Princeton; 29, Crescent Athletic Club; May 1, McGill University at Montreal.

BOXING SHOWS REGULATED.

State Body Requires That Program Begin With Four-Round Bout.

At its meeting yesterday the State Athletic Commission passed new regulations governing the conduct of boxing shows by athletic clubs. The new rule, which will go into effect on April 15, provides that in arranging programs clubs must open their exhibitions with four-round contests, which are to be followed by six-rounders. The constitution of the remainder of the program was left to the discretion of the clubs. It was also provided that the main event must be started not later than 10 P. M. Major Charles J. Dieges was appointed a member of the Advisory Board, which is to supervise boxing and wrestling in the various armories throughout the State.

MAN O'WAR HAS ANNIVERSARY

Special to The New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 29.—Today marked the fifth anniversary of Man o' War, the super-horse which as a three-year-old was the racing marvel of the American continent. The great racer was raised after his victory over Sir Barton by seven lengths in their memorable contest for a $75,000 purse on Oct. 12, 1920, over a distance of a mile and a quarter at the Kenilworth track, Windsor, Ontario. Man o' War is now at the Daingerfield Stud. He was foaled at August Belmont's Nursery Stud here, where his sire, Fair Play, and his dam, Mahubah, are kept.

CHICAGO SWIMMERS SET WORLD'S MARKS

I. A. C. Relay Team Breaks 400, 500 and 600 Yard Records in National A. A. U. Meet.

WEISSMULLER IS STAR

Led by the youthful speed merchant, Johnny Weissmuller, whose record-breaking achievements during the past year have placed him in a class by himself as one of the outstanding swimmers of all time, the Illinois Athletic Club team last night established three new world's swimming marks.

Competing against the New York Athletic Club and the Central Y. M. C. A. of Brooklyn in the national A. A. U. championship 400-yard relay event at the N. Y. A. C. pool, the tri-color swimmers negotiated the distance in 5:39 3-5, shattering the former mark made by Yale University's great collegiate team by four and one-fifth seconds, and finishing more than twenty feet ahead of the Mercury Foot team.

Continuing after the 500-yard record and the 600-yard mark, held by the Ehmermen, the I. A. C. completed the additional hundred yards in the time of 4:41 4-5, cutting four and three-fifths seconds off the old record and completing the 600 yards in 5:39 3-5, clipping six full seconds off the former mark.

Weissmuller Outstanding Star.

Featuring the performance of the tri-color team, which was composed of a galaxy of former Olympic, intercollegiate and junior record-holders, was the work of young Weissmuller, who swam in fourth position on the Chicago team. The flying fish, who now possesses some fifteen records, six of them world's marks made during the recent season, traveled his 100 yards in 0:52 3-5, three-fifths of a second faster than the world's records for the distance, held by himself. The performance of the young Chicago prodigy was made all the more remarkable by the fact that he was forced to swim in water that was badly churned by the preceding swimmers.

Later in the evening Weissmuller, in a special match 100-yard swim against Philip Genthner, former intercollegiate champion, failed in his attempt to lower his own world mark for the distance. He won by a margin of eight feet, but his time, 0:54, was four-fifths of a second slower than his best time for the event.

The members of the I. A. C. team, the order in which they swam and their intermediate times were: Perry McGillivray, former Olympic champion, 0:58 3-5; W. L. Wallen, distance star and former Western Conference star, 0:58; H. J. Hebner, former Olympic champion, 0:56 2-5; John Weissmuller, 0:52 3-5; Davey L. Jones of Brown University, intercollegiate champion, 0:58 1-5, and Abe Siegel, junior record holder, 0:57 4-5.

Visitors Always in Front.

The Illinois A. C. swimmers made a runaway of the event, taking the lead at the first length of the tank, and the subsequent swimmers widening the gap on every relay. At the finish of the 600 yards the tri-color swimmers were a length of the tank ahead of the Mercury Foot stars and two lengths in front of the Central Y. M. C. A. team.

McGillivrary, who was the starter for the Illinois team, picked up a length on Hentheer, the lead-off man for the N. Y. A. C. Vollmer, the second Winged Foot swimmer, held Wallen on even terms, but when Hebner had completed the third lap of the relay he had opened up another yard on Fred Cann, who was the third man for the N. Y. A. C. Weissmuller, however, outdistanced G. Smith, anchor man at 400 yards on the N. Y. A. C. team, touching off twenty yards ahead of his rival. Jones, who was fifth man on the Windy City team, although making the slowest time of any of the sextet, continued to draw away from E. E. Wildfoster of the N. Y. A. C., while Siegel likewise gained ground against T. H. Neiligan, the finalist for the Winged Footers.

The exhibition of George Dahm, the Mercury Foot fancy dive star, in that event was an outstanding performance, one of the best ever witnessed in the city. Considering the fact that there were only seven dives, his point total, 112, was remarkable.

The New York Athletic Club team, with a number of substitutes in the line-up, defeated Columbia University in a water polo match, the final score being 23 to 15. At the end of the first half the collegians were trailing, 10 to 15. Russell, with two touch goals to his credit in the first half, was the star for the N. Y. A. C.

The summaries:

400-Yard Swim; Relay. National A. A. U. Championship—Won by Illinois Athletic Club (McGillvray, Wallen, Hebner, Weissmuller, Jones, Siegel); New York Athletic Club (Hentheer, Vollmer, Cann, Smith, Wildfoster, Neiligan); second, Central Y. M. C. A. of Brooklyn, third. Time—5:43 2-5.

New world's mark. Former record, 5:47 1-5, held by Yale University. The I. A. C. team continued for 500 and 600 yards, negotiating the distance in 4:41 4-5 and 5:39 3-5, respectively, both new world records. Former marks, 4:46 2-5 and 5:45 3-5, respectively, held by Yale University.)

50-Yard Swim (closed to members of the N. Y. A. C.)—Won by Thomas A. Ruddy; Stephen A. Ruddy, second; M. J. Duryea, third. Time—0:28 3-5.

Special Dive, Ten-Foot Board — Won by George Dahm, N. Y. A. C., 112 points; Joseph H. Dunn, N. Y. A. C., second, 93.9 points; John S. Davidson, N. Y. A. C., third, 81.8 points.

RUTH'S HOMER FAILS TO SAVE THE YANKS

JIM JOLLEY THE VICTIM

Special to The New York Times.

GALVESTON, Texas, March 29.—If Mr. George Ruth had not made one of his not infrequent home runs this afternoon the Yankees would not have had a run to show for an afternoon's toil against the Brooklyn Robins. As it was, the Clan Huggins plodded along for ten innings on the strength of Ruth's four-base clout, only to lose in the tenth, when the Dodgers melted a triple and a single for the run needed to win. The score was 2 to 1, and the game opened the dual series at two victories apiece.

The most unfortunate feature of the tenth-inning episode was that it came at the expense of a Galveston product, James Jolley, the Yankee's young and inexperienced pitcher. James relieved Carl Mays at the end of the sixth amid loud cheers from the populace, which had seen the big lad strike them out in the same field last season. In fact, Jolley was in a fair way to dwarfing the fame of Babe Ruth.

The score was 1 to 0 in favor of the Yankees when Jolley hove onto the scene, and the Robins tied the score immediately, not, however, through any fault of James. Baker threw wild to first and Aaron Ward tossed it right back to Frank just as erratically. The rank was a Brooklyn run and a tie score.

Sam Crane Starts Trouble.

Came the tenth inning, with Jolley still holding forth on the eminence and not losing any weight at the prospect of facing Sam Crane as the first batter. Sam the former Cincinnati Red, traditionally a week hitter, threw a monkey wrench into the works by smacking a healthy triple to left centre. Hardly had Samuel brushed off his soiled trousers before Zack Taylor lined a single to the fence in right, and Crane was over the plate with the winning run.

Babe Ruth had heard that the local population yearned to glimpse one of his home runs, and the big fellow obliged on his very first trip to the plate. The count was three and two, and Sherrod Smith was registering much indignation at Umpire Nallin's failure to see what he considered a third strike. On the next pitch Ruth swung, and the ball was last seen heading for the wild blue yonder.

Before the game the Babe was introduced, and autographed a baseball, which was auctioned off for the benefit of local charity.

In the seventh-inning mix-up which followed the first Brooklyn run Mays was out on the throw-in by Bernie Neis's spikes. Bert Griffith had started matters by outfooting a roller to Baker, Neis tapped to the same territory, but Baker threw low and wide to first, bringing Wally's hand directly in the runner's path. Neis's spikes cut in one of the fingers, and Wally retired in favor of Ruth, who came in from right field, while Camp Skinner took charge of that outpost.

Ward Throws Wild.

Ruth, however, was not the worst of it. While Pipp was regarding his bloody hand the throw rolled back of first base, where Aaron Ward retrieved it. Not knowing what else to do with the ball, Aaron threw it past Baker at third in an attempt to stop Bert Griffith. The latter scored with the tying run.

The game was a pitching duel between Mays and Jolley on the one side and Sherrod Smith and Al Mamaux on the other. Barring Ruth's home run, the Yanks could do little with Smith, getting only three hits in four innings. Mamaux, showing lots of speed and a world of curves, despite his rheumatic shoulder, was even better, allowing only three safe blows in six frames. Mays blanked the Dodgers in his six-inning session of the pitching peak.

The Yanks overlooked their best opportunities in the second and eighth. In the former session Scott singled with two down, and ambled to second on a wild pitch. Schang walked, but the next Mays could produce was a ground-out which Olsen gobbled up.

There were two aboard in the eighth, Miller on first and Scott on second when Crane fumbled McMillan's hard roller. The bases were filled when Ruth singled off Crane's glove, but Home Run Baker gave Johnston a high fly, and the trouble was over.

A double play pulled Mays out of a hole in the first inning. Olsen and Johnston singled with none out, and Jimmy Griffith sacrificed them along to base. When Wheat lifted to Smith Olsen made an ill-advised break for home, and was out by several feet when the Bambino made a line throw to Schang's glove.

The two teams went to Houston to-night to play there tomorrow.

Defeats Fort Slocum in Practice Baseball Game, 9 to 4.

In a well-played practice game, the Fordham varsity baseball team took the measure of the Fort Slocum team yesterday at Fordham Field by a score of 9 to 7.

Joe White, the diminutive right-hander buried for the Maroon, and at all times held the soldiers well in check. Though pounded for eleven hits, White kept the safeties scattered. White accidentally struck out eight men. Arthur Boutot and Mike Hayes did most of the heavy batting for Fordham. Boutot made a home run and a triple, while Hayes collected two doubles.

The Fordhamites lost no time in getting an early lead, scoring four runs in the first inning on a pass to Boutot, infield singles by Schermerhorn and Donovan, a double by Hayes and a long single by Shankey. They also tallied twice in the fourth inning and three times in the sixth inning.

Grandson of Baseball Magnate Is Chosen Basketball Captain.

Charles H. Ebbets 3d, grandson of Charles H. Ebbets, one of the owners of the Brooklyn Baseball Club, has been elected Captain of St. John's Prep basketball team for next season. Young Ebbets was selected as leader by his teammates of the strong game he played during the season just ended. He is also a member of the Red and White baseball nine and may be picked for regular first baseman.

Leden Offers Trophy for First Homer in International

READING, Pa., March 29.—William H. Leden of this city has donated a sterling silver baseball and bat of regulation size to the Reading Internationals, to be awarded to the first player who drives the ball over the centre field wall in an International League game at the local park. Leden also has donated $700 in gold to be awarded for home runs in the international games scheduled for Reading this season.

RAIN STOPS GIANTS' GAME AT VICKSBURG

Special to The New York Times.

MERIDIAN, Miss., March 29.—The Giants arrived here this evening to await the coming of the morrow and their first game with the Memphis club, pennant winners of the Southern Association. The teams originally were scheduled to open their Spring series of six games at Vicksburg today, but a heavy rainstorm through the morning caused a cancellation of the contest and the Giants stopped at the Vicksburg station only long enough to pick up the Memphis club.

Weather permitting the world's champions and the Southern Association champions will clash in a series of five games. The first of these will be held here tomorrow. Then the teams journey to Jackson, Mich., for a single game on Friday; play at Memphis, Tenn., Saturday and Sunday and Jackson, Tenn., on Monday.

The Giants will resume their series with the White Sox on April 4 at Knoxville, where two games are scheduled. The last road games between the Giants and Sox will be played at Birmingham, and Norfolk, Va., after which the world's champions journey to the Polo Grounds for their pre-season games.

The postponement of today's game at Vicksburg disappointed the townsfolk there and spoiled a perfectly good luncheon at which the team members were to have been officially welcomed to the city of Civil War fame. Asistant Manager Hughie Jennings was crestfallen. He was to have delivered an address, and had trained faithfully for the occasion.

To the players, however, the lull was welcome, as several members of the squad can enjoy a respite without any bad effects. Particularly is this true of Fred Toney and Phil Douglas, who were among the last to report to the Giant camp, and have therefore been rather strenuous in their training, in the effort to make up for lost time.

Manager McGraw expressed himself as highly pleased with the progress thus far made in training. The little Napoleon professed confidence in the strength of his team, enthused over his pitching staff, and declared his satisfaction with the club's hitting strength as reflected in the exhibition games already decided. McGraw was undecided who would pitch for the champions tomorrow.

Commissioner K. M. Landis was a member of the party until the train chugged into Vicksburg. The game's ruling authority joined the Giant squad at Forth Worth. He plans to rejoin the world's champions Saturday at Memphis.

Among the Memphis chicks who boarded the train at Vicksburg were two players who at one time had major league chances. They were Zeke Lohman, pitcher, who was a member of the Giant training squad at Marlin in 1917, and Howard Camp, an outfielder, who had a short trial with the Yankees several years ago. Lohman spent part of his time on the trip to this city renewing acquaintances with old members of the Giant cast.

NAVY DEFEATS BOWDOIN.

Wins Opening Game of Baseball Season by Score of 7 to 6.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 29.—In the first game of the season here, the Naval Academy nine won from Bowdoin by 7 to 6 in a well-played and interesting game. In the first half of the eighth inning Graves's single and Thatch's overthrow of first gave Bowdoin a run which tied the score at 6 to 6. In the latter half, Harris scored the winning run for the Navy when he singled, stole second and crossed the plate on Smith's bad throw to first to catch Rawlings.

A. Morrell, the visitor's shortstop, carried off the fielding honors, accepting all nine of his chances, some of them being difficult.

BROOKLYN POLY WINS.

Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute opened its baseball season yesterday afternoon at Poly Field by defeating the team of Manhattan College, 10 to 8. The game was well played, Methfessel, the twirler of Brooklyn Poly, allowed but seven hits and struck out nine men. For Manhattan, McCarthy, first choice in the box, was swamped. He allowed nine of Poly's ten runs to come in during the first two innings. Rossette was then substituted and succeeded in holding the Brooklynites to one run for the remainder of the game. He struck out seven Poly batters.

During the second inning each member of the Poly team had a turn at bat, Bob Lineki hitting a homer, Kargaroff of Poly made four hits out of five times at bat.

G. at Brooklyn (pending).

PENN INVADERS IN FIRST REAL DRILL

Robertson Puts His Runners Through a Stiff Practice at the Queen's Club.

LONDON, March 29 (Associated Press).—The University of Pennsylvania relay team, which is to met Oxford and Cambridge in a four-mile race April 8, had its first real workout at the Queen's Club this afternoon. Coach Robertson put his five runners through a stiff ninety minutes' practice.

Yesterday the runners had a brief half hour of limbering up their joints, this being the first exercise they had taken since landing. Their appearance today drew large numbers of enthusiasts to the club grounds.

Two launches have been specially provided for the American athletes to follow the Oxford and Cambridge crews at next Saturday's boat race. Visits to Oxford, Cambridge, Eton and other places of interest have been arranged for next week.

It is expected they will go to Paris later for the French championships, returning to the United States in time to prepare for the Philadelphia relay carnival April 23.

STRONG FIELD ASSURED.

Feature of Bowie Opening Will Attract Many Good Sprinters.

BALTIMORE, March 29.—The Inaugural Handicap, feature race of the opening card of the Eastern season at Bowie next Saturday, promises to attract a galaxy of sprinting talent for the seven-furlong test. Among the horses three or more years of age which are being groomed for the event are Tippity Witchet, Irish Kiss, Slippery Elm, Eddie Rickenbacker, Despair, Skooter and Hobey Baker. Bunga Buck, one of the stars at New Orleans, may start also. The last named, a son of Vulcain, is especially well suited by the going at Bowie and last season was the star three-year-old of the Autumn meeting there.

Tippity Witchet, which came North in the stable of L. T. Bauer of Baton Rouge, and under the care of William Livingston, is in the best of condition. Experienced horsemen at Prince George's Park pronounce Tippity Witchet ready to race to his best form. Like Bunga Buck, Tippity has always been at his best in Bowie going.

Eddie Rickenbacker, which is owned by J. R. Skinker and trained by the veteran William Burtschell, is probably as fit as Tippity Witchet. He shouldered 117 pounds at New Orleans on Feb. 21 and stepped three-quarters of a mile in 1:13 flat in front of Dartmoor, Hadrian, St. Allan, Mavourneen and Tan Son.

Elemental, a three-year-old son of Ultimus and Xarco and a half brother of the sprinter Motor Cop, wintered at Bowie under the eye of G. Woltjen, man with Despair and ten or a dozen other horses. It is generally conceded that Elemental is the fittest of all the horses of class that put in the Winter at Prince George's Park. On one occasion last week he stepped half a mile down the fast backstretch in 0:48 2-5. Despair has done several halves in 49 and a fraction.

MORVICH'S TRIAL PLEASES.

Morvich, the hitherto unbeaten son of Runnymede, yesterday made happy his owner, Benjamin Block, and his trainer, Fred Burlew, as well as friends of theirs and of the horse, by a remarkable trial gallop on the Jamaica race course. It was not so much the speed shown by the three-year-old of 50 seconds flat for the four furlongs—for Morvich equaled that mark late last week—as the manner in which the practice run was covered that pleased the parties most interested.

In yesterday's test the champion two-year-old of 1921 showed that he had passed the stage of greenness or rankness which had caused him to wrestle for his head in earlier trials and to wish to go his own gait, resenting restraint. He went along smoothly, giving all the speed that was asked of him, and when the boy astride him slowed him up, following the injunctions of Trainer Burlew, Morvich let it go at that, without insisting on burning up the track. The experts who have the horse in charge feel now that all worry as to the form of Morvich when the time for the Kentucky Derby, May 13, rolls around, may be set aside.

MAY REINSTATE JOCKEYS.

License Committee Considers Cases of Ensor and Others.

The License Committee of the Jockey Club was in session yesterday to consider applications for training and riding licenses for the coming season. The cases of Jockeys Ensor, Collins, Yeargin and Peak, suspended last year, were discussed at some length and it was reported last night that the committee would recommend to the Stewards that two or three of these riders be allowed to resume their work in the saddle.

Ensor, whose suspension was for various offenses along the line of insubordination, will, it is believed, receive a conditional license, with T. J. Healey, trainer for Richard T. Wilson and Walter J. Salmon, accountable for his actions. Collins and Yeargin both fell under the ban at Saratoga, the former for a bad ride on Saddle Ring on August 31 and the latter for striking work aboard Leatherface on August 28. If Yeargin is reinstated he will return to the employ of the Triple Springs Farm, while Collins and Peak, if allowed to ride again, are expected to be free lances.

Algernon Daingerfield, assistant secretary of the Jockey Club, said yesterday that not more than forty applications for jockey licenses had been filed thus far, although the would-be trainers had been far busier. There is a tendency on the part of the riders to put off the formality of putting in their applications until the last possible moment, and the tardy ones this year include several who are already under good contracts.

TO SPONSOR POLO TOURNEY

Devereux Milburn and J. Watson Webb Will Oversee Intercollegiates.

Devereux Milburn, captain of the American polo team which brought home the International Polo Challenge Cup last Summer, and J. Watson Webb will act as sponsors for an intercollegiate polo match to be held at the Meadow Brook Club field on Long Island on a date to be selected in the latter part of May. One of the competing teams will be the Princeton University four, and it is probable that Yale will be named as the opponents for the Tigers. It is possible, however, that the event will develop into an intercollegiate tournament, with several college quartets competing.

Princeton already has begun outdoor practice. The game first started among the members of the R. O. T. C. unit at Princeton, who have the use of the Government ponies for their games and practice. Any undergraduate in the University may play, however, by furnishing his own ponies. A shipment of twenty Government ponies is expected shortly, bringing the total number of polo mounts in the Princeton stables to thirty-six.

Major J. E. McMahon, commander of the Princeton unit, is aiming principally to develop material for next year, but a number of matches with college teams and combinations from Camp Dix have been arranged for this season. There also will be a University championship tournament in which a number of college combinations will take part.

Harvard Entertains Exeniums, Prospective Crimson Athletes

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 29.—A number of the fifty-eight Phillips Exeter Academy students who will matriculate at Harvard next Autumn visited Soldiers' Field today. Among them were Joseph McGlone, the football and baseball captain, and Carl Lundell, the track captain, who has done the 100 in ten seconds. Harvard will matriculate seven letter members of the Exeter football team as well as L. F. Daly, captain of the Andover eleven.

HARVARD HOLDS UP TENNIS TRIP ABROAD

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 29.—The Harvard Athletic Committee, while sanctioning the American schedule of the tennis team, which includes a Southern trip next month, failed a second time today to approve Harvard's participation with Yale in a meet in England next Summer against Cambridge and Oxford Universities, provided the Athletic Association had to provide the funds to make the trip possible.

The committee feels that it could not at this time break the precedent of sending teams abroad at the expense of the Athletic Association. No objection will be registered, however, if the members of the team are able to get the trip financed otherwise. It is understood that the two teams will go abroad, having arranged for reservations on the Aquitania, which sails from New York July 4.

The committee approved three varsity schedules, awarded a number of letters in various sports, limited the entries to the American Henley to two eight-oared crews and authorized a freshman hockey game with Princeton on the latter's rink every other year, which means that the "big three" teams will meet in freshman hockey annually.

The Harvard-Yale tennis meet with Cambridge and Oxford is booked for July 17 and 18 and will probably be held at the Queen's Club of London. The Harvard tennis management tonight announced that it would surely make the trip.

The three varsity schedules approved are as follows:

UNIVERSITY TENNIS.

April 15, Agawam Hunt Club at Providence; 17, Country Club of Virginia at Richmond, Va.; 18, Norfolk Country Club at Norfolk; 20, Chevy Chase Country Club at Washington; 21, Baltimore Country Club at Baltimore; 22, Naval Academy at Annapolis; 29, M. I. T. or Cornell (tentative).

May 4, Colgate; 6, Williams; 9, M. I. T.; 13, Princeton at Princeton; 16, Tufts; 17, Brown; 20, Dartmouth at Hanover; 23, Pennsylvania; 27, Yale.

UNIVERSITY GOLF.

UNIVERSITY LACROSSE.

JAY GOULD BEATS BROTHER.

Jay Gould, the 1921 squash tennis champion of the Columbia Club, is a strong favorite for the 1922 title which will be decided tomorrow afternoon when he meets Edward W. Putnam in the final round of the club tournament. In the semi-finals yesterday, Gould defeated his younger brother, George Gould Jr., by scores of 15—6, 15—11, 15—8. The younger Gould plays excellent squash, hitting hard and covering court well. His showing against his famous brother was highly commendable all through the match. The elder Gould was never in danger of dropping a game, but at the same time he had to display his best tactics to keep safely in the lead. His superior racquet work was an important factor in his success.

In the other semi-final of the Class A tournament Putnam defeated M. L. Cornell by scores of 16—15, 15—4, 15—5. 17—16 in a match as well played as it was closely contested.

The finalists in the Class B division of the Columbia tournament are Kingsley Kunhardt and Harold Kellock, who will contest for the title on April 7. George Gould Jr. was a semi-finalist in the Class B as well as the Class A tournament, losing to Kellock in his Class B match in a long, hard, five-game struggle by scores of 5—15, 5—15, 18—15, 17—16, 15—8. Gould seemed to have the match clearly won not only at the conclusion of the first two games but during several stages of both the third and fourth games, but Kellock managed to even the count by the most dogged kind of uphill fighting. The fifth game was an endurance battle with Kellock a trifle the fresher. Kunhardt won his semi-final match from H. G. Larson Jr. by 18—15, 16—17, 5—15, 15—12. This, too, was hard fought all the way.

The summaries:

Columbia Club Class A Championship, Semi-Final Round—Jay Gould defeated George Gould Jr., 15—6, 15—11, 15—8; Edward W. Putnam defeated M. L. Cornell, 16—15, 15—4, 15—5, 17—16.

Class B, Semi-Finals—Kingsley Kunhardt defeated H. G. Larson Jr., 18—15, 16—17, 5—15, 15—12; Harold Kellock defeated George Gould Jr., 5—15, 5—15, 16—15, 17—16, 15—8.

TWO CHALLENGES RECEIVED.

Costello and Hoover Enter Race for World's Sculling Title.

The race for the $2,500 Philadelphia Challenge Cup emblematic of the world's amateur sculling championship has been set for June 5 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon on the Schuylkill River, according to an announcement made by the Philadelphia Challenge Cup Committee, of which Russell H. Johnson Jr. of Philadelphia is Secretary. Challenges have been received and accepted from Paul N. Costello of the Vesper B. C. of Philadelphia, who was partner of Jack Kelly of the same club in winning the Olympic doubles championship at Brussels, and Walter H. Hoover of the Duluth B. C., who won the national sculling title at Buffalo last August. Kelly has not yet sent in his entry.

DARTMOUTH NINE CHOSEN.

Only Three Letter Men on Squad Selected for Spring Trip.

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., March 29.—Thirteen players compose the Dartmouth baseball team on its Spring trip, according to an announcement by Coach Jeff Tesreau at the conclusion of practice here today.

Of this number only three are letter men—Captain Tracy, pitcher; Maynard, infielder, and Caswell, outfielder. Miner and Heep, letter men, put for catcher, have been beaten for the job on the first trip by Seavey, football centre. The pitching staff includes Captain Tracy, Steinbolder, a transfer from Holy Cross, and Burbank and Lyons, both members of last year's freshman team.

U. of P. Nine Victorious.

PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—The University of Pennsylvania opened the local college baseball season today defeating the Philadelphia College of Dentistry, 6 to 1.

NATIONAL TENNIS FAVORITES ADVANCE

HARTMANN AND EWING LOSE

Play Hardest Match, but Bowman and Steinkampf Win by Score of 7-5, 5-7, 6-4.

Good headway was made yesterday in both singles and doubles of the national indoor tennis championships at the Seventh Regiment Armory. Not a single real upset has thus far been recorded in the tournament and the favorites advanced yesterday without any symptoms of over-exertion.

In the singles Frank T. Anderson, playing through in defense of his title, defeated his Seventh Regiment clubmate, Samuel R. McAllister, by scores of 6—3, 6—2. McAllister made many good sets and applied considerable pace to his return, but he was no match for the champion when the latter speeded up. S. Howard Voshell, who is in line to oppose Anderson in the semi-finals, defeated Jerry Lang of Columbia by 6—1, 6—2. Lang is a clever player and he made a good stand against the noted southpaw at several points in the match. He handled Voshell's severe service well, getting it back successfully a surprising number of times, and he also executed a number of dazzling passing shots. But Voshell was the steadier and keener volleyer and distinctly superior overhead, and he had the situation well under control at all times.

Anderson will play Herbert L. Bowman today, while Dr. George King is expected to come through to oppose Voshell. Both matches should be sharply contested, but with Anderson and Voshell strong favorites. Bowman yesterday defeated R. M. DeMott in straight sets, while King's match with Walter J. Toussaint remained unplayed.

In the other half of the draw Francis T. Hunter played two matches and won both easily. He eliminated Dupuy Greer in the third round, 6—3, 6—0, and then sent Stephen V. Brubana to defeat by 6—1, 6—1. Brubana was steady in shooting from his backcourt but could not match Hunter for speed or variety of play. Hunter's chances look bright for a victory today over Percy L. Kynaston in the round before the semi-finals, though the latter is playing good tennis.

Kynaston Has His Troubles.

Kynaston had his troubles yesterday in taking the measure of the Seventh Regiment Club veteran, Morris S. Clark. Kynaston won by scores of 7—5, 3—6, 6—4. Clark was twice within a point of taking the first set, and had he done that, as it turned out, he would have won the match in straight sets. Clark was leading Kynaston by 5—4 in games in the opener, and the points, with Kynaston serving, were 15—40. The Seventh Regiment Club man then made the mistake of becoming overcautious and betrayed himself into hitting either wildly or too gently, while Kynaston, on the other hand, took chances on shaving the lines and got away with it. Kynaston's control kept pace with his daring and his accurate placing pulled him quickly out of danger. He then won the next two games and the set.

Clark by fast driving and good control evened the set count, playing excellent tennis all through the second session. He continued his good work in the rubber, but Kynaston played more aggressively at the net and steadied strongly at the finish to win by 6—4.

Shafer and Clarence E. Unterberg are opponents in the remaining fifth round match to be contested this afternoon. Shafer had no trouble advancing at the expense of Jack Linderman, to whom he conceded only two games in two sets, but Unterberg was forced to do strenuous battle to win over the youthful Brooklyn starter, Reginald Talmadge. Talmadge plays a well-rounded game and strokes forcefully, and he was several times nearly successful in upsetting Unterberg in both sets. The scores were 8—6, 8—6.

In the doubles, Frank Anderson and Voshell, favorites for the championship, won without difficulty from J. P. Nikonow and Earl C. Backe in the second round. Anderson played carelessly and landed many balls into the net, but the winners were never severely enough pressed to make extra painstaking necessary.

Bowman and Steinkampf Win.

The best and closest of the doubles matches was won by Herbert L. Bowman and J. Harry Steinkampf from Ingo F. Hartmann and James D. Ewing, who, on the preceding day, had eliminated Tilden and his young partner, Wiener. Steinkampf and Bowman won by 7—5, 5—7, 6—4, and these scores epitomize the strenuousness of the struggle accurately. Bowman played a stellar game for his team, while Hartmann was particularly steady on the other side of the net. Hartmann's cleverly directed block volleys turned many a stroke that seemed destined to score for the opposition into a winning shot for his own team, and he also played well at the baseline. Both Steinkampf and Ewing were erratic, but both earned more points by good shooting than they lost through mistakes.

A single break through service gave Steinkampf and Bowman the opening set. In the second session Hartmann and Ewing broke through Steinkampf's delivery for a lead of 5—3. Ewing was then broken through in turn and Bowman evened the count at 5—all in his next service. After Hartmann, in turn, had won his service, Steinkampf faltered again and Ewing and Hartmann took the set at 7—5. In the third session a break through Hartmann gave Bowman and Steinkampf a two-game advantage which they held to the finish, Bowman serving out the final game successfully. In service, overhead play and volleying Bowman's sharpshooting was a feature of the match all the way.

Fourth Round—Frank T. Anderson defeated Samuel R. McAllister, 6—3, 6—2; Herbert L. Bowman defeated R. M. DeMott, 6—2, 6—2; S. Howard Voshell defeated Jerry Lang, 6—1, 6—2; C. E. Unterberg defeated Reginald Talmadge, 8—6, 8—6; G. Carlton Shafer defeated Jack Linderman, 6—0, 6—3; F. T. Hunter defeated Armand L. Brubana, 6—1, 6—1; Percy L. Kynaston defeated Morris S. Clark, 7—5, 3—6, 6—4.

National Indoor Doubles Championship, First Round—F. P. Nikonow and Earl C. Backe defeated Jack Linderman and S. K. Berry, 6—4, 6—4.

Second Round—Francis T. Hunter and partner won from Edgar T. Appleby and partner, by default; Frank T. Anderson and S. Howard Voshell defeated Nikonow and Backe, 6—2, 6—2.

Third Round—C. E. Unterberg and Paul S. McKitch won from Hunter and partner, by default; Herbert L. Bowman and J. Harry Steinkampf defeated Ingo F. Hartmann and James D. Ewing, 7—5, 5—7, 6—4.

FOWLER TO TRAIN NAVY.

Former Marathon Runner Accepts Position in Brazil.

BOSTON, March 29.—Robert A. Fowler, a leading New England athletic trainer and former marathon runner, has been appointed trainer of the Brazilian Navy, and will sail to assume his new duties on April 10.

Fowler has an athletic record of long standing. He first came into prominence in 1907, when he ran second to Tom Longboat in the race which enabled the Onondaga Indian to set up a new Boston A. A. marathon record.

PRACTICAL IDEALISM BY TREATY.

The rapid sailing of the naval treaty into the desired haven of ratification by the Senate is cause for deep and universal satisfaction. It shows that the great impulse given by the speech of Secretary HUGHES on Nov. 12 has held its power. His plan was idealism translated into tonnage and guns. There was no pretense of at once ushering in the millennium. If there had been, the world would have been suspicious of it. What the nations rose to was the hope conveyed by a reasoned project to make an end of the competitive building of battleships and of preparations for aggressive war. Adequate national defense and security were not trenched upon. Simply, the maximum of naval limitation now attainable was placed within reach. A purpose confessedly noble was made to seem a reality instead of a dream. And the great scheme had been worked out with such care and labor by Mr. HUGHES and his technical advisers that it was accepted by the Washington conference with only slight modifications, and has now been approved entire by the Senate.

To stand as we do today before such an accomplished fact is to feel fresh assurance for the future. In spite of Gloomy Deans and chronic cynics, there is such a thing as human progress. We may get on spasmodically and flounderingly, but we get on. And in congratulating Secretary HUGHES and his associates on what has been achieved, men of all parties and creeds will feel that they are taking good cheer for their own hearts. When the Senate feels the thrill of the big step forward, all indomitable optimists are justified in crying to each other: "Say not the struggle naught availeth."

A VOICE FROM THE PAST.

It sounds like tales from the land of spirits to hear Attorney General DAUGHERTY wailing to the House Committee on Appropriations about the Civil Service law and system and their working in the departments. "It is probably a gratuitous suggestion," he said, "but I believe the civil service "is an interference to some extent "in the discharge of public business." The suggestion was highly gratuitous in view not only of the facts, but of the renewal in the Republican national platform of 1920 of "our re-"pealed declaration that the Civil Ser-"vice law shall be thoroughly and "honestly enforced and extended "wherever practicable," and the general course and conduct of Mr. HARDING'S Administration in living up to that enlightened policy.

Mr. DAUGHERTY is good enough to say that he will enforce the law. What puts it into his head to make this ineffective and unbecoming protest against the merit system, long approved by public opinion? One can think of no reason except a desire to soothe the irritated "workers," whose mouths water vainly for the unaccustomed mess of spoils. If his words are unworthy of a man in his position, none the less they will make the cynical grin. It is perfectly well known that, in spite of public gnashing of teeth by some of the politicians against what they artlessly call "civil service," the competitive system is a defense and apology for them to the hungry brethren. Moreover, it greatly diminishes the crop of sore-heads and enemies that the old way of distributing patronage raised in such richness. So the complaints against appointment for ascertained merit are hollow.

Hollow, too, but delightful, are Mr. DAUGHERTY'S charges against the "spoils system." The reserves, suppose, is threefold, but the first that authorize his beliefs, suppositions, convictions, are hidden in his deep heart. The officeholders certified by the Civil Service Commission "are not "as anxious generally to commence "work on the dot as they are to quit "work on the dot." If it weren't for this accursed "civil service," the Attorney General believes, "we could "get along with less than two-thirds "of the number of employés," and probably there would be twice as much work. To those old enough to remember the implacable industry of the ancient race of political appointees, Mr. DAUGHERTY'S humor will seem beyond praise. He is "thoroughly con-"vinced that the civil service is a "hindrance to the Government."

Good old palæozoic prattle! When Mr. ROOSEVELT was Civil Service Commissioner a generation ago and the heathen raged in this fashion, he used to flourish his notebook and loudly demand names, places, persons, dates and times; in short, exact particulars and facts in place of vague, windy general declamations and denunciations. It would be cruel to subject Mr. DAUGHERTY to such an examination. He "discovered" before he was Attorney General the large conclusions, supported by no specifications, that he has rediscovered and reported in Washington. He doesn't "speak for the Administration," he said unnecessarily. In this attack on the merit system he is speaking against the Administration; but nobody minds. He is merely trying to give a crumb of comfort to "the boys."

GOVERNOR MILLER.

It isn't the habit of our singularly resolute Governor to allow anybody, even a friend, to speak for him, much less to force his hand. So he checks with the utmost amiability the ardent positiveness of Mr. GLYNN, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, who said that "Governor MILLER will "be our candidate in the State elec-"tion next Fall." Thus the one hope of the New York Republicans is left in suspense. No doubt they feel, however, that he will gratify their expectations, and yield to their right of political eminent domain. As Mr. GLYNN put it bluntly, "He has got to run on his record." It is a mighty good record. It is all the Republican Party of this State has to stand on. Governor MILLER has taken the reluctant Legislature by the neck and made it behave itself. He has cut down appropriations, driven out superfluous placemen, consolidated and invigorated State agencies, saved the taxpayers' money. He has kept his promises. He is that rare political bird, an economist in office as well as on the stump.

His judgment, vigor, wisdom, courage have impressed the voters. He is the masterful Governor they like and need. It will be fortunate for the State and its business if this able and strong-spined administrator and manager consents to keep his job. The New York Republicans have nobody else to turn to. The New York Democrats are in the same box. They have nobody but "AL" SMITH; and he is not thought to pine for more labor and honor at Albany.

TO GO SLOW WITH GERMANY.

Chancellor WIRTH'S rejection of the terms of the Reparation Commission is finely ferocious, and welcome in the ears of German hardshell Nationalists. But it is addressed, not to the Reparation Commission, but to the Reichstag. When WIRTH replies to the commission he may say much the same thing, but will say it in a milder tone, and obviously will try to leave the subject open for further discussion. Indeed, some few phrases in the Reichstag speech were obviously aimed at allied ears—such as the remark that the demands were impossible "if "only from purely parliamentary, po-"litical and technical reasons."

From the speech and the situation behind it one may fairly assume that WIRTH felt that he had to play up to the right wing of his coalition. There had to be a display of firmness, a "declaration of independence" that would be grateful to a nation suffering from what FREUD might call the Missouri-hound-dog complex. If that is a fair analysis of the German Chancellor's position, the question may be raised if it is not one more instance of a well-meaning statesman, compelled to find support in an inharmonious grouping of parties, falling gradually into the hands of the reactionaries; and if, in that case, the situation does not call once more for the show of force which is the one argument every German understands and respects.

Probably it does not; certainly, not yet. WIRTH and RATHENAU have hitherto made a serious and conscientious effort to meet German obligations. Brusque action which forced them out of office would almost certainly bring in a Government that would be harder to deal with. Leaving aside the dire predictions of the apocalyptic economists in Germany, England and America who have cried "wolf" so often that they need not be surprised if few believe them, the fall of WIRTH would be unfortunate on purely political grounds. Especially would it be unfortunate so near the Genoa conference.

WIRTH is willing to "enter into a "serious discussion about comparative tax burdens." This turns on facts. It may be that the facts cannot be got at; it certainly requires a devout pragmatist to find much of substance in the statistics of German finance. But the allied authorities could wisely devote a period of delay to an effort to get as near the truth as possible. Some of the Chancellor's complaints seem well founded, notably those about expensive commissions of control. But if the German Government made a serious effort to keep books and keep them honestly, some sort of oversight should be possible without the maintenance of a huge staff. Complaints about the impossibility of raising another sixty billion paper marks in taxation sound plausible, but after all that is only two hundred million dollars.

The Reparation Commission probably knows a good deal about all these matters. Further study would be profitable, if only in so far as it strengthens WIRTH and keeps him in power. Penalties can and must be exacted if that is the only alternative to letting Germany escape atonement. But penalties will produce more moral satisfaction than practical reparation for France. They should be only a desperate last resort.

FINANCING FOREIGN TRADE.

The Federal Reserve Board has relaxed its control of the details of bankers' acceptances in foreign trade. That increases by so much the responsibility of regional and member banks dealing in such paper. The Federal Reserve explains that it has neither wish nor power to modify the law or principles controlling the use of such paper, but desires to give greater freedom to the banks. Before the war national banks had no authority to do this kind of business, and other banks did little of it. That is one reason why the world's business was done in sterling instead of dollar exchange. Now we rank among world bankers. Foreigners could not be expected to follow the intricacies of domestic regulations, or to accommodate themselves to an American version of a trade facility which is useful in proportion that it is universal. The best control of acceptances is acceptability for rediscount. There is no relaxation of control so long as that is retained.

American acceptances available for rediscount rank with any acceptances approved by the Bank of England. Our bankers are simply falling into step with world bankers in their manner of financing exports and imports.

Certain unfortunate experiences in our use of acceptances have not discouraged our leading bankers, although outstanding acceptances are about a third of the total last year. The use of acceptances is not an emergency measure, to pass into the discard as some emergency banking institutions have done. If it gives any cause for blame, it is due more to the bankers than to the acceptances. If too many American acceptances were not so liquid as they should be, and if so many of them were dishonored in the wave of cancellations of trades due to the collapse of prices, that is a post-war episode unlikely to be repeated. Acceptances remain the best form of paper, ranking close after Government short issues, and better than bonds for commercial purposes.

Dollar acceptances cannot displace pound acceptances, but may be expected to divide the service to world finance. When we come to part with some of our excess gold it will be drawn from us by acceptances. If we thus part with our gold, it will be only because we value the gold less than what we take in exchange for it. In proportion that the freer use of American acceptances promotes the world movement of goods between nations it will correct the exchanges. The artificial stabilization of exchange has been rejected by the experts preparing the preliminaries of the Genoa conference. The great decrease of our exports, and the corresponding increase of our loans granted abroad, are steps toward bringing world currencies together.

THE BUILDING DEADLOCK.

The bill extending the period of tax exemption on new housing has been signed by Governor MILLER. Other emergency measures of the Legislature will doubtless become law in due course. Yet the building deadlock continues. The Employers' Association has rejected the stipulation of the Building Trades Council that a subcommittee of the Lockwood committee shall be among the representatives of "the public" in the proposed tripartite conference.

It is true that Mr. UNTERMYER, while prosecuting lawbreakers impartially, has shown a certain leniency toward the building unions. There is no economic reason why wages should not be reduced at least to the extent of the $1 a day advance that was secured by BRINDELL in 1920. Mr. UNTERMYER has stipulated that rules regulating apprenticeship and strictly limiting union membership shall be measurably relaxed. Instead of a drastic house-cleaning, a restoration of genuine competition among workmen, he has proposed that the unions promise to increase efficiency, submitting their performance to the decisions of arbitrators. This the Employers' Association denounces as impracticable, a view which is shared not only by disinterested observers but by many workmen. In refusing to accept a Lockwood subcommittee as part of the proposed conference, the groups representing the employers and "the public" say that Mr. UNTERMYER is already committed to the cause of the unions.

Mr. UNTERMYER and his associates can only appear as representatives of the public. Their labors thus far have been as impartial as they have been fruitful. As between BRINDELL and HEITRICK it was the labor grafter who got the severer sentence, though that was a matter of the law and not of any one's choice. In point of fact, Mr. UNTERMYER has already acknowledged the error of his former trust in the unions. During his encounter with BRINDELL'S union last Sunday, he declared that, in the absence of speedy reform, the State would step in and drastically restrict the power of the unions.

At present the representatives of the public in the proposed conference include ten banking institutions, three chambers of commerce, and a scattering of architects' and civic associations. The building unions are justified in believing that the Lockwood committee is not only officially but actually a truer representative of the people. Certain difficulties in the situation must be admitted, but if the public continues to be held up by the present deadlock the fault will lie with those who refuse to confer.

A BIT OF SECRET HISTORY.

A well-remembered instance of tension in the relations between Germany and France before the war occurred in 1905. It arose in connection with the Morocco affair and the policy of the French Foreign Minister, M. DELCASSE. His resignation was forced, it was understood at the time, on the demand of Germany, and the result was hailed as a marked triumph for German diplomacy, involving a certain humiliation for France. But evidence has lately been published to show that the German Government was very sure of its ground before venturing to notify the Prime Minister of France that it could not conduct further negotiations with M. DELCASSE. A statement made by Princess BUELOW, wife of the then German Chancellor, was reported by JOSEPH GALTIER to have been: "We did not "demand the head of M. DELCASSE;" "it was offered to us."

Moved by this revelation, a former French Ambassador, M. PALEOLOGUE, who had been closely associated with DELCASSE at the Foreign Office in 1905, carried the tale further. It appears that on the 26th of April in that year the German Ambassador at Paris gave a dinner to the French Prime Minister, M. ROUVIER. The next day a telegram went from the German Embassy to Berlin. It was intercepted and deciphered by the French Secret Service. At the end of it the German Ambassador informed his Chancellor that the French Prime Minister had assured him that France desired peace "at any price." Then the dispatch added: "Ten minutes "before the dinner I received a call "from a person in the confidence of "M. ROUVIER, who informed me that "the President of the Council would "willingly permit M. DELCASSE to "fall." This hint was sufficient for Berlin. Within a few days the German Embassy in Paris was pressing for the displacement of DELCASSE. And a little later two emissaries of Chancellor BUELOW sent this message to M. ROUVIER: "The German Government "is aware that M. DELCASSE is "negotiating an alliance with the "British Government. If this alliance "is concluded, Germany will im-"mediately attack France." The result was inevitable. On June 6 DELCASSE resigned his office.

The incident is more than an illustration of the ways of secret diplomacy. It helps us to understand the growing arrogance of the German Government in its dealings with France, and its ill-judged confidence that France would submit to anything rather than fight. It was doubtless the seeming brilliant success of Germany in 1905, followed up in 1909 by a similar diplomatic victory in connection with the annexation by Austria of Bosnia and Herzegovina, which led the German Government to the pitch of impudence and ignorance that it displayed in August, 1914, when it delivered its impossible demands to M. VIVIANI. But that diplomatic pitcher had gone too often to the well and got badly broken.

AMUNDSEN'S NEW VENTURE.

ROALD AMUNDSEN, still in his prime, is the survivor of a famous group of polar explorers which included our own PEARY, SCOTT and SHACKLETON. As the conqueror of the Northwest Passage and the first man at the South Pole, preceding the gallant but ill-starred SCOTT, AMUNDSEN has written his name the highest of all. The expedition that he will lead to the Arctic, starting from Seattle in June, with the design of drifting over the Pole to Spitsbergen and thence sailing home to Norway, will give him an opportunity to add to his laurels. The renown of Admiral PEARY is secure. If raising a flag at the North Pole gave the country of the discoverer title to the region, then the top of the world belongs to the United States. Captain AMUNDSEN has claimed the antipodes for Norway. In his book, "The South Pole," he described the ceremony:

> Five weather-beaten, frost-bitten men they were that grasped the pole, raised the waving flag in the air and planted it as the first at the geographical South Pole. "Thus we "plant thee, beloved flag, at the South "Pole, and give to the plain on which "it lies the name of King Haakon "VII.'s Plateau."

Compare the American Admiral's account two years before:

> 90 N. Lat., North Pole, April 6, 1909. I have today hoisted the national ensign of the United States of America at this place, which my observations indicate to be the north polar axis of the earth, and have formally taken possession of the entire region, and adjacent, for and in the name of the President of the United States of America. I leave this record and United States flag in possession.

If the drift theory is sound, PEARY'S recording document and the flag above it were long ago carried away by the ice field and lost in the Arctic solitude; but whether AMUNDSEN'S airplanes avail him or not, he will endeavor to be second at the North Pole and take the necessary observations. With his dog sled there should be no difficulty in trekking over the ice from the slow-moving Maude. The plan to keep in touch with civilization by radio invests AMUNDSEN'S quest with an unusual attraction. Dr. MAWSON'S apparatus in his Antarctic expedition of 1911-14 installed on Macquarie Island and Adalia Land to connect the base on the polar continent with Hobart was, from its fitfulness in operation, rather an exasperation than a success, but there were glorious moments when scraps of intelligence were snatched from the frozen air and contact with Australia was made. Wireless has made immense strides since 1914.

AMUNDSEN has the imagination of all great explorers and an invincible optimism. The latest successes in radio telephony inspire him to say: "It is probable that a voice from the "silent North may call out each day "to tell the known world what lies "locked within the ice of the polar "seas." Of the use of the airplanes he says: "We will take the Larsen "plane hundreds of miles away from "the mother ship and operate inde-"pendently. We shall also have an "Avro for scout purposes." Tremendous possibilities of perhaps the greatest success of all polar explorations! AMUNDSEN is considered so fortunate that the elements combine to favor him. But Dr. FRIDTJOF NANSEN says of his friend: "AMUNDSEN'S luck is "that of the strong man who looks "ahead."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

New York Began It Long Ago.

According to the spokesman for a Tenants' League in Chicago, at least 10,000 families there will make this Summer an effective protest against high rents by quitting the apartments they now occupy and camping out in "the forest preserves around the city." Those who know the region around Chicago only from what they see when entering it by train will find this reference to "forest preserves" more surprising than the proposed resort to tent life. That way of passing the hot season, indeed, has long been familiar to a good many more than 10,000 New York families, though the fact probably is known only to the campers and to the not many others who happen into the rather sequestered places where the little Summer towns are erected.

There are a score or more of them, however, scattered along both sides of Long Island, on the banks of the Hudson, on the mainland side of the Sound from City Island northward, and inland both in New Jersey and Westchester County.

The inhabitants of these temporary colonies reduce housekeeping to about its lowest terms, and the life is pleasant enough to those who do not mind small inconveniences and petty hardships. The breadwinners go back and forth from and to town as regularly as the year-around commuters, and the women and children really enjoy themselves. If one may judge from the expressions on their faces.

The dwellings range all the way from small tents to real, though rude, frame houses. Sometimes the hygienic conditions are fairly good and sometimes they are dangerously primitive. The true pleasures of camping cannot be gained in such places, however, because the people live close together, and quietude and isolation are lacking. Apparently they are not wanted by the dwellers in such colonies.

But Winter Rents Will Rise.

Whether resort to one of the tent cities results in a real saving of money is somewhat dubious. There is an immediate economy, of course, if rent for the vacated flat is not running on under the terms of a yearly lease. But the city landlord cherishes the common notion that he must live, and if his flats stand empty during the Summer months he will do his best to make up his loss by charging more in the Winter. That only would be reversing the established custom of getting in a few months the rent for a whole year from people who take cottages at the seaside or in the mountains.

Perhaps the savings effected in the tent cities are due mainly to a reduction or simplification of the standard of living. Almost everything except the actual necessaries of food and lodging is eliminated for the time being. Much the same thing could be done in the Winter home if the will to do it existed, but there it is harder to get along without accustomed comforts and luxuries. Also, it causes more, and different, comment from observing neighbors.

Hard Worked and Ill Fed.

For the growing scarcity of trained nurses that is reported from various quarters, the only remedy suggested seems to be the employment of "trained attendants"—women, that is, without hospital experience or with only a brief one and therefore not credited with the competence of the regularly graduated nurse.

That is practicable, of course, but it is not entirely satisfactory, even to patients who would find it hard to pay the higher wages demanded by the fully certificated and registered nurse. Perhaps the real remedy for the failing supply is a change of method in the training schools.

Too often the hospitals conducting such schools have imposed and do impose on the pupils a lot of hard and rough work of a kind that has little or nothing, necessarily, to do with the efficient caring for the sick. It is done to save the hiring of other labor, and the excuse for it is the true one that all hospitals are ill supplied with money and feel that they must economize wherever economy is necessary. The saving thus effected, however, as well as that resulting from the sort of food provided for the novices in many hospitals, helps explain why fewer women are entering a vocation for which they are peculiarly fitted and in which they are much needed.

There is authority, moreover, for saying that the training course is needlessly long—that a nurse is not always more competent because she is something of a doctor as well, and thinks herself a real one.

This Plan Seems Promising.

One of THE TIMES correspondents has made what may be a valuable suggestion. It is that as soon as notice can be given of a robbery committed in the now too familiar way, by armed men with a waiting car in which to make their escape, a signal be made by police sirens or otherwise, and that, as soon as this noise is heard, all automobile traffic be stopped, just as it is when the fire engines are out.

This, if practicable, would facilitate the making of arrests, for any car that did not stop on the authorized signal would betray the character of its occupants, and all honest motor folk could and would prevent their further flight by getting in their way and staying there till the police came up. After the capture had been effected, an "all clear" could be sounded, just as it was in London when an air raid was over, and traffic could be resumed.

The new automobile patrol apparently could be worked into this plan without difficulty, and might get from it a usefulness not very obvious with things as they are.

LABOR AND BUILDING.

Why Building Council Wants Lockwood Committee at Hearing.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read your editorial on the labor situation in this morning's TIMES. As THE TIMES is usually so accurate in its information, the conclusions reached in the editorial are more of a surprise to those who know the situation.

Of course, the "Labor Council" is desirous that the Lockwood committee and Mr. Untermyer should be parties to the negotiations between labor and the Building Trades Employers' Association, especially so as, unfortunately, Mr. Untermyer has gone on record that the existing scale should be continued through the balance of this year, and possibly 1923; that in face of the fact that Mr. Brindell, when in power, raised the scale, May 1, 1920, $1 a day to every workman in Greater New York thus increasing the building costs by hundreds of thousands of dollars. The Building Trades Employers' Association issued an invitation to twenty of the leading organizations and companies interested in the labor situation, the list being as follows:

New York Chapter, American Institute of Architects.
New York Society of Architects.
Brooklyn Chapter, American Institute of Architects.
Federal Reserve Bank.
Bankers' Trust Company.
Title Guarantee and Trust Company.
New York Trust Company.
Greenwich Savings Bank.
Union Dime Savings Bank.
Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.
State Savings Bank Association.
Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York.
The Merchants' Association of New York.
Guaranty Trust Company.
New York Board of Title Underwriters.
Real Estate Board of New York.
City Club.
Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce.
Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens.
Bank for Savings.

It is before this committee that the Building Council is objecting to appear unless Mr. Untermyer and the Lockwood committee are represented, as presumably the Labor Council believes that it has already a decision in its favor on the part of Mr. Untermyer and his committee.

When the scale was arbitrarily raised by Mr. Brindell in May, 1920, the only excuse was the "high cost of living." This was not true at that time, and certainly, with the rapid fall of expenses, is distinctly not true today. It is therefore obvious that the scale should be reduced to that agreed upon by the council and employers in the Fall of 1919, or even lower in certain trades where special conditions would suggest.

Why Mr. Untermyer should have taken the astonishing position that he has in regard to the present scale in Greater New York is more mystifying when he himself, before he left for Europe in June of last year, as arbitrator, reduced the scale in Westchester County (just north of New York) $1 a day.

As one vitally interested in a satisfactory adjustment of the labor situation in New York, so that the many buildings held up on the architects' boards can be started promptly this season, I am sending you the above information, and hope that it will be placed as conspicuously before your readers as the editorial referred to.

AN OLD RESIDENT OF NEW YORK.
New York, March 17, 1922.

Free Board of Education Lectures.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Permit me to call your attention to the poor attendance at the splendid lectures now being offered to the public free by the New York Board of Education.

I have visited many this Winter and find them better and of a higher class than similar lectures given by the great universities in and near New York City and Boston.

It is right to give credit where it is due, and the public in your city are having offered them free the best lectures in the world. Will you not take some steps to inform the public of the character of this educational opportunity?

AUGUSTUS O. BOURN JR.

A LITTLE HOUSE.

When I grew tired of gypsying,
I bought a bit of land;
I built a roof against the sky,
A floor above the sand.

I built a fireplace for my fire,
I bought myself a bed
With linen sheets to cover me,
A pillow for my head.

My house was neat, my food was good,
My bed was soft—and yet
Some sights and sounds and smells there were
That I could not forget!

I tried to stay, I tried to eat,
I tried to sleep, but oh,
One night the wind came calling me—
What could I do but go?

What could I do but rake my fire
And shut and lock my door?
What could I do but set my foot
Upon the trail once more?

But gypsying is not the same,
For now I'm not so free—
The little house I built myself
Is always calling me!

ABIGAIL CRESSON.

COOLIDGE HEARS CRITICISM.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Vice President Coolidge was criticised on the floor of the Senate this afternoon as being—one of a few prominent Republican office holders who are seeking to convince the country that the work of the recent Conference for the Limitation of Armament was entirely a Republican achievement and in no wise a non-partisan undertaking. This criticism directed against the Vice President, who was presiding over the Senate at the time, was made by Senator Harrison of Mississippi, with the full approval of the Democratic membership.

For some time the Democrats have been showing resentment at what they consider the organized effort on the part of certain elements in the Republican party to make the Washington conference an issue in the coming campaign. They point out that no credit is given to Senator Underwood by Republican spellbinders and office holders for the part he had in the work of the conference, and it is emphasized that without Mr. Underwood's support the Four-Power Treaty would have been rejected.

Democrats point out that the fate of the Four-Power Treaty for weeks prior to the final vote was a matter that even the Republicans privately admitted rested in the hands of a single Senator, and that man was the leader of the minority. They also point out that when Senator Borah raised the question of the Cravath speech in the Senate it was Underwood, and not Lodge, who met and disposed of that assault.

It was near the close of the debate on the naval limitation treaty when Senator Harrison gained recognition and proceeded to voice the resentment of the minority over what he described as the organized effort to make the conference a political issue in the Congressional campaign.

"We have been thinking," said Senator Harrison, "that politics was not involved in the discussion of these treaties or the work of the Washington conference. I suppose no conference was ever held so free of politics as was this one. While a Republican President called it and three of the delegates were members of the Republican Party, so far as I have ever heard politics did not creep into it.

"This being true, it is a matter of regret that certain Republicans high in the councils of their party, one holding the second highest official position in the Government, have seen fit so early to claim the work of the conference as a great Republican achievement. The Chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, whether he employed the words or not, conveyed that meaning, and the Vice President, in his speech on Sunday, which was reported throughout the country, claimed it in the first paragraph as a great administrative achievement.

"When gentlemen go out on the hustings from now until Election Day, proclaiming these treaties as a great achievement of the present Administration, I would have those who hear them proclaim that doctrine recall the facts which prompted the convening of the conference. I would have them remember that when other treaties were before this body the debate was strung out for days, for weeks, into months and into more than a year before final action was taken. Nothing like this has developed in the discussion of these compacts."

Senator Harrison said that the Four-Power Treaty would have been ratified almost unanimously had the majority accepted what he described as reasonable reservations intended to clarify it. The fact that politics had not entered into the treaty debate, he added, was proved by the attitude of Senators toward the other treaties.

VETERANS GET MEDALS.

Honors Conferred by Foreign Governments Bestowed Here.

Medals from foreign Governments for valorous and meritorious service in the war were bestowed upon veterans at Governors Island yesterday by Major Gen. Robert Lee Bullard. Two of the men perished in their exploits, so the medals were received by relatives.

Mrs. Dudley Turner Hastings of Garden City, L. I., accepted a Portuguese medal, awarded in memory of her brother, Lieutenant William Bradford Turner of the 105th Infantry, Twenty-seventh Division. She appeared with living veterans to receive the medals awarded by Portugal to all veterans of the Twenty-seventh and Thirtieth Divisions who had received the Medal of Honor from this country. Lieutenant Turner died in accomplishing his feat of rushing through four German lines. He and four of his men were killed in the fourth-line trenches.

Thomas O'Shea of 140 Cedar Street received the Portuguese War Cross in memory of his son, Corporal Thomas D. O'Shea, of the Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry, who, with his comrades, left the protection of a shellhole to save the lives of officers and men in a disabled tank. Sergeant A. L. Eggers, who was also in this detachment, received his medal in person.

Paxton Hibben, Secretary of the American Committee for the Relief of Russian Children, received a Japanese medal awarded to him sixteen years ago for his services on behalf of Japanese prisoners while he was Secretary of the American Embassy in Russia. His decoration is that of the Japanese Order of the Sacred Treasure. During the war Mr. Hibben was a Captain in the 332d Field Artillery.

The War Cross awarded by Czechoslovakia was received by Major Seaman M. Craiger, in recognition of his services while he was with the Allies' Supplies Mission in Trieste. Major Craiger is a member of the Finance Reserve Corps and is now with W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc.

CHIROPRACTORS MAKE PLEA

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 29.—At a hearing today before the Governor of the Bloomfield-Lattin bill, which amends the public health law in relation to the practice of medicine, chiropractors charged that the enactment would wipe them out of existence in this State.

In the course of the hearing, which was attended by threescore of chiropractors from all parts of the State, the Governor said that it appeared to him that the measure was aimed entirely at chiropractors. He intimated several times that he thought the fines and penalties prescribed in the bill were too severe.

Senator Gibbs of Buffalo asserted that the bill was passed by subterfuge. He said that there were enough votes in the Senate on the day the bill was passed to have defeated it, had not the statement been made on the floor that the measure was not aimed at chiropractors.

Dr. Willard Carver of New York City, in opposing the bill, said that its enactment would drive out of business between 1,200 and 1,500 chiropractors in the State. "We want to be regulated, but not prohibited," he said. "This bill is an effort to wipe us out of existence, nothing else."

In urging the Governor to sign the bill, George W. Whiteside, counsel to the State Medical Society, said that he knew of one man in New York City who was a chiropractor at night and a baggage smasher in the Grand Central Terminal during the day.

COTTON INQUIRY APPROVED.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The Senate adopted today a resolution introduced by Senator Dial of South Carolina, which directs an investigation of the Cotton Exchanges in New York, New Orleans and other cities by the Federal Trade Commission.

The resolution has for its main purpose an investigation to determine the cause of the present depressed price of cotton. The commission is called upon to ascertain data especially touching upon the operations, methods and plans of the exchanges and to get such information as will show whether such plans as are now followed are fair and equitable or prejudicial to the cotton grower.

MEXICO TAX DECREE BETTERS RELATIONS

OTHER NEGOTIATIONS GO ON

Administration Now Distinguishes Between 'Procedure' and 'Principle' in Recognizing Obregon.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Secretary Hughes announced today that the Mexican Government had yielded to representations from the American Government and issued a decree relieving owners of mining property from payment of penalties arising from failure to pay taxes on property during recently disturbed conditions in Mexico. At the same time it was admitted at the State Department that conversations between George E. Summerlin, Charge d'Affaires at Mexico City, and Albert O. Pani, Mexican Minister of Foreign Relations, were proceeding steadily, although developments as yet have not been such as to warrant any announcement as to the exact status of the negotiations.

The formal decree of the Mexican Government relieving owners of property from tax delinquency penalties was issued by the Obregon Government on March 10, but formal announcement of that fact was not made until today, when it came in conjunction with statements to the effect that conversations are "going on all the time" at Mexico City.

Despite the apparent unwillingness of Administration officials to commit themselves with respect to the probability of recognition being extended Mexico in the immediate future, there is a growing feeling among close observers of the Mexican situation that the way is being diplomatically paved for important action of some sort for improvement in the relations between the two countries. It is possible the announcement authorized by the State Department today has a bearing on the main situation, and it was generally interpreted as meaning that, as a result of exchanges of views, the representatives of the two nations may be getting closer together.

"For some time past," said the announcement authorized by Secretary Hughes, "the Department of State has been informally endeavoring to bring about the issuance by the Mexican authorities of a decree relieving owners of mining property from the payment of penalties arising out of failure to pay taxes on such properties during recently disturbed conditions in Mexico. A decree published March 10, 1922, by the Mexican Government is intended to grant such relief.

"The decree provides that the penalties in question shall be remitted if the property owners shall pay before July 1, 1922, the taxes assessed for the year 1921, and the first eight months of 1922, and further provides that such payments may be made in instalments corresponding to the amount due for a four-month period, and on dates selected by the owners.

"The decree also provides that this relief shall be extended to the owners of property whose title thereto has lapsed under Mexican law because of non-payment of taxes, provided the properties shall not have been redenounced either in whole or in part.

"It is further provided that the owners of mines who have failed to pay taxes due previous to 1921, may, provided they make the payments for 1921 and the first eight months of 1922, pay arrearages prior to 1921 in as many instalments as there are four-month periods in arrears.

"Provision is made for the receipt of the payments referred to by the Principal Stamp Administrators, and it is provided that the owners who have availed themselves of exemptions from surtaxes granted by previous laws and decrees shall continue paying their indebtedness in accordance with the terms of such laws and decrees."

Mr. Hughes likewise made public an official translation of the full text of the Obregon decree of March 10.

Several plans for resuming diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States have been under consideration, it is understood, while the Government would be pleased to obtain a solution of the existing conditions between this Government and Mexico, recognition of Mexico must follow some kind of definite understanding on fundamental matters.

In an official quarter, it was asserted that matters of mere "procedure" were one thing, while those of "principle" in Mexican-American relations were quite another. A high official said today this country is merely asking that any property validly acquired by Americans, under laws enacted by the Mexican Government, is not to be taken away from Americans or confiscated, and that all legitimate American rights in Mexico be fully protected. The stand of the United States Government is taken with no thought of reflecting either upon General Obregon personally or his Government. President Harding and Secretary Hughes believe that what they are insisting upon is justified by all the circumstances of the case.

Reference by American officials to matters of "procedure" being as vital than those of "principle" in their formal comment today, was interpreted, as a direct answer to statements that acceptance of the treaty of amity and commerce, as proposed by this Government last June, would be insisted upon as the only possible means of bringing about a resumption of full diplomatic relations with Mexico. Alternative plans have been under informal consideration, but their character has not been disclosed. Some months ago the Obregon Government, it will be recalled, proposed that the United States name a representative for the international claims commission to handle outstanding claims against Mexico; but this invitation has never been accepted.

SIGNS MARRIAGE BILL.

Governor Also Approves Measure Disqualifying Alien School Teachers.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 29.—Governor Miller signed today the Cotillo bill, which provides that the State Superintendent of Insurance may revoke the license of an insurance agent for the violation of any law of if the agent has made material misstatements in his application for a license or has shown his incompetency to do business.

The Governor also signed the Swift bill, providing that marriage by a person under 18 shall not constitute absolute right of annulment. Under this law annulment is left to the discretion of the court.

Another bill to which he affixed his signature was that providing that all school te

Mr. and Mrs. David Banks of 1,155 Park Avenue announced last evening the engagement of their daughter, Miss Cecelia Kip Banks, to William Wakeman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Wakeman of 68 West Fifty-second Street. The announcement was made at a dinner Mrs. Banks gave for her daughter.

Miss Banks made her début last December with her sister, Miss Constance Hatch Banks. She is a direct descendant of Hendrik Kip and is a graduate of the Spence School.

Mr. Wakeman is a direct descendant of Philip Livingston, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and a nephew of the Secretary of the Society of the Cincinnati, and attended Columbia.

Cameron—Ludington.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Guyot Cameron of Princeton, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Constance Guyot Cameron, to Townsend Ludington, a son of Charles H. Ludington and Mrs. Ludington of Ardmore, Pa. Miss Cameron is at Bryn Mawr and will be graduated in June. She is a granddaughter of the Rev. Professor Clay Cameron, D.D., who was for more than fifty years a member of the Princeton Faculty, and she is a great-granddaughter of Arnold Guyot, for whom Guyot Hall was named. On her mother's side she is related to the fifth President of Princeton, Dr. Finley, and on her father's side to Simon and J. Donald Cameron, Secretaries of War and members of the Senate for a period of thirty years.

Mr. Ludington is a direct descendant of the Rev. Moses Noyes, one of the ten founders of Yale, and also of Governor Coddington of Rhode Island. He is to be graduated in June from Yale, where he is finishing his college course, which was interrupted by his war work, when as ensign he had charge of the School for Naval Aviation Quartermasters at San Diego, Cal. His father is Vice President of the Curtis Publishing Company. Through his mother, he is connected with the de Forest, Sanford and Baltus families.

FREDERICK BROOKS WED TO MRS. LOUISE SPROUL

The marriage of Frederick Brooks, the director of Brooks Brothers, and Mrs. Louise Beggs Sproul, a daughter of Mrs. Carter Curtis Beggs, took place quietly yesterday at the bride's residence, 755 Park Avenue. The Rev. Dr. Courtney of St. Nicholas Collegiate Church performed the ceremony in the presence of the families only, and a few relatives and close friends came in afterward to the informal reception. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks have gone South, and on their return will live in Mr. Brooks's apartment at 400 Park Avenue.

Herrmann—Lauer.

Henry Herrman of 307 West Seventy-ninth Street and Miss Marie I. Lauer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lauer of 37 East Seventy-second Street, were married yesterday at the St. Regis. Rev. Dr. Nathan Krass officiating.

Black—May.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The marriage of Miss Isabelle May, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Henry May of this city, to Harry S. Black of New York took place late this afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, 1335 K Street. Only a family party witnessed the ceremony, at which Mgr. Thomas S. Lee of St. Matthew's Church officiated.

TWO LONDON WEDDINGS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 29.—Lord Victor Paget and the Hon. Bridget Colebrooke, daughter of Lord and Lady Colebrooke, were married today quietly at the Registry Office.

Another quiet wedding today was that of Sir Neville Arthur Pearson, son of Sir Arthur Pearson, whose work for the blind made his name honored throughout the world, and Miss Mary Mond, daughter of Sir Alfred Mond, Minister of Health. This wedding took place at Holy Trinity Church. Owing to the recent death of the bridegroom's father, there was no reception.

Lord Paget is the brother and heir presumptive to the Marquess of Anglesey. His first wife was Miss Olive May, a Gaiety actress who divorced him in 1921 and received the custody of their two children. He is a brother of the Countess of Pembroke. He is 33 years old and his bride is 29. She is a niece of Lord Queenborough, who married Miss Edith Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Starr Miller of this city.

Sir Neville A. Pearson's engagement to Miss Mond was announced some time ago. Sir Neville visited this country during the Winter of 1919, when he came with his father, who was here to promote the re-education of blind soldiers. He served on the Western front during the war and was wounded at Vimy Ridge.

Jones-Mueller Wedding Plans.

Plans have been completed for the wedding of Miss Felicia Charlotte Mueller, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Mueller of Villa Anna, Bronxville, N. Y., and Lieutenant Henry Chester Jones of the Thirteenth Infantry at Fort Andrews, Boston Harbor, Mass., a son of Lieut. Col. Frederick M. Jones and Mrs. Jones of St. Louis, Mo., which is to take place on Saturday, April 8, at 4 P. M. at the home of the bride. The Rev. Dr. Eliot White will perform the ceremony.

DINNER FOR H. S. HOUSTON.

Former Presidents Taft and Wilson Send Felicitations.

A dinner to Herbert S. Houston, publisher, as a testimonial to his public services and in recognition of the start of his new monthly magazine, Our World, was held last night at the Hotel Commodore. Dr. Talcott Williams presided, and about 70 persons were there. Letters of praise were read from Woodrow Wilson, Chief Justice Taft and A. Lawrence Lowell, President of Harvard. Former President Wilson wrote:

"I have no doubt that you will work out the admirable purpose you have in mind in a way to command the universal attention and exercise very wide influence. I with all my heart bid you godspeed in the enterprise and shall hope that the magazine become one of the chief instruments for rousing our people to a realization of their true moral relations to the rest of the world."

BILLBOARDS ROUSE AN ARTIST'S WRATH

Joseph Pennell Denounces Unsightly Outdoors Advertising—Interrupted at Meeting.

Joseph Pennell, the artist, attacked billboards in a meeting in the Town Hall last night called by the Municipal Art Society to discuss what should be done to limit outdoor poster advertising. The suggestion was made that they be taxed, but this was opposed by some speakers, who said that taxation would legalize them and that the boards should be put out of business altogether.

The meeting developed considerable feeling between the artists and the representatives of the billboard advertisers. Pennell was frequently interrupted and he interrupted in turn.

"Outdoor advertisers are stealing the beauty of the country to fill their pockets, and you haven't got courage enough to stop it," said Mr. Pennell. "On each side of Fifth Avenue are palaces of captains of industry who, when they look out of the window, are told what they are to eat, drink and smoke, and they haven't the courage to stop it. There is no difference between them and the poor east side mongrel who is ruining this country."

"Dirty beasts who ruin everything they can put their hands on," was another of Mr. Pennell's comments. "There are plenty of laws to stop it, but you haven't the courage to put them in force."

After he had spoken at Chicago University on the subject, Mr. Pennell said Cusack & Co. had written a letter to President Judson of the university calling his attention to the fact that one of the advertisers whom Mr. Pennell had attacked was the Standard Oil Company, "and if you know anything about Chicago University, you can get the connection," Mr. Pennell said. "Contemptible curs," was his reference to this incident.

E. Allen Frost, representing the outdoor advertisers, admitted that the abuse of advertising was detrimental to advertisers and said that they wanted to stop it.

Albert S. Bard, who represented the citizens, according to the announcement of Joseph Howland Hunt, President of the society, was the next speaker.

"The outdoor advertiser in New York is a bad citizen," he said. "He takes the city which the citizen is trying to beautify and skims dollars out of it. I ask if any man is a public-spirited and patriotic citizen who gets out to make himself rich by spoiling his city."

Andrew W. Crawford of Philadelphia said that billboards made hiding places for loiterers and criminals.

Top Price at Carey Collection Sale for 'New York From the Bay,' 1836.

One of the most decorative and scarce contemporary New York prints, "New York from the Bay," near Bedloe's Island, 1836, brought the highest price at the first session of the sale of the Carey collection at the Anderson Galleries last evening, going to Kennedy & Co., for $830. This was an aquatint, painted by J. G. Chapman, published by Henry I. Megarey, New York, and engraved by J. W. Bennett. It was No. 66 in the catalog.

No. 67, "A View of New York Quarantine, Staten Island, 1833," aquatint in colors, painted and engraved by W. J. Bennett, very rare, sold to J. T. Coolidge for $220. No. 76, one of a lot of marine and naval paintings, "American Ship 'America,'" 3d, by Michele Felice Corne, American, 1799, went to H. Bernard for $200, and No. 75, "Privateer "'America,'" 4th, by J. Lufs, American, 1812, went to the same buyer for $125. This was an exceptionally fine example of early American marine portraiture.

No. 133, the first of a lot of ship models, a bone model made by an American prisoner of war at Dartmouth about 1780, 27 inches long, sold to M. Shaw for $750. No. 135, United State frigate Congress, 27 inches long, full-rigged, figurehead, full-length admiral, was bought by Mrs. H. Wolff for $230; No. 138, the United States frigate Macedonian, 1814, fully rigged, with sails complete, went to Franklin D. Roosevelt for $810, and No. 154 went to the same buyer for $725. This was the American clipper ship Surprise of New York, 1850, with a hull of polished mahogany, mast and spars of the same, finely rigged and complete in every respect, length 20 inches.

No. 148, American Ship Navigator, of Newburyport, Mass., 1836, 17 inches long, fully rigged with complete deck impedimenta and figures of seaman on the decks and in the rigging, sold to S. Tyson Jr. for $240 and No. 149, United States Frigate Raritan, 1842, 38 inches long, mounting fifty bronze cannon, enclosed in glass case, sold to John Door for $310. The returns for the 164 numbers was $15,020.

The sale will be concluded in two sessions, afternoon and evening, today, the afternoon session opening with old samplers and with porcelain, pewter and plate and old glass, silhouettes, &c. and Colonial furniture selling in the evening.

Historic Flag Drapes Veterans' Bier.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 29.—At the funeral of Howard Waldo, Civil War veteran, near here today the flag which was draped about the bier was the same that had been displayed by Waldo in New York City during ceremonies connected with the death of President Lincoln. Waldo was born in New York in 1838.

STAGE PRODUCERS ACCEPT JURY PLAN

COMMITTEE TO CO-OPERATE

Will Help Put Finishing Touches on the Proposal for Barring All Evil Plays.

The voluntary jury system, by which it is hoped to eliminate objectionable theatrical productions and forestall a statutory censorship of the drama, practically was assured yesterday afternoon when the Producing Managers' Association ratified the plan at a meeting at their headquarters, 231 West Forty-fifth Street. The managers were the last group represented on the joint committee of playwrights, producers, actors and vice-crusaders, to approve the scheme. Formal announcement of the action taken by the managers reads:

"At a meeting of the Producing Managers' Association held Wednesday a resolution was passed placing the association on record as being in favor of the proposed public jury plan of passing upon alleged objectionable plays as opposed to official censorship, and a committee was appointed to act with the Authors' League, Actors' Equity Association, Drama League and the Better Public Shows Movement."

The managers' committee which will collaborate with the other groups in adding the finishing touches to the plan before it is submitted, at the request of Mayor Hylan, to Commissioner of Licenses John F. Gilchrist for possible emendation, will be composed of Arthur Hopkins, Gilbert Miller, George Taylor, J. P. Pickerton Jr. and John Golden.

It is probable that Police Commissioner Enright also will be invited to study the plans for the voluntary jury system worked out by the theatrical groups and the reformers and suggest modifications to make the system more effective.

The Shuberts were not included among the advocates of the voluntary jury system when it was first proposed. Neither was A. H. Woods, who publicly announced that he would welcome a public censorship like that created for the motion pictures by the State Legislature. Mr. Woods was absent from the meeting yesterday, but Lee Shubert was there, and it was said his views were changed somewhat by the discussion of different phases of the proposal.

"We are desirous of co-operating with the public in any movement to make a political censorship unnecessary," said Sam Harris, President of the Producing Managers' Association, who presided at the meeting. "Of course, there has been some difference of opinion among the managers as to the wisdom of the voluntary jury system, but the situation was entirely cleared up this afternoon when we were able to discuss the subject from different angles. We shall co-operate in giving the jury system a fair trial, and we hope that the results will prove acceptable to both the public and the theatre."

Notice of the action by the managers will be given today to Owen Davis, Chairman of the Joint Committee, who is expected to call a meeting within a few days finally to shape the plans of the voluntary jury system before they are submitted to Mr. Gilchrist.

The producing managers announced that a committee representing their organization would be appointed today to go to Albany to support the bills providing for the control of ticket speculation.

WHY HE NAMED A NEGRO.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Statements that his appointment of the negro boy Emil Treville Holley to the Naval Academy was the fulfillment of a campaign pledge were denied today by Representative Martin C. Ansorge of New York City. He said he never made such a pledge and that nobody requested or dictated the appointment.

"I did it on my own responsibility," asserted Representative Ansorge, "in recognition of the patriotism and valor of the 500,000 colored boys in the military and naval service of the United States in the World War. I did it in recognition of the principle of square deal and equal opportunity advocated by President Harding in his Birmingham, Ala., speech.

"I distributed my appointments through the district," he continued. "There were four vacancies. Every boy who applied received an appointment as principal or alternate. The large colored population in one section of my district was entitled to one of these appointments as a matter of simple justice and equal representation. Holley is physically and mentally qualified, bears a fine reputation in the community, is a high school graduate and a freshman at the College of the City of New York. He is popular among his white classmates. He is tactful and will not make himself obnoxious.

"Harvard and other large institutions make no discrimination. Some of our best college athletes have been colored. West Point has produced three colored cadets, and one of them became a full-fledged Colonel.

"No one has a higher respect for Annapolis than have I, but it is supported at Government expense as an educational, not a social, institution. No one should be barred because of race, creed or color. I shall stand behind Holley and see that he gets a square deal."

Otto Wicke.

Otto Wicke, President of the Otto Wicke Company, manufacturing chemists, and the organizer of a chain of more than twenty-six drug stores in Brooklyn, died yesterday at his home at Howard Beach, L. I., in his 57th year. Mr. Wicke was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, and was a graduate of the School of Pharmacy of the University of Copenhagen. He settled in Brooklyn in 1895, where he became active in Democratic politics, and in 1897 was elected to the Assembly from the Twentieth Assembly District. When the Bull Moose Party was formed he bolted the Democratic organization and organized Bull Moose headquarters in several parts of the Eastern District of Brooklyn. He was a member of Schiller Lodge, No. 304, F. and A. M.

Walter Jones Seriously Ill.

Walter Jones, the comedian, is ill at Roosevelt Hospital, where he was taken on Tuesday. The nature of his illness could not be learned last night, but it was said at the hospital that his condition was serious though not critical. He had been acting this week at the Bronx Opera House in "Getting Gertie's Garter."

The will of Louis V. De Foe, for many years dramatic critic on The World, who died March 13, gives the bulk of his estate to his widow, Ethelyn B. De Foe, of 350 West Eighty-eighth Street; $1,000 to his niece, Elizabeth De Foe, and his gold watch to his friend, Henry Brewer of Montclair, N. J. He gives other mementos to friends. The estate is estimated at more than $10,000.

Ludlow Estate $240,459.

An appraisal of the estate of James B. Ludlow, of Yonkers, a descendant from one of the oldest families in New York State, was made public yesterday. It placed the value at $240,459. This is much lower than the amount at which friends had estimated Mr. Ludlow's fortune.

Railroad Crossing Tender Sends In Third Gift—Old Friends' Club Raises $227.

Judge Martin T. Manton, Chairman of the New York State Founders' Committee of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, announced yesterday that Will H. Hays had accepted membership on a moving picture industry committee which is helping to raise $1,000,000 to be used in establishing a series of annual prizes as a tribute to the ideals of Woodrow Wilson.

In making the announcement, Judge Manton pointed out that the acceptance of Mr. Hays showed the non-partisan character of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, because Mr. Hays was Chairman of the Republican National Committee and active in Republican politics for many years. Another member of the committee with Mr. Hays is E. J. Ludvigh of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

A railroad crossing tender yesterday sent his third contribution of $1 to the fund and wrote that he had framed the certificate showing that he was a "founder" of the Foundation. A contribution of $227 was received from the "Old Friends' Club of New York and Their Friends" and $100 from Edmund L. Mooney. Other contributions were:

SAGE HOMES STOCK SOLD TO SYNDICATE

Majority of Members of Syndicate Are Residents of Forest Hills Gardens.

The Russell Sage Foundation has sold all the stock of the Sage Foundation Homes Company to a syndicate organized by John M. Demarest, Vice President and General Manager of the Homes Company. A large majority of the members of the syndicate are residents or lot owners in the Forest Hills Gardens development at Forest Hills.

Announcing the sale of the stock and the retirement of the Sage interests from the property, Robert W. De Forest, President of the Russell Sage Foundation, said last evening: "The Sage Foundation as a result of this sale of stock has carried out its intention of ultimately turning over the future management and future development of this property to residents of Forest Hills Gardens and to those who presumably are most likely to continue its development and management along the lines of its original organization."

The Foundation is of the opinion that its chief purposes in organizing and developing Forest Hills Gardens have been accomplished. These purposes were to provide more healthful and attractive homes for many people and to demonstrate that careful city planning, convenient thoroughfares, quiet, domestic local streets and ample public spaces would make a satisfactory suburban development and encourage imitation.

"John M. Demarest has been General Manager of the Forest Hills Gardens since 1911. No one is in better position to continue the development of the property along the general lines than is he. None are probably more interested in doing this than those whom he has associated with himself in this project.

"This sale in no respect changes the legal relation of property owners in Forest Hills Gardens to the Homes Company. These relations remain just what they always have been. It means nothing more than a change in the stock ownership of the Homes Company and transfers that stock from the Sage Foundation to Mr. Demarest and his associates.

"All the covenants in the deeds given by the Homes Company to purchasers continue to be effective, just as they always have been.

PSYCHO-PLASTIC ART KICKS OUT REALITY

Brush Makers Also Are Apt to Shudder at the Independents' New School.

The art of the psycho-plastic, the art that is and yet isn't, that offends not, no matter how awful it may be, has been found in the most recent horrible examples at the exhibition of the Independent Artists. Several names for this are have been suggested, such as psychographic and psychopathic, but psychoplastic was finally decided upon because it means so much. The psychographs are divided into two classes, the invisibilists and the visibilists, and if one must say it some of the best work is contained in the frames of the invisibilists.

As the eye wanders around the walls of the exhibition it lights frequently upon little blank spaces bearing such titles as the "Humming Bird at Humming," and the "Heart Throbs in a Tea Pot." They are pregnant with fulfilled vision, these little blank spaces, for they have no trammels of technique, they are Einsteinian art in the fourth dimension. To say it in the words of an expert who explained yesterday the meaning of the psycho-plastics:

"The art of the invisibilists is an ultra-dimensional, temporal-spatial art, appealing not to separate sense organs but to the residue of undifferentiated sensitivity, that is to say, their art is synaesthetic."

After that anything is clear. They are like the internal realists, who are a branch of the psycho-plastics. Almost anything may happen in a picture of the internal realists without offending Dr. Straton.

"The picture of the internal realists," went on the expert, "have been purified of all the cluttering symbols of actuality, and hence the mind of the beholder is liberated so that he may indulge in the unalloyed pleasure of contemplation. In the 'Nude Shopgirls in Jazz Organization' and in 'Still Life at Bay,' all the petty details of actuality have been dispensed with and the subject presented in such a way that even a blue law parson may get all the thrill that the titles suggest without having to blush the next time he faces his congregation. Internal realism protects the public from the impure emotions which may be aroused in their bosoms by the debasing brutality of such brute facts as the nude human figure."

But it may be said that, however promising internal realism may be, there is enough external realism in the Independents' show to provide thrills for a large crowd. One can dash by these pictures with averted eye, of course, and gaze at a work of the invisibilists without a shudder. It may suggest a clam at sunset or a welsh rabbit in anger, or even a mountain top during an earthquake to three different persons, and all of them are right. The internal picture of a salad dressing looks like a Yale banner with three cheers breaking out upon it in the form of Russian dressing. As for the "Undraped Picture of an Auto Wreck," there are things in that which simply defy description, and only as art unfolds itself under the guiding finger of the expert does the inner symbolism of the thing break upon the mind. It is a most thorough wreck.

SAUSAGE AND ONIONS FOR MARSHAL JOFFRE

SEATTLE, Wash., March 29.—The palate of Marshal Joffre, jaded by the rich foods of scores of banquets, is to be tickled tomorrow with his favorite food, sausage, green onions, lettuce and carrots. Mme. Joffre will see to that herself.

Accompanied by her daughter, Mme. Joffre today went shopping to provide material for the dinner. Incognito, she visited a market, stood in line for a market basket and then made the round of the stalls. In half an hour the basket was filled and the dinner assured.

Mme. Joffre and daughter preceded the Marshal to Seattle after his arrival at Victoria, B. C., on Monday. He will arrive here tomorrow night after attending ceremonies at the International Peace Portal at Blaine, Wash.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 29.—Marshal Joffre planted a tree today in honor of British Columbia's war dead, reviewed hundreds of school children and unveiled a tablet to the city's fallen soldiers at the First Presbyterian Church.

COURT CLOSES MAINE BANK.

Enjoins Belfast Savings Institution From Doing Business.

AUGUSTA, Me., March 29.—A temporary order restraining the Belfast Savings Bank from doing business was issued today by Chief Justice Leslie C. Cornish of the Supreme Court, on application of the Trustees of the bank and Bank Commissioner Fred F. Lawrence.

The petition said it was inexpedient, on account of the impaired earning capacity of the bank and its inability to pay satisfactory dividends to its depositors to continue business. A hearing on the petition will be held before Chief Justice Cornish here on April 14.

The bank was incorporated sixty-five years ago. Its deposits are approximately $1,900,000. James H. Howes is the President.

Commissioner Lawrence said that under certain favorable conditions there was reason to believe the ultimate loss to depositors would be small.

"Conditions which led to the closing of the bank," he said, "were peculiar to that institution, no nother bank being in any way affected.

THREE SUFFOCATE IN CAR.

Young Men on the Way to Canada Are Found Asphyxiated.

TRENTON, Mo., March 29.—Three young men were found asphyxiated in a freight car here today. One of the bodies was identified as that of George Cooke, 25 years old. A letter in his pocket indicated that he was enroute to Toronto, Canada, because of the death there of his sister and the illness of his mother. The car was consigned to Canada.

Another man carried a card inscribed George Joseph Robert Hummel, 22, born in Cambridge, Mass. The third body, that of a youth about 20, bore nothing to disclose its identity.

RADIO CONCERTS FOR TRAIN

Lackawanna Arranges Test for Entertainment of Passengers.

SYRACUSE, March 29.—Passengers on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western will while away the hours of a tedious railroad journey listening to radio concerts or perhaps talking to the folks at home, if tests to be conducted April 5 on one of the road's fastest trains are successful.

The Lackawanna will install a radio receiving set on the Cornell special which will leave Ithaca at 12:33 P. M. April 5. It is hoped to be able to pick up the concerts broadcast from Newark, Pittsburgh and Schenectady. If the test is successful, road officials say that they will install sets on all the better trains between New York and Buffalo.

To Protect the Service and the Rights of Investors

FOR the first time since the New York Telephone Company has been under Public Service Commission regulation it has applied to the Courts for relief from an order of the Commission affecting rates for telephone service.

Application has been made to the United States District Court for an injunction to restrain the Commission from enforcing its order of March 3, 1922, establishing new rates effective April 1, 1922.

We have taken this action reluctantly and only because we believe it necessary so as to protect the interests of our investors and those of the public we serve.

Existing rates for service will remain unchanged pending a determination by the Court of the company's rights. Bills for service have been made out at present rates and are payable at the regular time. Information as to any change in rates will be given to the public as promptly as possible.

The rates ordered by the Commission, in our judgment, are confiscatory. They would save the average telephone user about a cent a day, but in the aggregate, would reduce our revenues to a point that would seriously affect the conduct of the business.

It is our legal obligation to furnish comprehensive telephone service of a high quality to the public. We can not meet this obligation unless our earnings are sufficient not only to pay necessary operating expenses but also to provide a fair return upon the value of the property actually used in the public service. Unless the company's earnings are at all times fair and reasonable, it will be unable to attract the new capital which is required by it continually for new construction and the expansion of the telephone system.

Continued shortage of revenue would mean deterioration of the service and stoppage of expansion, and the public would be the principal sufferers.

LINCOLN
MOTOR CARS

It may be true that the LINCOLN does not offer a strong appeal where low first cost is most important, or to motorists who are satisfied with mere transportation from place to place.

But its appeal is overwhelming to those who know that true economy is net economy as measured over a period of years.

And its appeal is irresistible to those who are not content to motor except in the easiest, most fascinating, and in an unfatiguing way.

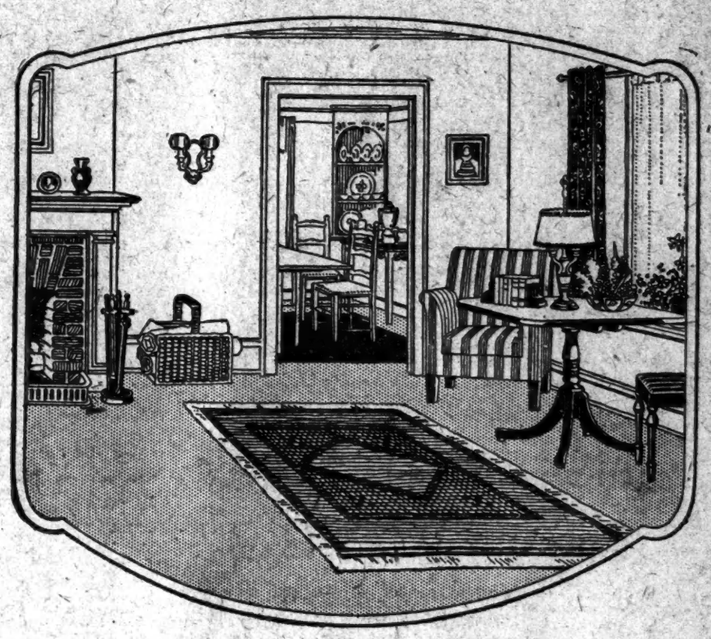
Armstrong's Linoleum

for Every Floor in the House



Her neighbors were surprised

They did not know such a floor as this was possible

THEY had linoleum in their kitchens, tacked down. But here was a floor made with a kind of linoleum they had never seen—not tacked down, but cemented down firmly over builders' deadening felt.

It was quiet and restful to the tread. Firm but not hard. Easy to clean, and in color harmony with the furniture and decorations. It made a perfect setting for the rugs. It looked more like a real floor than any floor they had ever seen.

People who have seen modern linoleum floors laid in the proper way have a new idea of linoleum and a new idea of beauty, durability, economy and comfort in floor-making.

We have a little booklet, "Decorative Linoleum Floors," containing twenty-four colorplates, showing Jaspés, carpet inlaids, parquetry inlaids, marble tiles, printed designs, etc. This booklet will be sent free on request. You can take it to a store and show the merchant exactly what you want to see. Any store will give you estimates of the cost of Armstrong's Linoleum put down in your home.

WAGE NEGOTIATIONS WITH ENGINEERS OFF

CASE GOES TO LABOR BOARD

Hearing for All Railroads Set to Follow Present One About April 15.

RUMOR OF A SPLIT REVIVED

Conductors and Trainmen Are Still Conferring With Roads, Hoping for Agreement.

CHICAGO, March 29 (Associated Press).—Complete failure of the regional negotiations between railroad managements and the Engineers' and Firemen's Brotherhoods in an effort to settle disputes over wages and working conditions was revealed today when the Railroad Labor Board set a hearing for disputes involving engineers' and firemen's rules on all railroads to follow the present wage hearing, which is expected to end by April 15.

The announcement was said by railroad men to lend confirmation to reports of the split between engineers and firemen and the Conductors' and Trainmen's Brotherhoods. Conferences between the two latter organizations and the railroads were still in progress, with prospects, they added, of an agreement.

Attempts to reach a new wage agreement and to settle controversies over working rules were made in three regional conferences which began the middle of last month. With the announced desire to avoid carrying their troubles to the Labor Board, the Big Four brotherhoods, which have for years acted with a solid front, requested Secretary Hoover to call the railroads and brotherhood heads together to attempt a settlement. Plans for regional conferences with the Eastern roads in New York, the Southeastern roads in Washington and the Western roads in Chicago resulted.

Meanwhile the Labor Board held in abeyance the train service men's disputes over rules for settlement. The four brotherhoods were likewise excluded from the present wage hearing because of the board's promise at the time of the threatened strike last Fall to settle all rule controversies before acting on further wage cuts proposed by the carriers.

During the negotiations Warren S. Stone, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and W. S. Carter, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, went into conference alone with a committee of Eastern railroad officials. W. E. Sheppard, President of the Order of Railway Conductors, and W. G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, were left to hold separate conferences with the roads.

Successive meetings failed of agreement, the roads asking abolition of time and one-half pay after eight hours' work in yard and freight service, and the engineers' and firemen's leaders demanding its retention. The time and one-half proposition was put into effect by order of the Federal Railroad Administration during the war and was continued by the Labor Board until the controversy should be heard and a decision rendered. It was reported that the roads offered to compromise on an agreement not to seek further wage reductions for the engineers and firemen at present if they would agree to give up the overtime rule. The brotherhoods declined.

The regional conferences of the engineers and firemen having failed, however, the board received notices, signed jointly by the railroad and union committee heads, that it was impossible to reach an agreement and asking that the rules disputes again be taken up.

STRIKERS BATTER TRAIN.

Hold It Prisoner, With Locked-In Strikebreakers, at Hagerstown.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 29.—Battered by rocks, and with a number of strikebreakers locked in the baggage car, Train No. 5 of the Western Maryland Railroad was virtually held a prisoner until a late hour tonight by strikers of the railroad. The Sheriff of Washington County, Judge Wagaman of the Washington County Circuit Court, the Superintendent of the Hagerstown division of the railroad and the representatives of the Federated Shop Craft directing the strike went into conference to see what could be done to relieve the situation. An excited, unruly crowd surrounded the train.

When the train arrived, thirty-five minutes late, from Baltimore, it was immediately surrounded by the strikers as it stopped at one of the Hagerstown street crossings. The crowd began hammering on the door of the baggage car when it was found that strike-breakers were locked in there. Rocks were thrown and a window of the car broken. The crowd swelled to large proportions and a riot seemed imminent.

One of the strikers uncoupled the locomotive and when it started to run into the station the air hose broke. The crowd pushed in so tightly that it prevented efforts to recouple.

DOLLAR BUYS LESS NOW.

Labor Official Figures Its Buying Power Below 1914 Rate.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 29.—The dollar is worth 81 cents as a buying unit in Syracuse, as compared with $1 worth 100 cents in 1914, according to William King, Vice President of the Legislative Committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Mr. King has made a study of the purchasing power of the dollar for the railway trainmen and his findings are forwarded to the headquarters of the railway trainmen in Chicago. He finds that the transportation workers at $4.45 a day this year gets wages eight cents a day less in buying power than the worker in 1914 at $2.75 a day, according to the dollar ratio established.

Open Annual Fight on "Free Seeds."

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The annual fight over "free seeds" between the Senate and House opened today. By a vote of four to three, the Senate appropriations sub-committee today struck from the annual agricultural appropriation bill the House item of $360,000 for free distribution of seeds by members of Congress.

Rail Union Asks Harding To Abolish Labor Board

CHICAGO, March 29.—Protesting their indignation "at the unfair treatment" accorded their members by the United States Railroad Labor Board, the Eastern Federation of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes, today sent to the board a copy of a resolution to petition President Harding to immediately abolish the board.

The resolution declared it was "self-evident that recent decisions are unfair, unjust and contrary to the first principles of righteousness and fair play." It referred particularly to several clerks' decisions upholding the right of the roads to lay off its employes one day a week after reaching an agreement to do so with the employes. The employes contended before the board that their consent was gained by coercion.

The Eastern Federation represents about 85,000 employes on Eastern railroads and is the first organization to notify the board of such action.

VERDICT FOR WAITER WHOM UNION BARRED

ORGANIZATION IS ABSORBED

Former Healy Employe to Make Counter-Appeal in Effort to Punish Union.

Efforts of the Waiters' Union to dominate hotels and restaurants resulted yesterday in a judgment for $5,000 and costs being entered in the County Clerk's office in a case tried this week in the State Supreme Court.

The case, which grew out of a strike of the waiters in 1919, was brought by Michael J. Hegarty, formerly head waiter at Healy's, Columbus Avenue and Sixty-sixth Street, against Otto Wagner, as treasurer of the International Federation of Workers in the Hotel, Restaurant, Club and Catering Industry; Leon Loster, general organizer; John Haggerty, Richard Lucas and Sam Kremberg, walking delegates. Hegarty testified that he had been discharged by his employers because the union waiters threatened to strike and that he had been unable to obtain employment at any hotel or restaurant in the city because of the union.

According to the papers filed with the court, the union considered Hegarty obnoxious because as head waiter he discriminated against union men, and demanded that he resign. Hegarty said he was only attempting to protect his employer from dishonest waiters at the Healy restaurant.

Thomas Healy testified that, rather than face a strike of waiters, he had discharged Hegarty, although he was honest and faithful and had caused the discharge of pilfering waiters.

The case was bitterly fought before Supreme Court Justice McAvoy, who, in his charge to the jury, said they could find compensatory and punitive damages.

The jury returned its verdict of damages in fifteen minutes.

Justice McAvoy ruled that Wagner and the union could not be held responsible for the damages, which would have to be made up by the other four delegates, who have given notice of appeal.

Because of the Court's ruling, counsel for Hegarty said a counter-appeal would be taken, as it was the purpose of the plaintiff to see that the union was punished.

MORE MILLS CLOSED BY TEXTILE STRIKE

Pemberton Plant in Lawrence Forced to Shut Down and Others Seriously Crippled.

Special to The New York Times.

LAWRENCE, Mass., March 29.—The Pemberton mills closed down today because of the lack of employes. The plant usually has 700 workers. This closing and the entrance of hundreds of employes of the mills into the ranks of the strikers featured the third day of the local textile strike.

The Pacific mills stated today that 2,700 operatives remain in their plants, which employed 6,100. Virtually all of the 1,050 Acadia mills employes are out and the plant is on the verge of a shutdown.

The strike has been carried on so far in a quiet and orderly manner, and the police say they are determined to have it remain so.

BOSTON, March 29.—The Pacific Mills, in a statement today concerning conditions in the cotton industry, said it would have been impossible to continue operations in its Lawrence plant under the former standards, and that lower production costs were necessary, especially in view of higher cotton prices.

"We have tried to be fair to our workers," the statement said, "and have promised full time to those who work under reduced wages. They are receiving more than they received under the old rate with the curtailed hours."

The statement declared that the mills would not arbitrate the wage issue.

"Our minds are made up on that point," it said, "and if we cannot run on our present reduced basis we cannot run at all."

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 29.—Blackstone Valley textile strikers, who jammed every available foot of space in the gallery and choked the entrances to the floor of the Senate Chamber this afternoon, threw the Senate in a state of confusion which ended only when the leaders, seeing that Lieut.-Governor Harold J. Gross, the presiding officer, was unable to quiet them, induced them to leave the State House.

The strikers went to the capitol for a demonstration in favor of the Lavander 48-Hour bill, which has been in a Senate committee since its passage by the House two weeks ago today.

CATCH SAFE-CRACKING 'ACE'

Illinois Officers Arrest Gardner, Who Admits $100,000 Robbery.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Captured with six other men in a sensational round-up conducted today by Deputy Sheriffs of Franklin County, 300 miles south of Chicago, John Gardner, described by the police as "the ace of safe crackers," confessed that he directed the $100,000 robbery on Aug. 26, 1921, of the Security Trust and Deposit Company's vault in the basement of the Masonic Temple Building in Chicago.

His arrest was the culmination of a nation-wide search by Government authorities, private detectives and the police. He is said to have committed more than twenty-five bank and post office robberies. The specific charges on which he was being sought were a $42,000 bank robbery at Concord, Ga., and a $20,000 robbery at Chillicothe, a suburb of Peoria, Ill.

LONG DISPUTE AHEAD OVER MINE WAGES

Anthracite Leader Says Previous Conferences Always Have Succeeded.

Abandoning all hope of reaching an agreement in time to avert a suspension of work by the 150,000 anthracite mine workers next Saturday, the subscale committee of miners and operators yesterday settled down to a struggle over the nineteen demands for wage increases and better working conditions. The negotiations have resolved into a battle of statistics on the cost of living and wages, and promise to be long drawn out.

S. D. Warriner of Philadelphia, spokesman for the mine owners, indicated yesterday that the operators would demand a cut of at least 17 per cent. in mining rates.

The mine workers still hope to eventually reach an agreement. Philip Murray, Vice President of the United Mine Workers' point out that previous conferences had been successful and that there had been no general strike in the anthracite region for twenty years.

The negotiations will be resumed today at the Union League Club, but will be adjourned early Friday afternoon, according to Thomas Kennedy of Hazleton, Pa., chairman of the miners' scale committee, until next Monday, as the union officials and committeemen will return to their districts on Saturday to supervise the walkout.

John L. Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers, is due to arrive here tomorrow or Saturday to establish temporary headquarters.

500 Men to Fight Fires.

Responding to the appeal of the operators and city and county officials in Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, Pa., the union has exempted from the strike order nearly 500 men now engaged in fighting three great mine fires, which threaten heavy damage. Coal valued at millions has already been destroyed.

Preparations by the operators for the suspension are reported to be practically completed. New fences have been built around many of the collieries, and "No Trespassing" signs are ready to be posted. Although the suspension order calls for peaceful conduct on the part of the miners, the State police forces in the coal region are being reinforced, union officials assert.

Pointing out that one issue is the delaying the negotiations is the conflicting statement as to the labor cost of producing a ton of coal, Vice President Murray in a statement yesterday urged "an impartial and straightforward investigation of costs of production at the mines."

"If this should be made," he said, "we know that the labor costs would be a great deal smaller than those shown by the operators, and wages could be advanced and still prices reduced to the consumer."

The miners in asking for a 20 per cent. increase for contract miners and a $1 6-day rate for day laborers declared that a miner should receive an annual wage of $1,800 to live properly.

"We pointed out," said Mr. Murray, "that the cost of living has increased and is now 83 per cent. above the 1920 level, while wages have increased but 65 per cent. We also show that with the $1-a-day increase the day men will make a minimum of $5.20, which, with 270 working days, would give them an income of but $1,404 a year, while they should have at least $1,800."

Cost of Living Survey.

The National Industrial Conference Board, an organization representing the large employers' associations of the country, yesterday announced the result of a cost of living survey made in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania.

"This shows that the minimum cost of maintaining a fair American standard of living among anthracite mine workers' families, according to conditions actually prevailing," said the board's statement, "in February, 1922, varied from $897.34 a year for a family consisting of a man, woman and one child living in company-owned houses, to $1,475.45 a year for a similar family with four children in commercially owned houses. Single men paying for board and lodging, on the other hand, because the cost to their families is normally considerably greater than would be their proportional share of the cost in a family group, required $703.96 a year to live at a fair minimum American standard in the anthracite region in February, 1922. There were slight variations in these figures for the different sections of the anthracite coal fields, but the figures for the area as a whole are sufficiently representative of conditions generally prevailing."

It was pointed out that less than 10 per cent. of the miners lived in company-owned houses. The survey showed, it was said, that "since July, 1920, and February, 1922, the decrease in the cost of living for miners' families was 20.7 per cent. and for single workers 8.5 per cent.

Vice President Murray said the conference board report was fundamentally unsound and is put forward with the deliberate intention of misrepresenting conditions to the public.

He quoted Government figures contradicting statements of the board.

"This organization has been deceiving the public and the press," he added, "by masquerading as an impartial, scientific research and investigating agency, when, as a matter of fact, it consists of a federation of associations of large employers which are bitter opponents of organized labor, and is the centre of the so-called open shop or anti-union movement."

The Public Service Commission announced yesterday that public utilities in the State had accumulated large reserve supplies of coal as a protection against a general coal strike, and that the reserve supply was being rapidly increased.

SIAMESE TWINS SINKING.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Dr. Benjamin H. Breakstone is in the West End Hospital tonight watching carefully the condition of Rosa and Josefa Blasek, Siamese twins, who are hovering between life and death. All day he remained at their bedside. He stated this evening that the recovery of either is doubtful.

It is Josefa who is nearest death. Should either of the twins rally, an operation separating them will be performed immediately. Josefa, stricken with jaundice several weeks ago, has been unconscious for more than thirty hours.

Dr. J. K. Sanes, a Pittsburgh specialist, is speeding to this city to assist in the operation which will be attempted to save the life of one should the other die.

Josefa today developed pneumonia, the doctor declared.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 30.—Discussing the illness of the Blazek twins, a London surgeon recalls that the Biddenden twins, born in Biddenden, Kent, in 1100, were united in much the same way as the Chicago pair. When one died an operation was proposed, but the surviving sister refused, saying: "As we came in the world together, we will also go together."

Foreign Born Who Cannot Talk English Now Number 11 Per Cent. of Population

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Eleven per cent. of the foreign-born white population in the United States, ten years of age or older, according to the 1920 census, was unable to speak English, the Census Bureau announced today. The number was 1,488,948, out of a total foreign-born population more than ten years of age of 13,497,886. These figures compared with 2,933,011 non-English-speaking foreign-born residents, or 22.8 per cent. of the total enumerated in the 1910 census.

The bureau attributed the decrease to several causes, citing that many immigrants who could not speak English in 1910 had since learned the language, died or returned to their native countries; that the number who could not speak English arriving during the last decade was smaller than in the previous ten years, and that a majority of these had come to this country prior to Aug. 1, 1914, and therefore had had time to learn the language before the census was taken.

In Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, where more than two-thirds of the foreign white inhabitants were born in Mexico, the percentages unable to speak English were, respectively, 51.7 per cent., 49.4 per cent., and 51.9 per cent. The next highest percentages unable to speak English were in West Virginia, 18.3 per cent., and Florida, 18.8 per cent., while the smallest proportions were shown in South Carolina, 1.8; Georgia, 1.9; Kentucky, 2.2; North Carolina, 2.7; District of Columbia, 2.8; Washington, 3.2; Oregon, 3.3; Tennessee, 3.3; Montana, 3.4; Virginia, 3.7; Utah, 4.1; Alabama, 4.2, and Iowa, 4.3.

CORNELL PAY CLINIC SCORED BY DOCTORS

"Cornell's Pauperizing of the Middle Classes One of Greatest Crimes Ever Committed."

The Cornell pay clinic system of medical diagnosis and treatment at $1 a call was assailed by physicians last night at a joint meeting of six medical societies held at the Academy of Medicine. The pay clinic plan was characterized as "socialistic," "incompetent," a service given "under false pretenses in the name of Cornell University," "an attempt to make the middle classes devoted promoters of the philanthropic status of the interests" and a plan "to deprive practitioners of the right to live as men of culture."

The organizations participating in the meeting were the Eastern Medical Society, New York Physicians' Association, Harlem Medical Society, Yorkville Medical Society, Medical Society of the County of New York and a delegation from Kings County Medical Society. The Committee of Civic Policy of the Medical Society of the County of New York called the meeting.

Dr. Walter L. Niles, Dean of Cornell University Medical College, and Dr. Michael M. Davis of the United Hospital Fund, were the chief defenders of the Cornell pay clinic plan put into effect on Nov. 1. After they had told of the work of the clinic and the reasons for its existence, Dr. Henry W. Berg and Dr. L. I. Harris spoke against the clinic. The arguments of the opponents were punctuated with applause from the majority of the physicians present.

"When Cornell gives a clinic for $1 the patient gives $1 because Cornell is behind it," said Dr. Berg. "And if for his dollar he receives the services of a young and inexperienced man the money is taken under false pretenses in the name of Cornell. The human being born under the American flag wants to pay for what he gets. If you pauperize the citizen of the United States you take away his self-respect. There never was a socialistic proposition that was not offered on the grounds of philanthropy or patriotism.

"There is no reason why this clinic should exist and there is every reason why it should not. Cornell's pauperizing of the middle classes is one of the greatest crimes ever committed. The cost of competent treatment today is no more than ever before."

Dr. Harris was cheered when he said that "it is not pauperising the patient so much as pauperising the doctor that we oppose."

"Those who advocate pay clinics would obligingly take from us the middle classes," he added. "If there is to be any reform, let it come from our own ranks and let us not have it forced upon us."

Dr. Niles said that the Cornell clinic served a large portion of the middle class, estimated at 2,000,000 in this city, many of whom could not afford high fees.

WILL TRY TO BLOCK INGERSOLL CO. SALE

The sale of the assets of Robert H. Ingersoll & Brother, watch manufacturers, to the Waterbury Clock Company for $1,500,000 was confirmed yesterday by John J. Townsend, United States Referee in Bankruptcy, at the end of a long meeting of the Ingersoll creditors in Mr. Townsend's offices at 299 Broadway. Payment will be made in cash tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, unless oColonel C. W. Wickersham, counsel for Charles H. Ingersoll, secretary of the bankrupt company, succeeds in blocking the sale, as he said he hoped to do. If the sale goes through, the creditors would receive about 40 cents on the dollar, it was said.

Announcement by Colonel Wickersham that he would appeal to the courts to annul the sale, on the ground that it was an "improvident one," was received with satisfaction by Charles H. Ingersoll, who has been associated with his brother, Robert H. Ingersoll, for more than forty years in the manufacture of the "dollar watch."

"I share with Mr. Wickersham," said Referee Townsend, in confirming the sale of the assets, "the regrets that these large properties are to be sold at this price, but there are only theoretical arguments opposing it. This is a practical, hard financial situation and usually the assets of large companies when they reach the bankruptcy courts are nothing more than white elephants."

In asking that the sale of the assets to the Waterbury Clock Company be held in abeyance, Colonel Wickersham said that the business of Robert H. Ingersoll & Brother would be revived under a plan which contemplated the greatest protection for the creditors.

He said a damage suit against the Waterbury Clock Company was about to be instituted by Robert H. Ingersoll & Brother on the ground that the Waterbury Clock Company, which had manufactured many of the watches sold by the Ingersolls, had failed to continue its supply to the watch manufacturers.

Colonel Wickersham argued that the $1,500,000 offered by the Waterbury Clock Company was entirely inadequate to cover the value of the Ingersoll assets, including a factory at Trenton, N. J., one at Waterbury, Conn., the trade name and good-will, estimated by Colonel Wickersham to be worth $3,000,000.

Counsel for Mr. Ingersoll said that the original notice of sale had not received sufficient publicity. He named among other assets of the company a foreign sales agency and 300,000 jeweled watches which, he said, it had been impossible to sell without a marketable supply of non-jeweled watches. The minority stockholders supported the views of Colonel Wickersham.

Barrett Made Canal Zone 'Dry' Head

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The appointment of John T. Barrett as Federal Prohibition Director for the Panama Canal Zone was announced today by Prohibition headquarters. Mr. Barrett will be the first Prohibition Director for the Canal Zone.

DECOYED FROM WIFE, SHOT AS SHE WAITS

Victim Near Death Said He Never Got Liquor—Another Man Killed in Vendetta.

Joseph Storch was shot and probably mortally wounded at 11 o'clock last night in the vestibule of his home at 122 West Sixty-fourth Street by one of five men who, the police said, were supposed to have delivered a consignment of whisky to him a few hours before. The shooting was said to have followed Storch's refusal to pay for the whisky on the ground that it had not been delivered. He was removed to Flower Hospital by Dr. Paul. John Brennan, a longshoreman, of 238 East Eighty-ninth Street, was locked up in the West Sixty-eighth Street Station on suspicion.

The man who did the shooting, according to witnesses, fled in a black touring car with four other men. The car drew up to the door of Storch's home a few minutes before he was decoyed to the vestibule by two of the men, who sent a tenant to Storch's apartment saying that "a friend" wanted to speak to him. When he refused to pay for the liquor, the police said, one of the men shot him twice.

According to Detective Sergeants Kiernan and McGovern Storch was talking to his wife and Brennan in his apartment when the five men drew up to the door at 11 o'clock. They had warned him that they would give him only a few hours in which to pay for the whisky. When the neighbor broke in on the conversation and told Storch that "a friend" wanted to see him in the vestibule Mrs. Storch urged her husband not to go down stairs.

"It's all right," Storch was reported to have assured his wife, "it's most likely those bootleggers. There'll be no trouble. They didn't deliver the stuff, and they can't expect me to pay for it."

As Storch started down the stairs his wife stood on the landing ready to run to his aid. She heard her husband open the inner vestibule door and soon after the two shots which probably will cause his death. Mrs. Storch and Brennan hurried down the stairs to find him lying in the vestibule, with a bullet wound in the forehead and another in the right side of the neck. They ran to the sidewalk in time to see the black touring car, containing five men, speed west to Amsterdam Avenue and turn south.

Passers-by told reporters that a few seconds after the shooting two men ran out of the vestibule and jumped into the automobile in which three men were seated. The engine had been kept running, and with the report of the pistol the operator of the car started it going at a slow pace in the direction of Amsterdam Avenue. It had traveled fifty feet before the two men caught up and jumped on the running board. Then they got inside and all escaped.

When the detectives learned that Brennan was in the apartment with Storch and his wife at the time the men drove up they took him to the station, where he was questioned for two hours. Brennan was alleged to have made admissions which indicate that he knew of Storch's trouble with the bootleggers and he was arrested. The detectives said later that they had obtained information from another source which they believed would lead to the arrest of the men.

A vendetta which began in Sicily years ago and in which five persons are said to have been killed and a score seriously wounded in Brooklyn in the last few years is believed to have caused the assassination yesterday morning of Vincenzo de Falco, 40 years old, 2,150 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, in the East New York Station of the Long Island Railroad. De Falco was said to have been chief of the de Falco faction in the de Falco-Incenzo feud.

De Falco, who never ventured out alone, was talking with relatives and friends when a young man calmly stepped in front of him, thrust a pistol against his breast and fired twice. The wounded man died on the way to the Kings County Hospital. The murderer escaped.

De Falco killed Salvatore Incenzo in a pistol duel last year, but was acquitted on a plea of self-defense. Two years ago a man alleged to have been a friend of de Falco shot and killed Joseph Guidno in Brooklyn. Incenzo and a boy were wounded in the fray. The man fled to Italy, where he was captured by Detective Fiaschetti and turned over to the Italian police.

FUR MEN HELD UP; LOSES $12,000 STOCK

Newark Thieves Fell Merchant and One Sits on Him as the Other Works.

Charles Rich, part owner of a fur store on the second floor of the building at 215 Halsey Street, Newark, was covering up his stock just after 6 o'clock last night when a well-dressed man entered and asked to be shown a "fur coat of the better sort."

Rich turned to a rack to pick out a coat and then stopped. At the nape of his neck he felt an icy circle of cold steel. Then he obeyed a gruff order to "turn around." Something hit him on the head and he fell to the floor. Before his senses returned he was bound hand and foot. To make him more secure his assailant sat on his chest and held a hand over his mouth, while he called to somebody to "get busy."

It was all over in a few moments, and as the man arose and vanished through the door Rich yelled for help. His cries were answered by Louis Rosenthal, proprietor of a restaurant downstairs, who unbound him and summoned the police.

Rich was unable to describe the thieves and could not estimate his loss until he had made an inventory. He usually kept between $12,000 and $16,000 worth of furs on hand, he said, and most of them apparently were missing. Persons in the neighborhood recalled seeing a small auto truck standing at the curb in front of Rich's store in which men were loading bundles at about the time the fur merchant was lying bound upstairs. He suffered a slight scalp wound.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE OUT AGAINST CALDER

CITE UP-STATE SENTIMENT

Don't Want "Another Wet Who Stands With the Brewers"—Senator Declines to Comment.

The Anti-Saloon League of New York, through its Board of Directors, announced itself last night as against the nomination by the Republican State convention of United States Senator William M. Calder of Brooklyn for re-election. This decision was reached by the board at its monthly meeting held Tuesday at the Hotel McAlpin. Announcement of the action, as contained in a statement sent to the Republican State Committee and County Chairmen, follows:

"The Board of Directors of the Anti-Saloon League of New York respectfully calls to the attention of the members of the Republican State Committee of New York and the Republican County Chairmen, directing that this resolution be sent to them, the fact that United States Senator William M. Calder has a record of opposition to the submission of the prohibition amendment and even of opposition to necessary enforcement legislation to carry it into effect after it had become part of the organic law of the nation, and that he is on record in favor of a beer proposal which would nullify the Constitution in this regard.

"We therefore respectfully request that the leaders of the Republican Party recognize the fact that the overwhelming majority of the rank and file up State, which is the strength and dependence of the party—it having been heretofore conclusively proved that much of its membership and even of its leadership in New York City makes common cause with Tammany on this issue—is strongly for prohibition and enforcement; and that therefore the Republican State Convention nominate for the United States Senate a man who, whether he was originally for prohibition or not, will now openly take the stand that he is opposed to any weakening of enforcement legislation until the prohibition policy has had a fair test throughout an adequate term of years.

"We respectfully suggest that the nomination in place of Senator Calder of another wet who stands with the brewers for nullification by repeal or emasculation of the Volstead National Prohibition act will be no improvement upon the situation."

The statement was signed by David James Burrell, President of the league, and William H. Anderson, State Superintendent.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—United States Senator William M. Calder of New York declined tonight to comment upon the letter written by the Anti-Saloon League of New York to the Republican State Committee and County Chairmen of New York opposing his nomination for re-election.

40 DRY AGENTS RAID BROOKLYN; 1 ARREST

Much-Heralded 'Clean-Up' Gets Few Results, but Day May Raise Force to 100.

The first day of the intensive campaign by forty Federal prohibition agents to "clean up" Brooklyn, regarded by prohibition officials as about the "wettest" of the five boroughs, resulted in the arrest yesterday of one saloonkeeper, Michael Fennimore, 545 Albany Avenue. However, three other alleged violators of the Volstead act were picked up in Jamaica. The four defendants, along with six others arrested on Staten Island Tuesday, when Agents Peter Reager and John Kerrigan made a trip across the island, were arraigned yesterday before Commissioner McCabe and held in $1,000 bail each for hearing on April 19.

Bootleg circles in Brooklyn were reported last night to be jubilant because the heralded "crusade" in the borough had resulted in the arrest of only one person. Their cause for rejoicing may be short-lived, however, as Federal officials A. Day announced yesterday that he was prepared to send no fewer than 100 men into Brooklyn if necessary. He declared that he regarded conditions in Brooklyn as intolerable and that he had determined to cause a more general respect for the laws.

The special campaign in Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island is being directed by Chris J. Fortman, who for some time has been in charge of all the agents in the city.

In sweeping through Staten Island on Tuesday it was reported at prohibition headquarters yesterday, Agents Peter Reager and John Kerrigan made the following arrests: Patrick Harding, owner and bartender, 55 Main Street, Tottenville; Louis Vogel, owner and bartender, 1,731 Arthurkill Road, Tottenville; Walter Moffett, owner and bartender, 11 Bentley Street, Tottenville; Jacob Wutz, owner and bartender, 253 Richmond Road, New Dorp Manor; Tony Christano, owner and bartender, 1,801 Clove Avenue, Grassmere; John Atkinson, owner and bartender, 4 Bay Street, Stapleton. The defendants were held by Commissioner McCabe yesterday in $1,000 bail for hearing April 19.

The three arrests in Jamaica yesterday follow: Sigmund Tollkman, owner of a restaurant at 92 Rockaway Road; Frederick Reichert, 17 South Washington Avenue, owner of a restaurant, and Joseph Baumgartner, bartender. They were also held in $1,000 bail by Commissioner McCabe.

Detained on piers of the Ward Line here are 3,000 barrels of gin, containing about 150,000 gallons, with a bootleg value of $3,000,000. Federal prohibition officials as well as customs agents are guarding the gin until it can be placed in Customs Warehouse No. 5, pending a decision of the Treasury Department as to whether the gin may be stored in a bonded warehouse in this city. The gin arrived here on the Ward Line steamship Orizaba on Tuesday from Havana, Cuba.

The gin is said to belong to Mayer & Lage of Peoria, Ill., and was shipped out of this country when the Volstead act went into effect. It was sent to Cuba with the idea of disposing of it there, it was said, but later market conditions were such that sale in Cuba was undesirable. The law permits the reshipment of such consignments to this country, and permission was obtained for the return of the goods to the distillery at Peoria. However, before the reshipment was actually accomplished the distillery in Peoria went out of business.

To Investigate Anti-Smoke Order.

Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield announced yesterday that at the request of Mayor Hylan he had undertaken an investigation of the anti-smoking hoax to discover whether it was merely an error or whether, as Mayor Hylan said in Chicago, somebody had "slipped a fast one over on Enright." Commissioner Hirshfield probably will begin by questioning Daniel McCoy of the City Clerk's office, who sent to the Police Department the "ordinance" which would have forbidden smoking by women in public places.

OTTAWA, Ontario, March 29.—The Canadian Government lost $2,210,724.55 in operating its merchant marine in 1921, excluding depreciation and interest charges. Interest owed the Government for 1921 was $3,357,833.39. Depreciation was figured at $4,158,775.81 for the year.

This information was given to the House of Commons today in answers to questions by two members. Average costs for the smallest, or 2,800-ton type vessels, while not in operation, was given as $163.12 a day, while the average was placed at $572.87 for the largest, or 10,500-ton type.

2 GIRLS, 2 BOYS DIE UNDER AUTOMOBILES

Four children were killed and a fifth was probably fatally injured yesterday by automobiles in the streets of New York. Three persons went to a hospital after an automobile coal truck had crashed with a trolley car in Brooklyn.

Benjamin Kahner, 5 years old, 405 East Ninety-second Street, when crossing the street in front of his home was killed by an automobile truck owned by the Atlas Metal Iron Works, 1,206 Brook Avenue, the Bronx. The child was taken to Mt. Sinai Hospital in the truck, but was pronounced dead there. George Schenkman of 386 Cypress Avenue, the Bronx, driver of the truck, was arrested on a charge of homicide and held for examination in $1,000 bail.

Florence Walenstein, 4 years old, 557 West 171st Street, was fatally injured by an automobile owned and driven by Louis Charcowsky, 590 Eagle Avenue, the Bronx, in the afternoon, as she started across the street in front of her home. She was hurried to Columbus Hospital, but died on the way.

Mrs. Etta Wallenstein, mother of the child, was looking from a window of their home when Florence started to cross to her home. The mother motioned the child to come on, but she hesitated behind a coal truck that was standing still. The mother had failed to see Charcowsky's car at first. When she did see it, she cried to the child to go back. Florence did not hear and stepped in front of the automobile.

Mary Poli, 4 years old, 2,070 Third Avenue, was killed last night at 110th Street and Third Avenue by an automobile truck owned by the Weber-Bunke-Lange Coal Company, 268 West Ninety-sixth Street. The chauffeur, Joseph Vicchio, 231 East 110th Street, was charged with homicide. Vicchio told the police he swerved his car when he saw the child, but the rear wheel struck her.

John Eagan, 14, 551 Dahill Road, Brooklyn, was killed in the afternoon by an automobile truck at Ditmas Avenue and East Fourth Street, Brooklyn. The boy had been delivering a butcher's orders after school and was riding a bicycle when struck by the truck, driven by Carl Schmidt, 316 West 117th Street, Manhattan.

Witnesses told the police that Schmidt was backing his truck when the boy, riding the bicycle, started behind it. The truck bore down on him and he went under the wheels.

Schmidt will be arraigned in the Flatbush Police Court this morning on a homicide charge.

While playing on a "kiddy car" in front of his home, 456 Morris Avenue, the Bronx, James Dwyer, 6 years old, suffered a fracture of the skull when he was run over by an automobile truck operated by Andrew Birgo, 240 East Seventy-fifth Street. The boy was taken in the truck to Fordham Hospital, where he was said to be in a serious condition. Birgo had been delivering packages while the truck stood at the curb. When he started off again he failed to see the youngster.

Nine persons were injured, three of them seriously enough to need hospital care, in the afternoon when a heavy coal truck crashed with a Reid Avenue trolley car at Reid Avenue and Putnam Avenue, Brooklyn. The car was full and all the passengers were frightened and shaken.

In the Bushwick Hospital are: Sarah Grossman, 345 East Forty-ninth Street, Brooklyn, who may have a fracture of the skull and is badly cut and bruised; Peter Gallagher, 126 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, driver of the truck, who has a dislocated shoulder, cuts and bruises, and Thomas McCarthy, 153 South Eighth Street, Brooklyn, with bruises and contusions of the back. No others were hurt badly.

An automobile last night ran into a party of five pedestrians at Leonard Street and Hudson Boulevard, Jersey City, and drove off without stopping. Mrs. L. Hebel, 40 years old, 78 Hague Street, Jersey City; Mrs. M. Wetley, 80 Hague Street, Jersey City; and Albert Sandel, 38 years old, 943 Hemblet Place, North Bergen, N. J., were injured, and taken to the City Hospital. The number of the automobile corresponded to that of a machine found in a garage and belonging to John Weehloken, 350 Hudson Boulevard, Jersey City.

PECORA TO DECIDE ON RICKARD TRIALS

Remaining Indictments May Be Dismissed—Schoenfeld Case Thought Strongest.

Whether an attempt will be made to prosecute Tex Rickard further will not be decided for several weeks, according to Chief Assistant District Attorney Pecora.

According to Max D. Steuer, who defended Rickard, a statement may be issued on behalf of Tex Rickard in a few days setting forth the alleged demand made on him for $50,000 blackmail.

Mr. Pecora said that he had been ordered to undergo an immediate operation for the removal of his tonsils and that he would not be able to study the question until he returned to his office two weeks later. He indicated, however, that he would not prosecute Rickard again unless he came to the conclusion that he had a stronger case than that which resulted in a verdict of not guilty early yesterday morning. Inasmuch as the charge of Sarah Schoenfeld was selected because it appeared at first sight to be the strongest case, it seemed likely that Rickard would not have to undergo another trial.

Ice and Fog Endanger Fishermen.

HALIFAX, March 29.—Fishermen following the herring in Newfoundland waters complain of the worst ice conditions in forty years. A combination of drift ice and fog, skippers say, frequently makes it unsafe to send men out in dories. Many halibut and cod fishermen have been driven into Shelburne or Liverpool for shelter.

MUSIC

By RICHARD ALDRICH.

The Schola Cantorum.

Mr. Kurt Schindler's indefatigable search for unfamiliar music for the concerts of the Schola Cantorum seems to have been centred upon Italy, in making the program of the organization's concert in Carnegie Hall last evening. He gave Verdi's "Stabat Mater" and "Te Deum," the latter set down as for the first time in New York; Ildebrando Pizzetti's "Lament for the Death of Hippolytus," from his opera "Fedra," given for the first time in the United States; and G. Francesco Malipiero's "Saint Francesco d'Assisi," which had its first performance anywhere.

This collection from modern Italy might be made the subject of various instructive remarks as to tendencies. It might be said that probably most people in the hall found the greatest power, vigor, freshness, originality and vitality in Verdi's pieces. They belong to his "Four Sacred Pieces," published in 1898, six years after "Falstaff," when he was 85 years old. They are indeed of extraordinary quality. He may be reproached with having written in these pieces, dramatically, as he did in the "Manzoni Requiem," rather than ecclesiastically, if that be a reproach; but they both are profoundly impressive.

The "Te Deum" begins with the Gregorian plain song, very quietly intoned in unison. There is then a great burst of harmony on the "Sanctus" and then an ever-changing and eloquent interpretation of the canticle in which there is an originality of harmony and a richness of orchestration that make the piece, as is the "Stabat Mater," one of the most poignant in modern music.

Then time moved on fifteen years; then six or eight more; and a great change had come over Italy. Ildebrando Pizzetti, in his "Threnody," from his opera of "Fedra," had already moved on far from Verdi's point of view. The piece is entirely devoted to summoning up a plangent mood through the simplest means; and successfully.

There are a few notes from the English horn, then the chorus sings a kind of chant, first in unison; then imitative evidence enters, making the texture more complex. There is a solo for mezzo-soprano, sung by Elsie Lyon, and a subdued ending. The model characteristics of the music, both in the melodic line and in the harmony, are unmistakable, and give it a feeling of strange remoteness as to time. There is in this music a haunting impression of an unaccustomed beauty, or the possibility of such.

There is no feeling of any similar possibility about Malipiero's "St. Francis," his latest work. He, too, professes to have gone back to the ecclesiastical modes to give color to his delineation of St. Francis, but he has treated them more rudely than his compatriot. The piece represents four scenes in the Saint's life—the Flock (his meeting with his companions), the Sermon to the Birds, the Supper with St. Clara, the Saint's death.

There is a long and what seems very rambling and sometimes violent overture. The structure of the vocal music, both the solos of St. Francis—sung by Mr. De Luca with admirable vocal art and diction—and the utterances of the chorus, are of the vaguest and least significant musical outline. The themes have little musical quality and the harmonization is drab with open fourths and fifths, and unatched by the drabness of the orchestral color.

There are a few points where vividness is reached. The Sermon to the Birds has been better done by Liszt; and Malipiero does not disdain to use some of his methods. When the cry of fire is raised, there is a perfectly appreciable realism. There are ingenious effects of bells, without their actual use, in the opening of the scene of St. Francis's death.

There is not much that is actually abhorrent in Mr. Malipiero's music; there is much that is dull and tiresome because so aimless and so feeble in invention. The piece is not easy of performance and the chorus did well with it; it deserves praise for what it did in Verdi's two pieces, which are difficult in a different way.

Felix Salmond's 'Cello Recital.

Felix Salmond, a well-known English 'cellist, appeared for the first time in New York yesterday afternoon at Aeolian Hall in a recital, where he had the assistance of Frank Bibb at the piano, and where there was an audience not large but frequently moved to enthusiasm.

Mr. Salmond is a 'cellist of high attainments; and not merely in the matter of technique. He has a fervent and impressive style that often reaches a high pitch of intensity and eloquence, qualities that are not reached at the expense of repose and balance or in violation of a sense of the fitness of things. They were shown in a set of three movements by old Italians, Nardini, Veracini and Guerini, arranged with piano accompaniments by Joseph Salmon. In some of these the style and figuration of the accompaniments appeared too decidedly modern for the music.

They were shown also in Brahms's second sonata for piano and 'cello, op. 99; in Lalo's concerto in D, and in an arrangement of the famous "Londonderry Air" and a melody dedicated to Mr. Salmond by Frank Bridge. It is to be observed from this list that Mr. Salmond is so friend of the florid school of violoncello composition, in which the noble instrument is made to emulate the capers of an ox. For even Lalo's concerto is a soberly conceived concerto, in which the composer has apparently concentrated his mind more upon the musical expression he wished to make than upon the facile adornment of it with runs and passages that can be performed upon the 'cello by the exercise of sufficient manual dexterity, but are always totally ineffective.

Brahms's sonata was the most significant number on the program—a work whose passionate spirit is in striking contrast with that of his earlier sonata. It was sympathetically played by Mr. Salmond, with great energy and sustained power; and he was well supported by Mr. Bibb, whose interpretation of the piano part was excellent.

Mr. Salmond has a fine tone, warm and searching. His intonation is rarely at fault, and his technical accomplishment is high. What he could do in the way of brilliant passage work was not revealed; nor is it important that it should be.

'Make It Snappy' for Winter Garden

The Winter Garden, which has been used by the Shuberts as a vaudeville house this season, will return to its original form of entertainment on Thursday night, April 13, when the new Eddie Cantor revue, "Make It Snappy," will be presented there. The coming week, accordingly, will be the final one for vaudeville at that house. The new arrangement is for the Summer only.

Managers Bar Singing for Radio.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Singers on vaudeville circuits are prohibited from singing for radio telephones by clauses which now are being inserted in their contracts. The Western Vaudeville Managers' Association, which first began making such contracts, declares that the best efforts of the singers are needed for the stage.

Actors' Equity Show on May 7.

This year's annual show of the Actors' Equity Association is announced for Sunday night, May 7, and will be given, as usual, at the Metropolitan Opera House. The entertainment committee is headed by Lynne Overman, Peggy Wood, Ralph Morgan and Berton Churchill.

"Sally's" Long Run to End April 22

"Sally," which opened at the New Amsterdam Theatre on Dec. 21, 1920, will bring its long run to a close on April 22. It will then have to its credit the longest consecutive run of any musical comedy in New York. It will be seen next in Boston.

Catalani's "Lorelei" Sung Again.

Catalani's "Lorelei" was sung for the third time at the Metropolitan last evening before a large audience. In the cast were Mmes. Muzio and Sundelius, Messrs. Gigli, Danise and Mardones, and Mr. Moranzoni conducted.

SELLING BOTTLED SUNSHINE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 29.—The American patent medicine fakers must bow the knee before the latest French charlatan. This individual has just been brought into court for selling bottled sunshine at ten francs the half pint.

When questioned by the judge the prisoner looked the jurist straight in the eye and declared that with a liquid drawn from the sun by a special process he had cured every known disease from asthma to zebra bites. To prove his assertions, he invited the judge to his laboratory. There he displayed several barrels filled with iron shavings and connected with a copper wire to a lightning rod. He then explained that as a former employe of the Government telephone and telegraph service he had been sent with a mission into the Cameroons, where he had learned the secret. The judge, wondering if the case was not one of too much African sunshine, reserved decision.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"The Law Breaker" will move from Times Square Theatre to the Klaw Theatre next Monday night, and Tom Wise and "Mike," now at the Klaw, will be transferred to the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre.

A play entitled "The Night Call" has been placed in rehearsal by the Theatre Assembly, producers of "Montmartre."

Gertrude Hoffman and Emmett Corrigan will be among the headliners at the Palace next week.

Owen Davis has made the English adaptation of "Bronx Express," in which Mr. and Mrs. Coburn will appear. New additions to the company are Joseph Sterling, Esther Morgan and Paul Jacchia.

The cast of "The Schenkem Six," which will be headed by Barney Bernard and Alexander Carr, will also include Lee Kahlmar, Adele Rowland, Edwin Mordant, Max Waltman, Marion Ballou, Ralph Kellard, Jennie Moscowitz, Robert Barratt and Walter Percival.

The Cort Theatre was bought out for last night's performance of "Captain Applejack," by the Hill Top Camp of the Presbyterian Church.

The National City Bank Club has purchased the entire capacity of the Century Theatre, nearly 3,000 seats, for the performance of "The Rose of Stamboul" next Tuesday night.

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice of Application to the Commissioners of the Land Office for a Grant of Land Under Water.

TAKE NOTICE, that the undersigned will on the 15th day of May, 1922, make an application to the Commissioners of the Land Office for a grant of the lands under water hereinafter described. Any person deeming himself liable to injury by said grant, should before said date file with said Commissioners, at the office of the Secretary of State in the Capitol in Albany, a remonstrance, stating his reasons for opposing said grant.

The lands under water above mentioned are bounded and described as follows, to wit:

All that tract or parcel of land situate in Long Island City, County of Queens, State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the southerly line of West Eighth Street distant 525.00 feet, S 70° 17' 12" W. from a point on the monumented line on West Avenue, distant 815.00 feet, S 14° 42' 48" E. from the monument on the northeast corner of West Avenue and West Ninth Street; running thence S 20° 42' 40" E. 110.19 feet to a point; thence S 71° 17' 12" W. 270.00 feet to a point on Present High Water Line; thence along said line N 8° 48' 18" E. 93.35 feet to a point; thence N 48° 49' 12" E. 81.50 feet to a point on the southerly line of West Eighth Street; thence along the said line N 75° 17' 12" E. 157.19 feet to the point or place of beginning, containing 32,946+ square feet.

The lands of the undersigned applicant, adjacent to the lands applied for, are bounded on the north by Eighth Street and the East River and the lands of the Standard Oil Company of New York, on the east by the lands of the Standard Oil Company of New York, on the south by the lands of George A. Strong and Pennington Whitehead, and on the west by the East River; and said adjacent lands of the occupant are actually occupied by the City of New York in Eighth Street and Standard Oil Company of New York; and on the south by tenants of George A. Strong and Pennington Whitehead and occupied by a caretaker and Eagle Pipe Supply Company, Inc.

It is the intention of the undersigned to appropriate said lands under water to his beneficial enjoyment by perfecting its title to the said lands which have been filled in from the old high water line to the present bank or high water line of the East River, and obtaining title in fee to the said filled in lands.

3 ARRESTS LAID TO BANKRUPTCY FRAUD

SALES HIDDEN, IS CHARGE

Creditors' Counsel Declares No Record Was Made of Deals Totaling $60,000.

A bankrupt wholesale grocer and two others were arrested yesterday, charged with fraud against the Government in wilfully concealing from the trustee proceeds derived from the sale of merchandise just before the petition in bankruptcy was filed.

The charges are being pressed by several of the largest food product dealers and manufacturers in the country, who declare, through their counsel, that they have lost $2,000,000 during the last year through bankruptcies. Certain of these bankruptcies, the lawyer contends, were fraudulent.

When arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock the men were first held in $5,000 bail each, but this was reduced, the bankrupt's bail being placed at $3,000 and the bond of the others at $1,000 each, for a hearing April 5.

After a thorough investigation by operatives of Samwick's Investigation Bureau, 15 Park Row, the three men were arrested in the office of H. P. Coffin, referee in bankruptcy, at 217 Broadway, by a Deputy United States Marshal and a half dozen of Samwick's operatives. They are Morris Mernick of 21 Attorney Street, President of the Houston Wholesale Grocery Corporation; Philip Olshansky, 1,594 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn, a salesman in Mernick's employ, and Louis Weisbrod, 2,018 West Twenty-third Street, Coney Island, a small jobber. Weisbrod's quick rise from peddler to jobber was one of the circumstances which interested the investigators.

It is charged that Mernick sold about $90,000 worth of food products just before the bankruptcy, and did not record any of these sales in his books. Special Assistant United States Attorney Abraham Solomon is prosecuting the grocers.

Olshansky was testifying before Referee Coffin, and Mernick and Weisbrod were in an outer office, waiting to be called, when the Deputy Marshal and detectives told them they were under arrest. Accompanied by their lawyers, Herman Robbins and Louis Karasik, they went to the Post Office Building, where they were arraigned.

Edward W. Drucker, 299 Broadway, the creditors' counsel, said that six weeks before the failure Mernick signed a statement for the Corn Products Refining Company, 17 Battery Place, a creditor, that the firm was solvent to the amount of $40,000. Its liabilities at the time of the failure, on Feb. 28, amounted to about $80,000, he said. The business was at 180 Clinton Street.

Although the Quaker Oats Company's claim is only $150, J. W. Barr of that company appeared as complainant. The other creditors include Seeman Bros., Francis H. Leggett & Co., Standard Brands Co., Jarburg Bros., Armour & Co., Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Co., Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Co. and B. Fisher & Co. There are about eighty-five creditors in all.

According to Mr. Drucker, Mernick did an annual business of between 1300,000 and $400,000.

BRAZIL'S 'SUGAR KING' DEAD.

Rov. Bezerra of Pernambuco Was a Peacemaker in Politics.

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, March 29 (Associated Press).—José Rufino Bezerra, the Governor of Pernambuco, died here last evening of miocarditis after a long illness.

Before Bezerra was a lawyer by profession, but devoted the greater part of his life to agriculture. He was Secretary for Agriculture under the Braz Administration, and was the owner of large sugar mills, his extensive interests in the sugar industry having earned him the sobriquet of the "Sugar King." In 1919 he was elected Governor of Pernambuco for a term which expires next year. His illness, however, had prevented him from performing his official duties for many months past.

Senor Bezerra's most notable part in the political arena was his acting the role of pacifier among the political parties, uniting their leadership with what were conceded to be beneficial results. His administration of the State finances had also elicited high praise.

J. D. Enright of Syracuse for Congress.

SYRACUSE, March 29.—Announcement was made here today that J. David Enright, a Syracuse attorney, would enter the Republican primaries against Congressman Walter W. Magee in the Thirty-fifth District. Mr. Enright said that he considered modification of the Volstead act the principal issue of the Congressional elections and declared he would campaign against what he described as the "bone-dry tyranny."

WOMEN PLEDGE MILLER AID.

Chairman Glynn Says Governor Will Be Unanimous Choice.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 29.—Republican women in State conference here pledged their support to the campaign to re-elect Governor Miller. The achievements of the Miller Administration were stressed by Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, leader of the Republican woman, and Mrs. Rosalie Loew Whitney, member of the Industrial Board.

George A. Glynn, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, urged the women to the utmost activity in Governor Miller's behalf. Mr. Glynn said that party leaders, including George W. Aldridge of Rochester, will draft Governor Miller as candidate for re-election.

"He will be the unanimous choice of the party leaders and he must run on his record," said Mr. Glynn. "Everybody is for him, and the economies he has effected in the State's behalf should assure his re-election. He is one of the most efficient Governors this State has had."

Mrs. Whitney asserted that Governor Miller does not have to stand on his economy program alone. She maintained that other achievements of the administration were sufficient to justify its indorsement by the thinking people of the State.

Rare Shakespeare to Be Sold.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 29.—"A marvelous volume of unrivaled beauty, unquestionably the finest that can ever occur for sale," is the description of the Daniel copy of the first folio Shakespeare which will be the outstanding feature at the sale of the library of the late Baroness Burdett Coutts at Sothebys on May 15, 16 and 17. The folio came into possession of the Baroness in 1864. It was acquired for 662 guineas and it was not until thirty years later that this price was surpassed by the disposal in New York of the first folio known as the Brayton Ives example, which realized £840.

An Eastern Felt Company Bankrupt

BOSTON, March 29.—As a result of a vote by its stockholders, Dolge Felt Company, Inc., of Boston, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today with liabilities of $440,647 and assets of $410,683. Claims for $110,000 were said to be unsecured. Debts due on open accounts were said to amount to $207,-653. The principal unsecured creditors are the American Woolen Company, $19,000, and Feinberg Bros. of Boston, $15,672, and unsecured creditors, the Merchants National Bank of Worcester, $296,258, and H. F. Bemis of Worcester, $31,659.

Receiver Asked for $1,000,000 Plant

BOSTON, March 29.—A petition asking the appointment of receivers for the Harley Company of Springfield, manufacturers of castings, was filed today by Frank D. Zell of Philadelphia, who also asked an injunction to prevent the company from meanwhile paying out any money. The petition asserted that the company is solvent but assets are liable to be dissipated through attachments by creditors. The plant is said to be worth $1,000,000.

BUSINESS NOTES.

A meeting of the carpet and rug buyers of the Dry Goods Alliance will be held on Monday next at 404 Fourth Avenue. The buyers will also attend the auction of the Smith Carpet Company, which starts on that day.

The Association of Dress Manufacturers, Inc., and the Wholesale Dress Manufacturers' Association, Inc., will be represented by committees at a meeting which is to be held at 2 P. M. on Wednesday next in the headquarters of the latter body. The committees will discuss methods of improving conditions in the dress industry, especially in the relations of contractors and jobbers.

SUES FORD FOR $11,000,000.

Inventor Alleges Royalties Are Due Him on Auto Magneto.

Special to The New York Times.

MIAMI, Fla., March 29.—Edward S. Huff, an electrical engineer of this city, today filed a suit for $11,000,000 against Henry Ford in the Circuit Court here, alleging that he invented the magneto used in all Ford cars and tractors and that Ford owes him millions of dollars in royalties on the sale of the devices.

Huff alleges, his lawyers said, that when he was employed by Ford as an electrical engineer Ford told him if he could invent a magneto that would operate on a fly wheel he would become wealthy. He left Ford's service and began work on the magneto. Ford agreed to pay Huff 50 cents royalty on each of the first 20,000 magnetos, and the suit sets forth when payment was made it was in the form of a voucher for $10,000 to which was added words to the effect that this constituted payment in full.

Huff is said by his lawyers to have asked legal advice before accepting the check, being told that an endorsement of the voucher did not necessarily make it a payment in full. Additional royalties were fixed at a smaller sum, they said.

NEWARK, N. J., March 29.—Vice Chancellor Backes has issued an order requiring the Progressive Home Building Association, 207 Market Street, to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed, and restraining the use of its funds meanwhile. The association is said to have received from investors $40,000 to $60,000 for stock. The bill says that its liabilities to its stockholders far exceed the $3,512 it has in a local bank. The Vice Chancellor also restrained the Anco Plan Company from disbursing $2,800 said to have been invested by officers of the Home Building Association in that concern. The officials of the Home Building Association say that the $2,800 was not taken from the association's funds.

Give Change and Postage Eagerly.

A lesson for the dealer who grumbles at making change or selling postage stamps is to be found in the announcement of a well-known chain of cigar stores. Prominently placed in the various stores is a sign that reads, "Your request for change or postage stamps is just as important as any sale of merchandise." The statement is signed by the President of the company. This chain of stores has been eminently successful in its merchandising methods, and it is evident that its desire to serve does not balk at furnishing the no-profit stamp or the nickel for use in the telephone.

Seek Other Wage Liquidation.

Strangely enough, the strike of mill operatives in New England against further wage reductions often excites sympathy rather than criticism from the woolen representatives in this market. In this respect, the attitude of the trade is without precedent. The general view taken of the labor trouble is that the mill operatives are suffering at the expense of the needle trade workers, whose wages remain high, thereby keeping up the cost of clothing and garments. One mill representative said yesterday that there was no intention on the part of his organization to order further reductions, as the employes were getting little enough as it was.

Fibre Silk Sales Expand.

The situation in fibre silks has been in marked contrast to the state of trade in other raw material lines. The desire for cheaper materials, combined with the fashion approval given to high lustre fabrics, has greatly expanded the sales of the product. It is finding its way into many new channels, and it is quite largely employed with real silk for the manufacture of sport fabrics and for decorative effects on other yardage. In a report from one of the leading companies, the consumption of artificial silk last year was placed at 20,000,000 pounds. The production in this country exceeded that of the previous year by nearly 5,000,000 pounds.

Georgettes More Active.

Quite a little inquiry has developed on georgettes of late in the silk market, and the outlook for such materials is regarded as promising after a period of dormant demand. In fact, the opinion was expressed by one buyer that manufacturers do not realise their opportunities in this new interest. The goods desired are the better qualities in 3 and 4, and 4 and 4 thread constructions selling around $1.40. It is understood that many producers have quantities of such goods stored away in the gray. The weaves were made largely for occupational purposes when, otherwise, a shut-down of the plants would have been necessary.

Gray Goods More Active.

Trading in gray goods in this market yesterday was a little more active than on Monday or Tuesday, but the volume of merchandise disposed of was not large. Both first and second hands were said to have let out some spot 38½-inch 64-60s at 7¼ cents, with sales of the same construction reported for April delivery at 7¼ cents. For spot and April shipments 40-inch 68-72s buyers paid 8¼ cents. Spot 38½-inch 48-48s brought 5⅝ cents. April business was done in 6.15-yard sheetings at 6 cents and, although no sales were reported, it was believed that 7⅛ cents would buy "prompt," 48-square, four-yard goods. The rest of the market was largely without feature.

Clothing to Be Priced Soon.

The finish preparation for Fall clothing lines is being rushed and the new prices will be announced it is believed from the important centers within the next two weeks. One of the leading Chicago houses will make overcoat prices some time next week. The cut-of-10% to 15% basis figure on a wage reduction of 15 per cent. Translated into the percentage of total cost, this 15 per cent. should represent about 8 per cent. in the lower priced ranges and more in the higher-priced lines where the labor factor is greater. The wholesalers expect to see more activity on overcoats than on suits, the former being more staple in Fall selling.

What's New in Millinery.

Several interesting developments in the millinery style trend have taken place in the last several days. One of these is the tendency of buyers to favor uncurled plumage for trimming hats. In painted feathers, jade is the leading color now. In the general lines blue hats are most active, but reds continue to show up strongly. In some of the smarter lines tulips are quite the thing for trimmings. In the models themselves, large felt shapes are seen that imitate shade hats of straw. Hair hats are thickly embroidered, and felt and hair are seen combined for immediate wear. High crowns and sides that droop noticeably are prominent in many of the newer chapeaux.

Look for Higher Prices.

With the approach of the season in which lightweight burlaps are in demand there is a tendency here to look for higher prices on them, despite their failure to rise proportionately with the heavier constructions during the past several weeks. The present base price for heavy burlaps, which is 6 cents for 10½-ounce, 40-inch goods, is expected to hold for a while. The market is reported strong by C. H. Rockwell, with an upward tendency. This applies especially to spot and afloat goods. Cables from Calcutta report that market also firm, with an upward tendency, but the belief is held here that the rise in Calcutta has been unseasonably checked. Spot 8-ounce "40s" were held here yesterday at 4.25 cents, with afloats 5 points higher. The reverse was true of heavy goods, afloat goods being 5 points lower than spots.

Everybody Wants Things Quick.

The tendency of buyers in practically all lines to hold off to the last possible moment before ordering, and then specifying prompt shipment of the goods regardless of the effect it may have on the manufacturers, was said yesterday to be just as noticeable among the small ones as the large. In an instance cited yesterday, a supply buyer for a certain manufacturing concern needed $6 worth of goods with which to complete an order. He was told that the goods would have to be made up, as they were not carried in stock, and that it would take at least a week. The buyer accepted the salesman's statement and said that delivery would be all right, but within forty-eight hours he called up the latter and demanded an immediate delivery. In another instance, a buyer insisted on a practically impossible delivery on pain of cancellation if he failed to get it. The amount involved was $40.

This Fraud Promptly Handled.

What is thought to constitute a new record for speedy handling of cases of commercial fraud has been established here in a case in which the National Jewelers' Board of Trade supplied from its "fighting fund" the money necessary to prosecute the defendants. This was done so successfully that, just six weeks from the day on which counsel for the board began an investigation of the case, the two men convicted were on their way to Atlanta to serve a year and a day as the Federal penitentiary there. The crimes for which the convictions were obtained were concealments of assets in bankruptcy and perjury. One of the defendants, after he and his partner had secreted about $20,000 worth of jewelry and diamonds in a safe deposit vault, left for Buffalo with jewelry [illegible] filled with sand and bricks. These he dumped into the Niagara River, after which he returned to this city and contended that he had lost the jewelry in a "crap" game with certain unknown men. A few days later the defendants were petitioned into bankruptcy, and an investigation was started by the Board.

The purchase of needed goods is expedited by telegraphing announcement for insertion under Buyers' Wants. It will appear in the issue following receipt of message.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Further recovery in yesterday's stock market was a fair measure of financial sentiment, especially since closing prices in the majority of stocks were above last week's final quotations; thus marking the failure of Tuesday's attack by professional speculators. Wall Street itself has been surprised, and perhaps somewhat disconcerted, that the impending coal strike should not have affected financial sentiment unfavorably. That it has not done so means possibly that the public at large knows that other industries are prepared for stoppage of new coal supplies, and believes in an early settlement of the dispute. But the market's attitude testifies more directly to another fact—that, angry and confused as the labor controversies of the day undoubtedly are, none has been marked by the old-time violence and all have been characterized in the end by a kind of recognition of the basic facts by union leaders, which would have been described as conservatism in the years before the war.

High-grade investment bonds were again extremely strong; again under the leadership of the Liberty loans, of which the third and fourth 4¼ per cents both passed their previous high-record prices. A precisely analogous movement was in progress at London, where the 5 per cent. British Government war loan yesterday touched the best price of its history, 98⅝, comparing with 97⅛ a week ago and with 91¼ on Dec. 31. This thirty-year loan, of which £947,000,000 was subscribed in 1917, was originally offered by the British Government at 95; so that it now stands, as none of our own long-term war loans does as yet, at a substantial premium over its issue price.

Foreign exchange was a trifle lower; the main exception being the mark, which again recovered slightly. Cables from London are beginning to indicate that the experts at work on the "agenda" for the Genoa conference have not made much progress in concrete plans for "stabilizing" exchange. It is intimated that the idea of "revaluation" or "devaluation" of the Continental currency units may be considered; but it is apparently recognized also that this would merely be a half-way house in the direction of outright repudiation of the depreciated paper. In the end, such repudiation must happen in some of the European paper currencies, as it did with the French assignats and our own continental "shinplasters." How far such action would be disguised or helped by clipping the gold from the standard unit is another matter.

Railway shares advanced with the rest of yesterday's stock market. The weekly "car loading" returns, covering the third week of March, showed increase of 131,973 cars or 19 per cent. over 1921. For the three weeks of the month, the increase works out 17 per cent., as against an 8 per cent. increase during the whole of February.

Midweek reviews of the steel and iron trade are such as might have been expected from the past week's signs of expanding production. Percentage of capacity at work for the whole steel industry is now placed at 65. This would compare with 60 per cent. a week ago, with 55 at the end of February, with a maximum of 45 at the best of last Autumn's brief trade revival, and with 35 to 40 a year ago this week. The Steel Corporation's present rate of about 70 per cent. contrasts with a high point of 52 per cent. last Autumn, with 45 at the end of last March, with an average, according to the recent annual report, of 47½ per cent. for the whole of 1921, and with the low level of 29 per cent. last July.

Both producers and consumers, so thinks The Iron Age, "have been surprised at the rate at which buying has developed." Orders booked in March are believed to have reached "the largest total since July or August, 1920"; an interesting date when one recalls that on July 31 of that year the Steel Corporation's accumulated unfilled orders stood at much the highest figure since the war and had been exceeded only in seven months at the climax of war activities.

ROAD'S NET EARNINGS GROW

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, in its February, 1922, report issued yesterday showed gross earnings amounting to $6,980,645, an increase of $1,709,556, as compared with February of 1921. The company's net operating income was shown as $1,439,885, an increase of $1,906,523 over a year ago, while for the first two months this year the net operating income stood at $2,468,039, representing an increase of $2,532,941 over the corresponding period of 1921.

The Atlantic Coast Line reported net operating income of $1,489,333 for February, 1922, saved from gross of $6,006,666. The net showing represented an increase of $815,464, but the gross was $316,285 less than February, 1921. The Chicago & North Western also showed a gross for February of $9,897,064, or $759,633 less than February, 1921, whereas net amounted to $309,797, or $735,412 more than a year ago. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul showed gross of $10,402,775, an increase of $250,530 over February, 1921, but a net operating deficit of $377,019 for the month. This was a decrease of $206,028, as against the showing made for February, 1921. The Canadian Pacific had a net, after expenses, amounting to $654,488 for February, a decrease of $158,904 from last year.

Ray Hercules Copper's Plan.

The reorganization managers of the Ray Hercules Copper Company have declared operative the plan of reorganization, to take effect April 5. Deposits of stocks will be received up to that date.

$9,633,808 BALANCE FOR WESTERN UNION

New Line of Extraordinary Capacity to Be Opened When Negotiations Are Finished.

The annual report of the Western Union Telegraph Company shows gross operating revenue amounting to $104,155,112. The balance, transferred to surplus account, after payment of all operating expenses, rents and other items, was $9,633,808, equivalent to $9.63 a share on the $90,786,726 outstanding capital stock. In the balance sheet the surplus on Dec. 31, 1921, is shown as $43,063,692.

Deduct: Interest on bonds of the Western Union Telegraph Co.	1,635,183.33
Balance transferred to surplus account	$9,633,808.18

In the balance sheet the property account, including plant, equipment and advances to leased and owned companies, is put at $194,719,537, against $185,001,531 on Dec. 31, 1920; current assets were $31,758,328, compared with $27,366,629; total capital liabilities, $148,558,401, against $133,562,601, and current liabilities, $21,855,634, compared with $25,664,478.

In his remarks to the stockholders Newcomb Carlton, President of the company, said:

"On Dec. 31, 1921, the Western Union system comprised 213,731 miles of pole lines; 797,127 miles of iron wire; 693,814 miles of copper wire; 2,646 miles of land line cables, and 25,750 nautical miles of ocean cables. The operated offices were 24,632 in number.

"Marketable securities owned have been increased by $5,596,992, representing the investment in short term securities issued by the Federal and New York City Governments, of a temporary surplusage of cash. In conformity with the company's custom, marketable securities owned were revalued at the market prices obtaining at the end of the year and a reserve, amply sufficient to cover the difference between the aggregate cost of the securities and the market value, was set up.

"The Governments of France and Belgium have not yet acceded to the requests of cable companies for permission to establish their own offices and deal directly with the public and thus improve the service. Negotiations to that end are in progress.

"Negotiations have been had during the year with the German Government with a view to establishing direct communication between the United States and Germany, via the Azores. The engineers of the Western Electric Company have devised a new type of ocean cable for which a capacity several times in excess of that of the present types of cables, is confidently expected. Tests indicate that the claims made for this new type of cable are well founded, and arrangements have been effected with the Western Electric Company for the manufacture of such a cable, to be laid between the United States and Germany, if a final agreement is entered into with the German Government."

INCLUDES BOSTON & ALBANY

I. C. C. In New Orders Puts That Road In Favored New England Rate Category.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the New England rate case were amended today by a special act of the commission so as to give that portion of the Boston & Albany Railroad lying in New England territory an increase in revenues similar to that previously allowed other New England lines, and to prevent complications arising in the application of the terms of the order to traffic within New England territory.

The commission's decision in the New England rate case was attacked recently by transcontinental railroads in a court proceeding filed at New York. New England railroads, claiming that their financial condition required them to get larger revenues, asked and obtained from the commission a ruling requiring railroads outside of New England to pay over to them an increase of 15 per cent. in freight charges on joint shipments. The commission set forth that the special conditions prevailing in New England transportation made the claim a just one, and ordered all of the trunk lines of the United States to change the basis of apportioning the joint receipts from shipments moving over the New England railroads and one or more railroads outside of New England, so that the New England roads would get an increase of 15 per cent.

The Boston & Albany was excepted from the original order because of its ownership by the New York Central and its operation as part of a system outside of New England. The order today rectified the omission and defined the Albany's relationship. In addition, in view of the possibility that the terms of the original order might have caused some confusion, it was said, in its application to shipments moving entirely within New England, but over the Boston & Albany and another New England road, provisions were made today to clarify the order as it relates to such conditions. The increase for the New England roads will become effective accordingly, unless the court test results in a decision sustaining the contention of the trunk line railroads outside of New England that their earnings cannot lawfully be reduced in order to increase earnings of other systems.

PETROLEUM PROFITS DROP.

The Magnolia Petroleum Company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1921, reports gross income of $55,139,890 against $72,643,640 in the previous year. Net earnings, after depreciation, depletion and other charges, but before Federal taxes, amounted to $10,226,460, equal to $8.51 a share on the $20,000,000 capital stock outstanding. In 1920 the company reported $23,157,188 net, equal to $19.73 a share. Details of the income account follow:

Bolivia Places $24,000,000 Issue.

Bolivian Government officials are reported to have arranged with a group of local bankers to sell here an issue of $24,000,000 7 per cent. bonds. Bolivia has been in the American money market for several weeks, but recently it was thought the loan would go to London. The public offering of the new bonds will probably occur in a few days.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

European exchanges were dull and fractionally under Tuesday's levels at the close yesterday. Sterling reacted from $4.37⅞ at the start to $4.36¼, but finished slightly higher, while French dipped below the 9-cent level by getting down to 8.96¼ cents.

Greek exchange featured in a sharp advance of 15 points to 4.53 cents. German marks were also higher, notwithstanding Reichsbank statement showing expansion in circulation. Italian was firm, with Spanish, Belgian and mid-Europeans lower. South Americans were higher, Far Easterns irregular.

In the subjoined table the quotation on sterling represents dollars and decimals of a dollar; all others represent cents and decimals of a cent. Quotations preceded by the decimal mark indicate a price measured in fractions of a cent.

STEEL PRICES RISE WITH ACTIVE BUYING

Trade Expects March Orders to Be Largest Since July or August, 1920.

$2 TO $3 ADVANCES MADE

Mills Working at 71 to 80 Per Cent. of Capacity—Coal Strike Discounted.

Steel companies gained considerable ground during the past week in their efforts to increase selling prices. The gain was accompanied by more active buying by consumers and by an increase in output. Both producers and consumers of steel are reported to be surprised at the manner in which buying has developed since the first of the month. The trade now predicts that new orders for March may prove to be the largest of any month since July or August, 1920.

"The Steel Corporation's statement as to its policy, made last week, tended to add strength to the market but did not name definite prices," says The Iron Age. "It is interpreted to mean that the corporation will follow promptly any advances made by its competitors. While some small sales of bars, shapes and plates have been made at 1.50c., Pittsburgh, the fact is that business is still being taken at lower figures where transactions were left open until April 1.

"With only three days remaining before the closing down of union coal mines, the steel trade shows little change in its attitude, the opinion still prevailing that no serious fuel scarcity can be produced. Some producers of steel hesitate to blow in additional blast furnaces, not for fear of curtailment of their own operations, but from uncertainty as to the fuel supplies of their customers."

While the plants of the United States Steel Corporation as a whole are operating at about 71 per cent. of capacity, the Carnegie Steel Company this week is running over 75 per cent. and the Gary plant over 80 per cent.

The Iron Trade Review, in part, says: "An advance of $2 to $3 per ton has been made in semi-finished material, with actual sales at the higher level, especially in sheet bars. At least three independent mills are advancing sheets $3 per ton, effective April 1. So much talk of higher prices has featured the market this week that a warning note is sounded in some quarters against the danger of a too rapid advance, although such a possibility does not appear immediate.

"A material rise, the first since July, 1920, is shown by the market composite of fourteen iron and steel products of The Iron Trade Review. The average this week, $35.36, compared with $32.80 last week, $32.87 two weeks ago, $32.56 for all February, $33.45 for January and $27.93 for March, 1913.

"The present outlook is for a much earlier settling of the season's lake ore prices than recently had been expected."

NEW CANADIAN SECURITIES.

Several Corporation Issues Soon to Be Offered.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, Que., March 29.—The Canadian investment market has been showing lately some expansion for corporation issues and several of them have appeared in the last few days. It is stated here that a block of the new Canadian General Electric Company 20-year 6 per cent. debentures, which are to be offered in New York Thursday at 101 and accrued interest, may be placed in the Canadian market, and there is little doubt that the block could be readily absorbed.

The Nova Scotia Tramways and Power Company, Ltd., is contemplating an issue of $1,500,000 series A 7 per cent. 30-year coupon bonds. These bonds will be payable in the United States and Canada and their offering will be announced soon.

The Provincial Paper Company, which is building a large extension to its plant at Port Arthur, soon will enter the market for at least $1,500,000 to finance the new equipment necessary.

The Wayagamack Pulp and Paper Company has announced a new issue, the terms of which are not yet known, while Wabasso Cotton and Tooke Brothers are raising new issues, the latter two being of small current nature.

The Port of Montreal will open for the 1922 season of navigation on April 24, one week earlier than last year. To the Canada Steamship Lines will go the honors of the first vessels in and out of the port. With vessels both east and westbound on that date, the Montreal-Quebec service will be started.

Announcement

The Anglo London Paris Company has been organized and will conduct in the future the investment banking business formerly conducted by the Bond Department of The Anglo & London Paris National Bank of San Francisco.

The growth of the bank's business in securities requires a separate organization which is free to render fullest scope of individual service to clients.

Both the policy and management of the new Company will be the same as its predecessor, which will cooperate to the fullest extent with the new Company.

The Anglo & London Paris National Bank

Pennsylvania Edison Company

Cumulative Preferred Stock

Dividends $8 per Share per annum

Prosperity

The power and gas industry has entered a period of prosperity and the Pennsylvania Edison Company is one of the good examples of power and gas companies, well managed, soundly financed and serving a prosperous and growing territory.

Improvement in the showing of public utilities is one of the outstanding features in the investment situation today.

The improvement in the Pennsylvania Edison condition is a decided one. In 1921 the net earnings were equivalent to three and one-third times the preferred dividends, and in January, 1922, the earnings were at the rate of 5½ times the preferred dividends.

The price of the Pennsylvania Edison Preferred Stock, yielding 8%, has not yet taken full account of the company's improvement.

The advice of a well known business man

WHEN making your will a trust company should be chosen as executor in preference to an individual. Its experience, financial responsibility and continuous existence provide the safeguards which are so essential.

It may be, however, that you wish the provisions of your will carried out by someone you know personally—someone who will have the interest of a close friend in your family's comfort and happiness.

You may easily accomplish this by appointing an individual executor and at the same time obtain the many advantages of a trust company executorship by naming The Equitable as your co-executor, to act with the person whom you and your family know. You will then be assured of a personal interest all the more valuable because it will be reinforced by the strength, responsibility and perpetual existence of a large trust company.

The Trust Officers of the Equitable Trust Company will gladly explain its services as executor or co-executor under a will, as administrator of an estate, and as trustee of life insurance and other property for the benefit of dependents.

CHANGING MARKET IN CHICAGO GRAINS

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Wheat prices, while fluctuating rapidly, failed to get far in either direction, and, after a range of 1⅛@2¾ cents, closed with net losses of ¾@1¼ cents, May showing the most strength. Conflicting reports are being received on crop conditions in the Southwest, with the official returns making a favorable showing as far as Kansas is concerned, while the private reports, in the main unfavorable, are not being backed with buying orders.

The greater part of the trade today was of a local character, with the Pit element getting long on the bulge and selling out later, making the closing decline.

J. A. Taylor's report made Winter wheat conditions on March 21 around 80.3, compared with the Government figures of 76 in December, 91 last year and a ten-year average of 84.3. This suggests a crop of 586,000,000 bushels, on the basis of average abandonment of acreage, compared with 587,000,000 bushels harvested last year.

The greater part of the cash wheat news was bearish, with export demand generally slow. The Canadian National Railroad has embargoed shipments of grain to Fort William and Port Arthur, due to lack of storage room, and it is said that a great deal of grain is being held on side tracks, waiting to get into store. Sentiment is very much mixed with a rather general belief that erratic fluctuations will be the rule rather than the exception until there is a change in the character of the news.

A summary of the various reports being received from the Southwest shows that there is nothing alarming in the situation there so far, and at present no more than an average abandonment of acreage is to be expected, except in various parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, where it will take growing weather to determine the losses. Considerable wheat is expected to move out from Canadian ports to Duluth for Minneapolis millers at the opening of navigation, and Manitobas were offered here today on the basis of 48 cents over May, duty paid.

A hearing will be held at Kansas City tomorrow, on the request of shippers there and at Omaha, on a proposition to permit the wheat on old billing to be moved under the new rates. The Interstate Commerce Commission is not expected to agree to the proposition.

Sentiment in corn remains rather hearish, and, with a light trade, prices closed ¼ to ¾ cent lower, while oats against showed independent strength and gained ¼ cent. Exporters are after corn and fairly liberal sales are being made abroad, but the pressure of cash grain remains on the market, with No. 2 selling at 2 to 2¾ cents under May corn, while the carrying charge is only about 2 cents to May 1.

Due to an error in Buffalo stocks, the visible supply was incorrectly today to show an increase of 87,000 bushels instead of a decrease of 513,000 bushels, and the total stock is 49,596,000 bushels, against 32,074,000 bushels last year.

Primary arrivals of wheat so far this week are 2,020,000 bushels; previous week, 2,221,000; last year, 1,897,000. Shipments are 1,374,000 bushels; previous week, 1,557,000; last year, 1,624,000.

Corn receipts have been 2,284,000 bushels; previous week, 2,426,000; last year, 2,058,000, and shipments, 1,465,000 bushels; previous week, 1,973,000; last year, 1,490,000.

CAR LOADINGS SHOW DECLINE FOR WEEK

Freight Traffic Is Liveliest in Lumber, Ore and Manufactured Products.

Car loadings for the week ended on March 18 totaled 823,369, a decrease of 5,759 cars as compared with the 829,128 cars loaded during the previous week. It was stated yesterday by the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association. The figure for March 18 was, however, an increase of 131,973 cars over the corresponding week of 1921, when loadings were 691,396, but was 31,691 under the corresponding week in 1920, when car loadings were 855,060.

As compared with the preceding week, increases in the loading of forest products, ore, merchandise and miscellaneous freight, which includes manufactured products, were reported, but there were decreases in the loading of coal, live stock, grain and grain products and coke.

Loadings of merchandise and miscellaneous freight totaled 497,637 cars, an increase of 12,944 over the week before, and 56,097 more than were loaded during the corresponding week in 1921. A decrease of 19,314 cars was reported, however, as compared with the corresponding week in 1920.

Loadings of forest products amounted to 54,509 cars, an increase over the week before of 3,479. This was 5,041 cars in excess of the same week last year, but 11,669 less than were loaded during the same week in 1920. An increase of 209 cars over the week before was reported for ore, which brought the total to 8,310 cars, or 781 under the corresponding week of 1921, and approximately one-third the number loaded during that week in 1920.

Coal loadings declined 13,885 cars as compared with the week before, the total being 190,683. As compared with the corresponding week of 1921 this was an increase of 64,715 cars, and 8,728 more than were loaded during the same week in 1920.

A decrease of 5,264 cars also was reported for grain and grain products compared with the previous week, the total being 39,896. This was, however, 2,977 more than were loaded during the week in 1921 and 7,119 in excess of the total for the corresponding week the previous year. Live stock, with a total of 26,722 cars, showed a reduction under the preceding week of 3,208 cars, which was, however, 228 more than were loaded during the corresponding week last year, but 2,644 below the same week in 1920.

Loadings by weeks since the beginning of the year have been compared with the corresponding weeks of the two preceding years in the following table:

As compared by districts, reductions under the week before in the total loading of all commodities were reported in all except the Allegheny and Southern districts, but increases over the corresponding week in 1921.

GETS TUNNEL CONTRACT.

Bethlehem Company Will Supply Steel for Vehicular Tube.

The recent report that the Bethlehem Steel Corporation had obtained the contract for supplying the bulk of the steel to be used in the construction of the New York and New Jersey Vehicular Tunnel was confirmed yesterday. Booth & Flinn, Inc., are the general contactors. A total of 110,000 tons of cast iron segments will be required in the construction of the tube of which 83,000 will be supplied by Bethlehem and 27,000 tons by Davies & Thomas.

The Bethlehem Company also received the contract for 10,000 tons of steel casting for all the caisson steel needed as well as orders for 50 per cent. of all the bolts and nuts used. The rest of the order for bolts and nuts went to the Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Company. The Merchants' Shipbuilding Company received the contract for shield steel.

WHOLESALE GASOLINE UP.

Cosden & Co., Oklahoma oil jobbers, have announced an advance of one cent a gallon in the price of gasoline to 16 cents a gallon, according to reports received in Wall Street yesterday. This advance covers the Middle West, and predictions are made that other companies will announce a similar increase.

Many of the companies operating in the Middle West territory are reported to be heavily stocked with gasoline, as a result of curtailment in demand during the Winter months. In this group the companies comprising the Standard Oil group are said to have large supplies on hand.

International Paper Dividend.

Directors of the International Paper Company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the preferred stock, payable April 15 to stock of record April 7. Recent rumors had declared that the Directors might reduce or pass this dividend because the annual report for 1921, expected shortly, may make an unfavorable showing because of the company's labor troubles last year.

Truscon Steel Dividend Cut.

Directors of the Truscon Steel Company yesterday reduced the quarterly dividend on the common stock from $1.75 to $1 a share, according to dispatches received in Wall Street. According to the information the company's plants are expected to operate at about 80 per cent. of capacity by the middle of April against 50 per cent. reported recently. For 1921 the company reported the first loss in its history.

American Smelting Surplus $571,377.

The American Smelting Securities Company, for 1921, reports net income of $3,995,095, against $5,386,669 in 1920. The surplus after dividends amounted to $571,377, thus increasing the profit and loss surplus at the close of the year to $7,310,998.

Vice President Bethell Resigns.

F. H. Bethell has resigned as Vice President of the White Oil Corporation, following the moving of the company's headquarters to Houston, Texas.

U. S. Steel Monthly Meeting.

Presidents of the subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation attended the regular monthly meeting held at the company's main office here yesterday.

Cotton Exchange Seat Up to $18,000

PHONE CO. APPEALS AGAINST RATE CUT

Asks Federal Court to Restrain Service Commission From Enforcing Decrease.

The New York Telephone Company began an equity action in the Federal Court yesterday to restrain the Public Service Commission from enforcing its orders requiring a reduction in telephone charges of 5 per cent. in this city and about 7½ per cent. elsewhere in the State on April 1. A complaint filed by the company alleges that theproposed reduction, if carried into effect, would result in the confiscation of its property used in the telephone service.

Figures in the complaint, and in accompanying affidavits fix the value of the company's property in the State as of Jan. 31, 1922, at $247,485,923, the reproduction cost at $373,009,000 and the "present fair and reasonable value" at more than $323,000,000.

It is alleged in the complaint that the return on the cost of the property at the present service rates was only 3.41 per cent for the last half of 1921 and that the yield for the entire year was only 2.55 per cent. The claim is made that the company is entitled to earn, under rates imposed by public authority, 6 per cent, and that if the orders of the commission are carried out the financial results will prevent the company earning any return in excess of 2.56 per cent upon the cost of the property and 1.96 per cent upon its "fair and reasonable value."

J. S. McCulloh, vice-president of the company, sent out a statement in which he said that the company had always tried to co-operate with the commission and that this is the first time it has been compelled to appeal to the courts for protection against a rate order. He explained that the reason for the action was a desire to protect the interests of investors who have ventured large sums in the business of the company and states that if the orders should be enforced it would hamper the company in adequately serving the public. The statement says in part:

"The rates charged for telephone service in New York State are not adequate to produce a fair return upon the value of the property now actually used in the public service. The rates ordered into effect April 1 by the commission would be confiscatory. The telephone company has 787,000 subscribers in New York State. The proposed rates would save the average subscriber about one cent a day, but in the aggregate would reduce our annual revenue at least $3,000,000. Such a reduction would create a serious situation in the conduct of our business.

"It is or legal obligation to furnish comprehensive telephone service of a high quality to the public. We believe that the public demands and is entitled to the best telephone service that can be given and that it is willing to pay a fair rate for such service. We cannot meet this obligation unless our earnings are sufficient to pay the necessary operating expenses and also provide a fair return upon the value of the property actually used in the public service. To this end our earnings must at all times be so fair and reasonable that they will attract the new capital which we continually require in large amounts for new construction and the expansion of the system."

WINTER GRAIN GROWS WELL.

The Government's review of the past week's weather in the crop belt was as follows:

Winter grains continue to make satisfactory progress generally, especially in the central valley States and in the South. Winter wheat has greened up and is growing nicely in the Ohio Valley, while the condition and progress of the crop continue generally satisfactory in the middle Mississippi and lower Missouri Valley districts. Another week of good weather for wheat was experienced in the central and lower Great plains and the additional moisture in Texas was beneficial.

Very little Spring wheat has yet been seeded. A small amount was sown in some localities in the southern portion of the belt, but this work is now somewhat behind the average season owing to unfavorable soil conditions.

Cotton planting made rapid progress in California and Oklahoma under favorable weather conditions. Little or none has yet been planted in the central Gulf district, but in the western portion of the belt this work has extended northward to the central counties of Texas, while good progress was made in more southeastern portions of the belt.

Early planted cotton was favorably affected by the weather of the week in Southern Texas, while much is up in Southern Georgia. Preparation of the soil for this crop was delayed in the central portions of the belt by wet soil conditions, but progressed favorably in the more eastern districts.

FEARS A DEPLETED FRANCE.

Population May Be 25,000,000 in 1965, Paris Paper Says.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 29.—The Matin in an article today predicts that France, if she does not awaken to the danger of the falling birthrate, will be, by 1965, a nation of 25,000,000 people. The prognostication is based on the alarming decrease in marriages and births during the last two years, which, if continued, it is held, will by 1940 reduce the population from 39,000,000 to 35,000,000.

Referring to the present agitated discussion in the Chamber over military service, the Matin urges that body to remember that the safeguarding of France's natality is the most essential part of the entire program of national defense.

Ask Increase in Electric Stock.

Stockholders of the General Electric Company at the annual meeting to be held in Schenectady on May 9 will be asked to vote approval of an amendment to the by-laws increasing the Directors from 15 to 19, and also to vote on an increase of $35,000,000 in the capital stock, consisting of 3,500,000 shares of $10 par value. The new stock would have neither voting nor subscription rights, but would be entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of 6 per cent. annually. It is the plan of the company to distribute the new stock in the form of dividends. Transfer books for the purpose of the meeting, will close April 11 and reopen May 10.

Consortium Plan Next Month.

A meeting of the American members of the Chinese Consortium was held yesterday, but no action was taken. It is expected that a meeting of the International Executive Committee will be held in London or Paris in April and that a program for the consortium will be arranged at that time. Banking members of the consortium here are inclined to agree with Sir Charles Addis, who suggests that railroad construction work be inaugurated in none of the independent political subdivisions.

California Railway Loses $6,637.

The pamphlet report of the California Railway & Power Company for 1921 shows total income of $4,848, total expenses and other charges of $11,485, net loss of $6,637 and profit and loss surplus at the beginning of 1921 of $77,6[illegible]. As of December 31, 1921, the profit and loss surplus was $99,089.

Erie Calls in Three-Year Notes.

The Erie Railroad Company announced yesterday that the principal and interest due April 1, 1922, of their three-year 6 per cent. secured gold notes will be paid on and after April 1, 1922, upon the surrender of the notes and coupons at the office of the Bankers Trust Company.

ASSAILS SHIP BOARD FOR DENYING CLAIMS

Asserts Payment Is Refused on Goods Furnished to Put Flag on the Seas.

Asserting that as a result of the attitude of the United States Shipping Board on the claims of innocent creditors of the defunct United States Mail Steamship Company "costly and interminable litigation" may be necessary before the claims are recognized by the Shipping Board, the committee representing the creditors issued a statement yesterday attacking the stand ascribed to the board in connection with the claims.

The committee, according to its Chairman, George C. Sprague, of Hunt, Hill & Betts, 120 Broadway, represents 600 New York merchants and contractors who, "in trying to do their share toward building up an American merchant marine, suffered financially to the extent of $1,500,000." A measure now before Congress provides $5,500,000 for paying the United States Mail creditors. According to Mr. Sprague, the board admits the liability in the case of the ships George Washington and America, but will not admit the liability in the case of other ships of the line. The result, he asserted, is that the money can be recovered only after costly and lengthy litigation.

The statement says that the attitude taken by the board toward the claims growing out of the United States Mail Line bankrupcy "is so disgraceful that it is rapidly becoming a scandal in the eyes of the maritime world.

"That as it was considered a patriotic duty for Americans to travel on these ships, so was it considered a patriotic duty on the part of New York merchants to rush supplies to them and to dispatch boats, so that they might not be delayed in their advertised sailings," the statement continues. "Following the bankruptcy of the line, it was learned that a clause in the charter agreement provided that the Mail Line was responsible for its debts, and not the actual owner of the ships—the Government.

"There were total claims against the Mail Line aggregating $5,500,000. The Shipping Board promptly began its discriminatory process. Some of these claims were paid, some were not. In some cases, it appeared, supplies had been ordered direct by the Shipping Board for these ships, and those bills were paid. Supplies ordered by officers of the company, and delivered in equally good faith, have not been paid for.

"It turns out that the reconditioning work done on two of these ships, the George Washington and the America, was paid for by the Shipping Board because Admiral Benson had promised that the work would be paid for. And because Admiral Benson forgot to mention some of the other Government-owned boats operated under precisely the same charter agreement by the Mail Line, such bills remain unpaid. And so runs the whole disgraceful arrangement."

TO RESUME GERMAN TRADE.

Australian Cabinet Sets Aug. 1 as Date—To Prevent Dumping.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Feb. 7 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Trade with Germany will be resumed on Aug. 1, it has been definitely decided by the Federal Cabinet. This will end a period of seven years during which the embargo on trade with enemy countries was enforced. It was decided to postpone the resumption until August in order that measures might be taken to prevent dumping of German goods.

Premier Hughes declined to comment on reports that German shipping companies will inaugurate a service to Australia shortly. It is said that the companies plan to pay very low wages to officers and men and that the vessels would be run under conditions against which British shipping could not compete. It is understood that if these lines are established the Commonwealth Government will take steps to protect British interests. Extensive powers are given the Commonwealth under the Navigation Act, and these may be invoked, it was said.

Two Considered for Labor Board.

Following the announcement yesterday of the resignation of Albert Phillips, one of the three labor members of the United States Railway Labor Board, it was learned in local railway circles that E. H. FitzGerald, President of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, and J. J. Forrester, former President of this union, were being considered for the vacancy. Mr. Forrester is a former member of the board, having been appointed by President Wilson, but after his term expired he was superseded by W. L. McMenimen, formerly an officer of the trainmen's union. It was believed that the appointment of either Fitzgerald or Forrester would appease the railway clerks dissatisfied because they are not directly represented on the board.

Public Service to Spend $10,000,000

The Public Service Electric Company, a subsidiary of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, is developing plans for increasing the capacity of its property to meet increased demands from domestic consumers and power users. The new installation will call for an expenditure of about $10,000,000 over a period of three years. The first additions to the generating capacity will be at the Essex station, in Newark, and it is also contemplated to increase the capacity of the Jersey City and Burlington stations.

Italy's Revenue Increases.

The Italian Government Commission, 291 Broadway, has received cable news from the Minister of Commerce stating that Italian Treasury receipts for the period from July, 1921 to February, 1922, amounted to 8,435,000,000 lire, which represent an excess of 1,409,600,000 lire over those for the corresponding period 1920-21. The greater part of this remarkable improvement was contributed by an increase of 792,000,000 lire in direct taxes.

Colorado Power Surplus Grows.

The Colorado Power Company, in its annual report for 1921, shows gross operating revenues of $908,844, a decrease of $122,585, or 10.9 per cent., as compared with 1920. Net operating revenue stood at $408,987, a decrease of $103,507, or 20.2 per cent., as against 1920, while the surplus as of Dec. 31, 1921, was shown at $702,705, as compared with $683,737 in 1920.

New Sinclair Pipe Line Ready.

The Sinclair Pipe Line Company has announced the completion of its 135-mile pipe line into the new Mexia oil field in Texas. The company also has completed thirty-four steel storage tanks having a combined capacity of about 2,370,000 barrels. Facilities for an additional 2,240,000 barrels are under construction.

Refined Sugar Cut to 5.25 Cents.

The Federal Sugar Refining Company yesterday announced a reduction in the price of refined sugar to 5.25 cents a pound.

COTT'N SELLS OFF ON CROP OUTLOOK

Prices Decline 8 to 10 Points on Favorable News From Planting Sections.

Better progress in planting preparations with very little demand for cotton of higher grades brought a slight decline in prices yesterday. The volume of business continued limited, about the only order of importance being a sale of 5,000 bales of May executed within limits of three points. Half the cotton recently received here has been shipped out with freight room reported engaged for more. Manchester advices showed a good business for the Far East which strengthened spot prices in Liverpool. Trade calling helped sustain the market, but final prices showed a decline of 8 to 10 points.

Nothing in early news or course of prices abroad arose to break the existing deadlock. Daily covering demand for hedges, removed from either the May or July position as cotton is sold to the trade, furnished practically all the early business. Demand carried May over 17.80 and July over 17.20. But heavy rains in Western sections, where moisture is beneficial, and generally favorable surroundings in the East, served to offset this buying. Steadiness in both spot quotations and near positions in Liverpool reflected improvement in demand from foreign export circles which in turn influenced old crop months here.

A few thousand bales changed hands early, but arbitrage business was soon completed, July working off 10 points before midday. May increased its premium to 63 points over July, indicating no loosening up of conditions existing in the former month. At the moment, a concentrated long interest is being maintained in May against hedges in July while new crop month are widely distributed. Several commission houses have been buyers of either October or December recently on the theory that risks on that side of the account are less than on the other at this season of the year. Uncertainty over the question of acreage renders the size of yield sufficiently problematical to prevent general selling pressure on distant positions.

The weekly weather summary reflected the best progress in planting made thus far this season. While little had been done in Central Gulf States, planting in Western portions of the belt has extended northward to central counties of Texas. Good progress has likewise been made in the southeastern counties of that State. Considerable cotton is now up in Southern Georgia. Preparations have been delayed by wet soil in the central portions of the belt, but are now progressing rapidly in the more easterly districts.

Though the showing is highly satisfactory, it was not until afternoon that marked effect appeared in trading. Orders for about 1,500 bales of October at 16.75 remained unfilled for two hours before new crop contracts began to appear in the ring. Even then demand proved sufficient to absorb supply without quotations yielding more than 2 or 3 points.

The sale of a block of 5,000 May occurred in the last hour. This is the largest single transaction in some days. Selling started at 17.73 and the line was disposed of at 17.70. Cotton was taken in small quantities, few brokers buying as much as 500 bales. With an increased supply of May contracts available, later months eased off, October selling to 16.66 and July as low as 17.05. Each point decline encountered buying orders in various months. The purchase of several thousand July at the close caused a recovery of 5 points, steadying all positions but without essential change in the tone.

Fractional Losses Reported—Metals as a Group Hold Firm.

Scattered recessions through the subjoined list of cash staples, in which all groups were affected, was the gist of the dealings in yesterday's local wholesale markets. The declines were found in corn, sugar, butter, lard and cotton. Firmness was apparent in the metals which ruled unchanged over Tuesday's levels. Other grains, provisions and groceries likewise held steady.

Following are the cash prices for the principal commodities in the wholesale market at the close of business Wednesday, a week before and a year ago:

GRAND OPERA HOUSE PROPERTY RESOLD

Frederick Brown Disposes of Famous Structure After Six Weeks Ownership.

WAS HELD AT $1,000,000

The Grand Opera House at Twenty-third Street and Eighth Avenue was re-sold yesterday by Frederick Brown, operator, to Morris M. Glaser of 1,133 Broadway, for investment.

It was held at $1,000,000 and Mr. Brown, who is in Arizona, closed the deal by wire.

The property which was purchased by Mr. Brown on Feb. 9, 1922, from the estate of Jay Gould includes the block front on the west side of Eighth Avenue from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth Street, with a frontage of 197.6 feet on the avenue and a depth of 275 feet on both Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Streets.

It has an assessed valuation of $839,000, according to the 1922 records of the Tax Department.

It is understood that the buyer will improve the present buildings, which were erected in 1868. Maurice Renard and Way & Day negotiated the resale.

As a site for a taxpayer containing thirty-five stores Irving Judis, operator, had purchased from the estate of Mary J. Pinkney the triangular block, bounded by Broadway, 125th Street and St. Clair Place.

The property which is vacant contains about 16,000 square feet and was held at $225,000. H. W. Steinberg negotiated the sale.

Hampton Shops Buys Site.

Hampton Shops, Inc., has purchased the site of its eleven-story building at 18 and 20 East Fiftieth Street from Helene B. Garvey Hayden.

The site, which measures 56.2 by 100.5, is located between Fifth and Madison Avenues, facing St. Patrick's Cathedral.

This purchase terminates one of the most remarkable leases ever executed in this city. In 1893 Andrew Jeffries Garvey drew up a lease of the premises, then containing two substantial dwellings, to Arthur H. Cutler of the Cutler School. The lease was to begin the following year and run for twenty-one years at $6,500 per annum. It also carried options of renewals for similar terms to run indefinitely. The lease differed from others in that the rental called for in the first term was to be continued throughout the lease, should it be 500 years or even more, making it practically one in perpetuity. Ordinarily in long-term leases rentals are arranged on a re-appraisal of the property every twenty-one years.

The taxes on the property at the time of the lease were $1,037.40 a year, and it was agreed the owner would always pay this tax, but anything in excess should be paid by the tenant.

In 1908 the Cutlers assigned the lease to W. W. & T. M. Hall, and six years later they disposed of the lease to the Grand Rapids Furniture Company, which improved it with an eleven-story building. This subsequently became the property of the Hampton Shops, Inc. The Mutual Life Insurance Company has advanced a loan of $300,000 on the property.

BIG THIRD AVENUE DEAL.

The Gutman estate sold to John King and Benjamin Sherman the northwest corner of Third Avenue and 118th Street, being 2,162 to 2,174 Third Avenue, and including 1 to 10 Lincoln Place, being a plot of 150 feet on Third Avenue and 140 feet deep, with some fifteen houses, including the large building on Third Avenue occupied for years by the Michigan Furniture Company. George W. Bretzell was the broker in the transaction.

One year ago the same broker sold to Judge Finch 2,176 Third Avenue, on lot 25 by 185, and then leased for Judge Finch to these parties for a term of eighty years a plot 50 by 185, being the southwest corner of 119th Street and Third Avenue, upon which they have erected the large moving picture theatre called the Stadium. They have also purchased all the houses on the westerly side of Lincoln Place, including two houses on the northwest corner of Lincoln Place and 119th Street, so that now they own or control the entire westerly side of Third Avenue between 118th and 119th Streets, being a plot 200 by 185.

Loans Placed.

Lawrence, Blake & Jewell placed a building loan of $1,000,000 on the property 139-145 West Thirty-fifth Street, running through to 132-138 West Thirty-sixth Street, with William Henry Barnum & Co. This property, which fronts seventy-five feet on each street is now being improved with a twelve-story fireproof building by a company controlled by S. Morrell Banner and Herbert E. Miller.

Edwards, Dowdney & Richart have placed for the 1,480 Shakespeare Avenue Corporation a building and permanent loan of $75,000 on premises east side of Shakespeare Avenue, 140 feet north of 172d Street, with the Lawyers Mortgage Company. They have also placed a first mortgage of $43,000 on 963 Whitlock Avenue.

Authoress in Sale and Purchase.

Mrs. Alice Duer Miller, the authoress, sold 128 East Fifty-fifth Street to S. Albert Reed. This is a three-story house, on a lot 16.8 by 100. The same brokers, Douglas Gibbons & Co., sold Mrs. Miller this house a few years ago. It was held at $40,000.

The estate of Mrs. James B. Taller has sold through Douglas Gibbons & Co. 19 East Seventy-fifth Street, 18 by 102.5, a four-story dwelling, to Mrs. Alice Duer Miller, who will alter it into a modern private residence for her own occupancy. The same brokers sold this house to Mrs. Taller about two years ago.

Recent Buyers.

Herman Knepper Company is the purchaser of the block on the westerly side of Webster Avenue, between Mosholu Parkway and 201st Street; also the corner of the plot, 100 [illegible] the east-erly side of Webster [illegible], 125 feet north of 171st Street. Herman Knepper Company also the corner of the plot 50 [illegible] on the west-erly side of Third [illegible] opposite the Bronx Court House, [illegible] will be improved with a [illegible] building for business.

PRIVATE HOUSE SALES.

Active Demand for Small Manhattan Residence Properties.

Louis Carreau, representing the estate of Marie A. Dunley, sold the three-story dwelling at 135 West Seventy-seventh Street. The purchaser, Edith M. Stoughton, will occupy the house after alterations are completed. The property was held at $30,000. M. H. Gaillard & Company were the brokers.

James H. Cruickshank resold to Delia M. Brannelly 157 West Eighty-second Street, a three-story private dwelling on lot 17.6 by 80 feet, which he purchased last week from Kate Oberkirch. Edward J. Reilly was the broker.

Brown, Wheelock Company, Inc., sold for Leonard Weill, operator, the property at 49 Macdougal Street, a three-story dwelling on lot 19.2 by 74. This is one of three properties purchased by Mr. Weill through the same brokers from the Leggett Estate last week.

Negotiations are pending for the sale of the remaining properties, 171 and 173 West Houston Street. A chain store is expecting to close on a long term lease on 146 and 148 West Houston Street, being the northeast corner of Macdougal and Houston Streets, recently purchased through Brown-Wheelock Company.

The Loughran Estate sold the three-story dwelling at 324 East Thirtieth Street and have secured for the purchaser a mortgage of $6,000 from the Title Guarantee & Trust Company. The purchaser expects to occupy the house. James Kyle & Sons were the brokers.

Fred Oppenheimer, who recently purchased the property at auction, resold the four-story private house at 322 Convent Avenue, 20 feet north of 143d Street, to a client for occupancy. The property was held at $23,500.

Samuel Untermyer, Isaac Untermyer and Laurence Steinhardt, as executors of the estate of Addie Steinhardt, sold, through the Brown-Wheelock Co., the four-story residence at 23 East Ninety-second Street on a lot 20.6 by 100.8 feet. This house, held at $60,000, has been in the selling family for twenty years. The new owners will occupy.

BROOKLYN LANDMARK SOLD.

Investor Buys the Old Atheneum on Atlantic Avenue.

The Brooklyn Atheneum property at the northeast corner of Atlantic Avenue and Clinton Street has been sold through the Chauncey Real Estate Company to Joseph Homsy for investment.

This historic structure once was the centre of Brooklyn culture. The Brooklyn Atheneum and Reading Room was founded in 1848 and incorporated in 1852, and is the oldest corporation now in existence in the State.

The present tenants of the building have leases which will not expire for at least two years. The buyer has not decided as yet what disposition he will make of the property at the end of that time.

Bronx Market Active.

Harry Cahn, the operator, resold to Bella Feurst and Rebecca Cahill the four-story new-law apartment known as 2,391 Davidson Avenue, near Fordham Road, on lot 50 by 100, arranged for eighteen families, being held at $55,000.

The six-story apartment house on a lot 62 by 99 feet at 445 East 168th Street was sold by Bartels & Waxman, as brokers, for Max Mandell. The property brings a yearly rental of $15,000.

The same brokers sold for J. Lieberman 708 Fairmount Place, a three-story one-family brick house, to F. Potenzer.

M. M. Reynolds sold for Neckmore Realty Company the two-family dwelling on a plot 60 by 100, at 1,243 Theriot Avenue. John Blemann is the buyer.

The same broker sold for John Gallagher a plot 25 by 100 on McGraw Avenue to Frank Martino, and for C. Height 286 feet by 145 feet on the east side of Benedict Avenue, 350 feet from Pugsley Avenue.

The Twenty-third Ward Bank sold to George B. Janss the vacant plot, 50 by 90, on the west side of Carpenter Avenue, 198 feet north of 239th Street. I. Clarence Davies was the broker.

W. D. Morgan sold the lot 25 by 200 on the north side of Mount Eden Avenue, 105 feet west of Jerome Avenue, for Mrs. Hannah Sheahan.

Today's Auction Sales.

The Leggett Building, at the corner of West Broadway, Varick and Franklin Streets, is to be sold in liquidation today at noon, at a special sale to be conducted by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, at 14 Vesey Street.

Other properties to be offered at the same sale include 103 Bronx lots in and adjacent to Sound View, Lafayette and St. Lawrence Avenues; 112 lots at Hicksville, L. I., on Hickory, Linden, Pine and adjacent streets, near the railroad station; 20 lots on Monroe and Sherman Avenues, Plainfield, N. J., and other city and suburban properties.

The Brooklyn Market.

The three-story brownstone dwelling at 105 St. John's Place, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues, was sold by the A. J. Shannon Company for Mrs. M. Rogers to a client for occupancy.

The same brokers sold 66 Berkeley Place, near Sixth Avenue, a two and one-half-story brick dwelling for Mrs. Lucille Peck.

Meister Builders, Inc., sold to Ralph H. Segal fifteen building lots on Coney Island Avenue and East Eleventh Street and Avenue X, upon which he will erect two-family dwellings.

The three-story brick store building at 4,418 Fourth Avenue was sold by Frank A. Seaper & Co. for H. R. Dunkum to an investor.

In the Hyde Park section William E. Harmon & Co. sold the southwesterly corner of Clarendon Road and East Fifty-fourth Street to John Friedgen, southwesterly corner of Canarsie Road and East Ninety-third Street to B. F. Buchanan, southwesterly corner of Clarendon Road and East Fifty-first Street to Sam Keraner, and northeasterly corner of East Forty-sixth Street and Foster Avenue to David Guarda.

James B. Allen, as broker, sold 295 Rogers Avenue, between Crown and Montgomery Streets, two-story and store building, for the Marmer Real Estate Corporation, to a client for investment; 312 Rogers Avenue, a two-story and store brick building, for the Marmer Real Estate Corporation, to a client for occupancy; forty-foot plot on the south side of Sullivan Street, 140 feet east of Bedford Avenue, for Charles D. Bush, to a client for improvement; forty-foot plot on East Forty-sixth Street, near Avenue M, to J. Mlenik for improvement, and 892 Nostrand Avenue, a two-story building, for Joseph Levy to J. Jantzen, who will make extensive alteration for a high-class delicatessen.

Two Deals in West Houston Street.

The Congress Warehouse and Forwarding Company sold to a client of Leopold Furino, as broker, for occupancy, the garage at 179 to 188 West Houston Street, being the corner of Congress Street. The same broker also sold the stable at 191 West Houston Street.

Bronx Garage Leased.

Max Berkowitz leased to Frank Scheffmeyer the garage at 1,932 Jerome Avenue, the Bronx, for ten years, the rental aggregating $30,000, or $3,000 yearly. Lynch & Petersen were the brokers.

APARTMENT TRADING.

Active Buying By Operators and Small Investors.

Irving Burstein, Inc., purchased the Hamilton Grange, a six-story elevator apartment situated on the southwest corner of 143d Street and Convent Avenue, on plot 100 feet on Convent Avenue and 125 feet on 143d Street.

The property was sold by the Shenk Realty and Construction Company, who held it for $350,000, and was rented for about $55,000 annually. Norman Denzer was the broker.

Joseph Shenk sold to a client of Slawson & Hobbs for investment Sherwood Hall, 2,790 Broadway, adjoining the southeast corner of 108th Street, a seven-story elevator apartment on plot 25 by 100, with two stores. The property returns a rental of $27,000 and was held at $300,000.

The five-story double apartment with stores 2,466 Eighth Avenue was purchased by Wollheim Brothers from Charles Woller.

E. V. Pescia & Co. resold for a client of Charles M. Rosenthal, attorney, to C. Marso the six-story tenement with three stores and thirty-three apartments at 440 and 448 East 117th Street, adjoining the corner of Pleasant Avenue, on plot 41 by 100 feet.

The property had been purchased a few weeks ago through the same brokers, and was held at $46,000.

A syndicate of the Ahl Company, A. H. Levy, President, and the Manport Realty Company, Isaac Portman, President, has bought the four five-story apartment houses at 528 to 536 West 147th Street, each on a plot 50 by 100, located between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue. The seller was the estate of Isaac M. Brinstel. The houses are arranged for eighty families and return an annual rental of approximately $53,000. They were held at $80,000 each. Horn & Wagner were the brokers in the deal.

Audrey Hall, a six-story elevator apartment house at 1240-6 St. Nicholas Avenue, northeast corner of 172d Street, was sold by Louis B. Brodsky and Samuel Augenblick to a client of William S. Baker.

The property, containing forty apartments and seven stores, has been held at $280,000.

Buying in the Suburbs.

A three-acre tract, between Old Church Road and North Street, Greenwich, Conn., was sold by George F. Dominick Jr. to a buyer who will erect two private residences. George Howe was the broker.

John F. Smith sold through W. S. E. Hall the northwest corner of Castleton Avenue and Elm Street, West New Brighton, Staten Island.

The property consists of two dwellings and a large plot of land. The purchaser, a Staten Island investor, contemplates improving the property with stores and dwellings.

The Stilwell Realty Company sold for Samuel McAndless the modern stucco house, formerly the home of William J. Fallon, at Harbor Heights, Mamaroneck, N. Y., to Mrs. Gertrude E. Camp, who will occupy.

Commercial Leases.

The Horn & Hardart Company subleased the large corner portion of the ground floor store, being a part of the entire store and entire basement recently secured through Tankoos, Smith & Co. in the building being erected on the southeast corner of Broadway and Thirty-seventh Street.

The lessee, the United Cigar Stores Company of America, has leased for a term of twenty years and will pay an aggregate rental of $300,000, and upon completion of the premises the United Cigar Stores Company will operate a branch on the ground floor. The entire basement and the corner entrance will be used and occupied by the Horn & Hardart Company for an automat cafeteria. Tankoos, Smith & Co. were the brokers.

The Finkelstein Company leased for Robert Walton Goelet the easterly store in the Knickerbocker Theatre Building at 114 to 118 West Thirty-ninth Street, running through to 1,400 Broadway, for a term of years to the firm of J. Rose & Co., Inc., dealers in gas ranges and refrigerators.

PLUS
VALUES in office buildings are relative. Every building has windows, elevators, service, equipment and all other requisites. Certain buildings stand out above the average, because in them each of these items has been carried to the highest point of development.
More windows, perhaps, and therefore more light; one or two more elevators than are absolutely necessary to handle the traffic; location a little more convenient; the equipment, the staff and the willingness to give a little better service—and, by virtue of these things, tenants of a higher character.

SALESMAN.

We are looking for a real salesman who has managerial qualifications; one who has made good in some particular line in New York City.

To the right man we can offer a permanent position; we have been in the banking business for over 25 years and have an unusual opening in our bond department for a live wire.

Advancement to manager of our sales staff in short order if we can get the man who will make good; this position will pay a commission income of not less than $7,500 a year.

SALESMEN.

I want to add three men to the sales force in this building for the largest manufacturer in the electrical industry (electrical lighting fixtures); and I do not want the type of man who is willing to drift with the tide; the men selected must have in addition to good character, intelligence, ambition and vision, a willingness to work hard and enthusiastically if assured of good remuneration on a commission basis and quick advancement for merit alone; previous sales experience unnecessary but desirable.

PHONE MAIN 9705 THURSDAY MORNING FOR APPOINTMENT. ASK FOR MR. CORY.

SALESMEN.

Opening presents itself for a few high-class, clean-cut, conscientious men to become affiliated with a motors corporation headed by two former associates of the General Motors Company; the men we select now will be given individual attention and familiarized with our product; they will assist us in the selling of our securities until openings present themselves with our general sales organization, which positions will pay from $4,000 yearly and upward; for the present they will work on a very liberal commission arrangement which will net them a very fair income from the start; if you are looking for a permanent future you will find this concern offers you a most attractive opportunity of securing a prominent place for yourself in the automotive industry. Apply between 10 to 12 A. M. or 2 to 5 P. M. any day this week. Room 1001, 25 West 42d St.

Salesmen.

SALESMEN.

Commissions of $100 and Up.

Perhaps only once or twice in a lifetime do you have an OPPORTUNITY of the kind that this advertisement offers.

In the past six years, Piggly Wiggly, one of the greatest merchandising ideas in the history of American retail business, has established a steady, consistent record of remarkable growth and success. It is not an experiment. It is a proven, demonstrated SUCCESS, with over 600 stores doing a monthly business of more than $5,000,000.

These stores are principally in the South and Middle West. Naturally, the greatest possibilities for a chain system of retail grocery stores exist in the more densely populated cities of the East.

means that Piggly Wiggly is entering the most profitable selling section of the country.

The Manhattan Piggly Wiggly Corporation purposes to operate a minimum of 300 stores in the Boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, Richmond and counties of Westchester, Suffolk and Nassau.

This territory includes the Metropolitan District, Westchester, Long Island and Staten Island, reaching a population of over 6,000,000 people.

THE BUSINESS BUILDERS

are conducting the campaign for financing the Manhattan corporation. ALREADY the Piggly Wiggly stores recently established in New York City have won the patronage of the neighborhoods in which they are located.

A SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY

FOR THE PRACTICAL, CONSERVATIVE MAN WHO DEMANDS THAT A BUSINESS BE TANGIBLE AND REAL; WHO KNOWS HE CAN SELL WHEN HE HAS SOMETHING TO SELL THAT HAS RECEIVED THE ENDORSEMENT OF BANKS AND THE AMERICAN BUYING PUBLIC—SOMETHING THAT HE CAN SHOW HIS CLIENTS ANY DAY IN THE WEEK.

UNLIMITED EARNINGS

The work in the Financial Campaign is fascinating, and your earnings will be limited only by yourself, by the ENTHUSIASM, ENERGY and DETERMINATION you give to your job.

For the experienced salesman this is a rare chance. But, INEXPERIENCE IS NO BAR. The Business Builders is equipped and organized to train and develop its salesmen and the success of its method has been proven by the records of many men.

YOUR FUTURE.

Promotion to the many executive and managing positions in the Piggly Wiggly merchandising system will be made almost entirely from the financial sales force. These appointments will call for various abilities; no matter what your previous connections have been, they will receive weighty consideration at our hands in the matter of your promotion.

You will be engaged on a commission basis at the beginning. If you have had no previous selling experience, you EARN while you LEARN.

COME IN

and see for yourself why this advertisement offers you the OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFE TIME; and why this institution means so much to so many. Call between 9 A. M. and 2 P. M. to register for our meeting that explains your OPPORTUNITY. Ask for Mr. Wells in the Reception Room on the 12th floor.

ATTACK ON BIBLE IN SCHOOL IS BANNED

FREE THINKERS TO ACT

Director Gibney of Department of Education Says He Did Not Prohibit Meeting.

Joseph Lewis of 1,400 Broadway, who is defined by the New York Telephone book as a "jobber," arraigned the school authorities for narrow mindedness yesterday on the ground that they had prevented him from delivering at Washington Irving High School on Tuesday night his lecture, "The Bible, the Nemesis of Mankind," which is an argument that the Bible has retarded the moral and intellectual development of the human race by more than a thousand years.

"If free speech is to be attacked in this fashion," said Mr. Lewis, "it is hard to tell what will happen. It is so much the worse, inasmuch as William Jennings Bryan, one of the worst blights on the intellectual development of the country, has been permitted to speak

The Lewis lecture was to have been delivered in the high school before the New York University Philosophical Society. The head of this organization is Dr. Gabriel R. Mason, who is principal of Public School No. 37 in the Bronx.

"I appeared there," continued Mr. Lewis, "and was informed that I could not lecture. The others were informed that they could not hear me. After a great deal of difficulty, we got the lecture rooms at the Rand School, where the University Philosophical Society had one of the largest meetings that it had ever had.

"My discussion of the Bible was intended to show that the old mythologies of pagan times did not interfere w... the freedom of the intellect; that t... general acceptance of the Bible put an end to the free use of the mind practically until the time of Voltaire, and that the great scientific progress since then has been due to the escape of the Christian nations from the tyranny of the literal interpretation of the Bible, and that the persecuting spirit has been due to taking the Bible literally.

"I consider it a great injustice that a lecture along this line should be forbidden in the public schools, where religion is supposed to have no part. I am President of the New York Society of Freethinkers, which was organized chiefly to combat religion in the public schools and our society will take this matter up."

Mr. Lewis said that he was inaccurately described by the telephone book and that his business was chiefly that of publishing scientific works such as Hegel and Darwin. He said he had written a book called "The Tyranny of God" which had been highly praised by Thomas A. Edison and Luther Burbank.

Eugene C. Gibney, Director of the Extension Activities of the Department of Education, said that he had not banned the lecture, but that no application had been made for permission to hold it. The New York University Philosophical Society has been holding meetings for ten years at the Washington Irving High School, but Mr. Gibney said the organization had already held its monthly meeting and was not entitled to hold another one.

"It is the policy of the department to forbid discourses on religion in the schools," said Mr. Gibney.

QUEBEC SHRINE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

QUEBEC, March 29.—The famous shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre was destroyed today by flames, with a property loss of $1,200,000. Defective wiring ignited a pile of crutches cast down by pilgrims, who, after kneeling in the basilica had arisen, announcing themselves cured. Soon the church and the monastery of the Redemptorist Fathers were aflame, and for a time the whole village was threatened.

With the outbreak of the fire an impressive scene was enacted. Disregarding the flames in the sacristy, priests attached to the basilica organized a procession and marched around the famous statue of Ste. Anne on its onyx column, praying that the edifice might be saved. Soon, however, the monastery and the cathedral caught fire and it became apparent that both were doomed.

Then the priests turned to fire-fighters. While some combated the flames, others entered the blazing church to save the relics. Many were carried to safety. Among them were the miracle-working statue of Ste. Anne and a number of paintings by old masters.

In addition to the cathedral and its priceless relics, the sacristy, monastery and college also are a mass of ruins.

The statue of St. Anne, which, with the façade its surmounts, and the walls on the south side of the church, are among the few things saved, has been for three centuries the shrine of pilgrims, many of whom, afflicted in some manner, left their crutches when cured, a symbol of the reward for their faith and prayer. The pedestal of the statue, wrought of several different kinds of marble, was the gift of a New York woman. The statue itself was the gift of a Belgian family, whose son was a member of the Redemptorist community at Beaupre.

Among other relics saved is an oil painting by Lebrun, presented to the shrine in 1666, and the precious jewels. The old chapel and the scala sancta, situated on the north side of the roadway, escaped unharmed.

Objects of historical value lost in the fire included the main altar, a magnificent work of white marble and brass, as well as exquisite carvings representing "The Last Supper," the communion railing, the Bishop's throne, the pulpit and chancel stalls, the rich stained glass windows and the organ, considered one of the best on the continent.

The insurance carried on the various structures, it was said, may reach $500,000, less than half their value.

A call for help dispatched to the Quebec Fire Department brought the chief of the brigade, with an engine and a company of men, on a special train. Meanwhile, the flames defied the efforts of a courageous little band of volunteer fire fighters.

The flames soon attacked the basilica through the roof, which the fire fighters could not reach with a stream of water. In a few moments the structure was ablaze from end to end, and in an incredibly short time the two 60-foot towers that comprised the facade of the cathedral crashed.

The Quebec firemen on their arrival did their utmost to save the structure, but they were handicapped by the fact that the local water works could not supply enough water for their engines. They were compelled to lay a line of hose 3,000 feet to the bank of the St. Lawrence River, which was at low tide when the flames were at their height.

The whole village for a time was in terror. At one time it seemed as if destruction faced the little community, which lives for the most part from selling souvenirs to pilgrims during the Summer, but just as the villagers had abandoned hope the wind turned.

McGILL POISON CASE OPENS IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, March 29.—Professor J. A. Morin, accused by his superior in the Department of Modern Laguages at McGill University, Dr. Herman Walter, of attempted murder last August, was placed on trial today in the Court of King's Bench.

Dr. Walter complained that Professor Morin poisoned the water in his well at a Summer camp in L'Islet County, cut rings on his fruit trees in order to kill them and threatened him.

At the outset of the trial the prosecution produced material as having been found in Professor Walter's well. It was identified as paris green by the Provincial analyst, Dr. Derome.

Then the plaintiff took the stand and said that a threatening letter he had received was in Professor Morin's handwriting.

On cross-examination Dr. Walter said he was born of German parentage in Switzerland, but denied that he ridiculed British troops during the war and exalted the qualities of German soldiers.

Marianne Morin, a servant girl employed by Professor Morin at his Summer camp, said on the stand that she had heard the professor say he "had poisoned Walter's well," but that "none saw me do it."

Chicago May Get Six-Cent Fare.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Six cents as an experimental rate of trolley fare, with 1 cent additional for a transfer, is rate to be fixed by the Illinois Commerce Commission, it was said today. The commission is expected to give its decision on or before April 1. The traction lines say they will fight in courts for an 8-cent fare.

Apartment Dwellers —You Must have heat

No matter what rent you pay for your apartment, Angus, you are entitled to all the heat you need. If you don't get it, or it dies out when you need it most, you can assure yourself that the landlord skimped on the heating-boiler and put in a cast-iron toy. And you and your doctor are no doubt exchanging calls.

You slipped, old top, when you rented that apartment. You didn't look in the basement first to find out if there was a Kewanee All-Steel boiler there. You rented location, smart fixtures and swell neighbors, Angus, but you didn't rent any real heat. And heat is life. Ask your congressman. He knows everything.

If you are going to change this Spring, old dear, look for the Kewanee Boiler the first thing. If it is there, go as far as you like and pay as much rent as your conscience will let you. But the sweetest home on earth goes sour if it isn't properly heated. And always remember that you are the consumer of heat.

You owners of six-family apartments, better get in the band-wagon and install the Kewanee All-Steel Firebox boiler if you care anything for the renting value and selling value of your building.
